ITEMS OF SPORT

Supporters of the North Vancouver club are confident that they will have a seat around the B. C. L. A. board after May 20. Dick Douglas, Toots Clarkson, Murray, the Ravey Brothers, Vernon Green, Frank Roman, Billy McKeown and Gibbons are among the players who will be seen in North Vancouver uniforms.

Joe Moore, the crack Victoria five-mile runner, and G. Willis-croft, another well known athlete, particularly renowned for his basket ball playing are in Northern British Columbia. Both have entered the service of the provincial government on the Skeena river. Willis-croft will be back in the fall for the basketball, but Joe is so enchanted with the mysterious north that he thinks he may stay there forever.

The difficulty that the N. L. U. teams have to contend with is not improved this year by the affiliation of the C. L. A. with the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada. Players cannot go back to the C. L. A. after they have played in the N. L. U. whether it is an exhibition game or not.

Frank Gotch, with a retinue of seconds and trainers composed of his wife, mother-in-law, and several relatives, has been wrestling with the furniture problem at Chicago. The champion had set-toos with settees, bouts with mats and Turkish rugs, curtain poles fireless cookers, and whatnots and claimed the decision in most cases. Mr. and Mrs. Gotch are fitting out their new home at Humboldt, Ia.

GARDEN HINTS

Prince Rupert Garden Makers Getting Busy

Gardening in Prince Rupert is a little different from gardening in a more developed city, but already some excellent results have been obtained from gardens on Prince Rupert lots, and this year more gardens than ever are being prepared.

As soon as the ground can be readily worked it is time to plant some of the hardy vegetables. The seeds of some of these are liable to be slow in starting, and the young plants thrive better in the cool weeks. Some vegetables also require a long season in order to attain to the best size. Parsnips do. The seeds should be sown thickly an inch deep in rows in good rich soil, and afterwards the seedlings should be thinned to about six inches apart.

Other seeds which should be planted as soon as possible are the garden peas, and parsley (which should be soaked in water before planting), and beet seed, which should be put in a drill about an inch deep. These are all, however, vegetables grown mainly by those who have considerable garden space.

For the person who has only a few feet of ground to utilize, most profit and satisfaction will be obtained by limiting oneself to radishes, lettuce, tomatoes and beans. The young tomato plants may be bought from the greenhouse later on and set out, but the other seeds should be sown as early as possible. It is best not to be too sparing of the seed, as frequently part may refuse to come up, and if sown too thickly the little plants can easily be thinned.

THE POWER OF LOVE

In Which Women All the World Over Excel

We are quite accustomed to hearing love spoken of as an incentive to great efforts, as one of the greatest motive powers in the world, but I doubt if we ever stop to realize just how utterly that feeling of love—love for someone, love for something—utterly permeates this whole existence. Hate is such a negative quantity. Hatred may prompt some evil action, and the harm wrought may seem irrevocable, but is not so. Good, not evil, is the powerful, the conquering force in the world, and even acts of hatred, instead of working the evil they are intended, in some mysteriously Divine way are made forces for good.

Everything that is done in the world is done from love of something; not only the great sacrifices, the acts of devotion, but even the smallest acts of our daily life, are built upon love. In many cases the love may be even a selfish one, but nevertheless it is love.
