BROADCASTING IN BRITAIN

Some people who are always afraid of government ownership of anything, have stated that the people of Great Britain are dissatisfied with their radio broadcasting system. The editor of "Overseas," has the following to say on the subject:

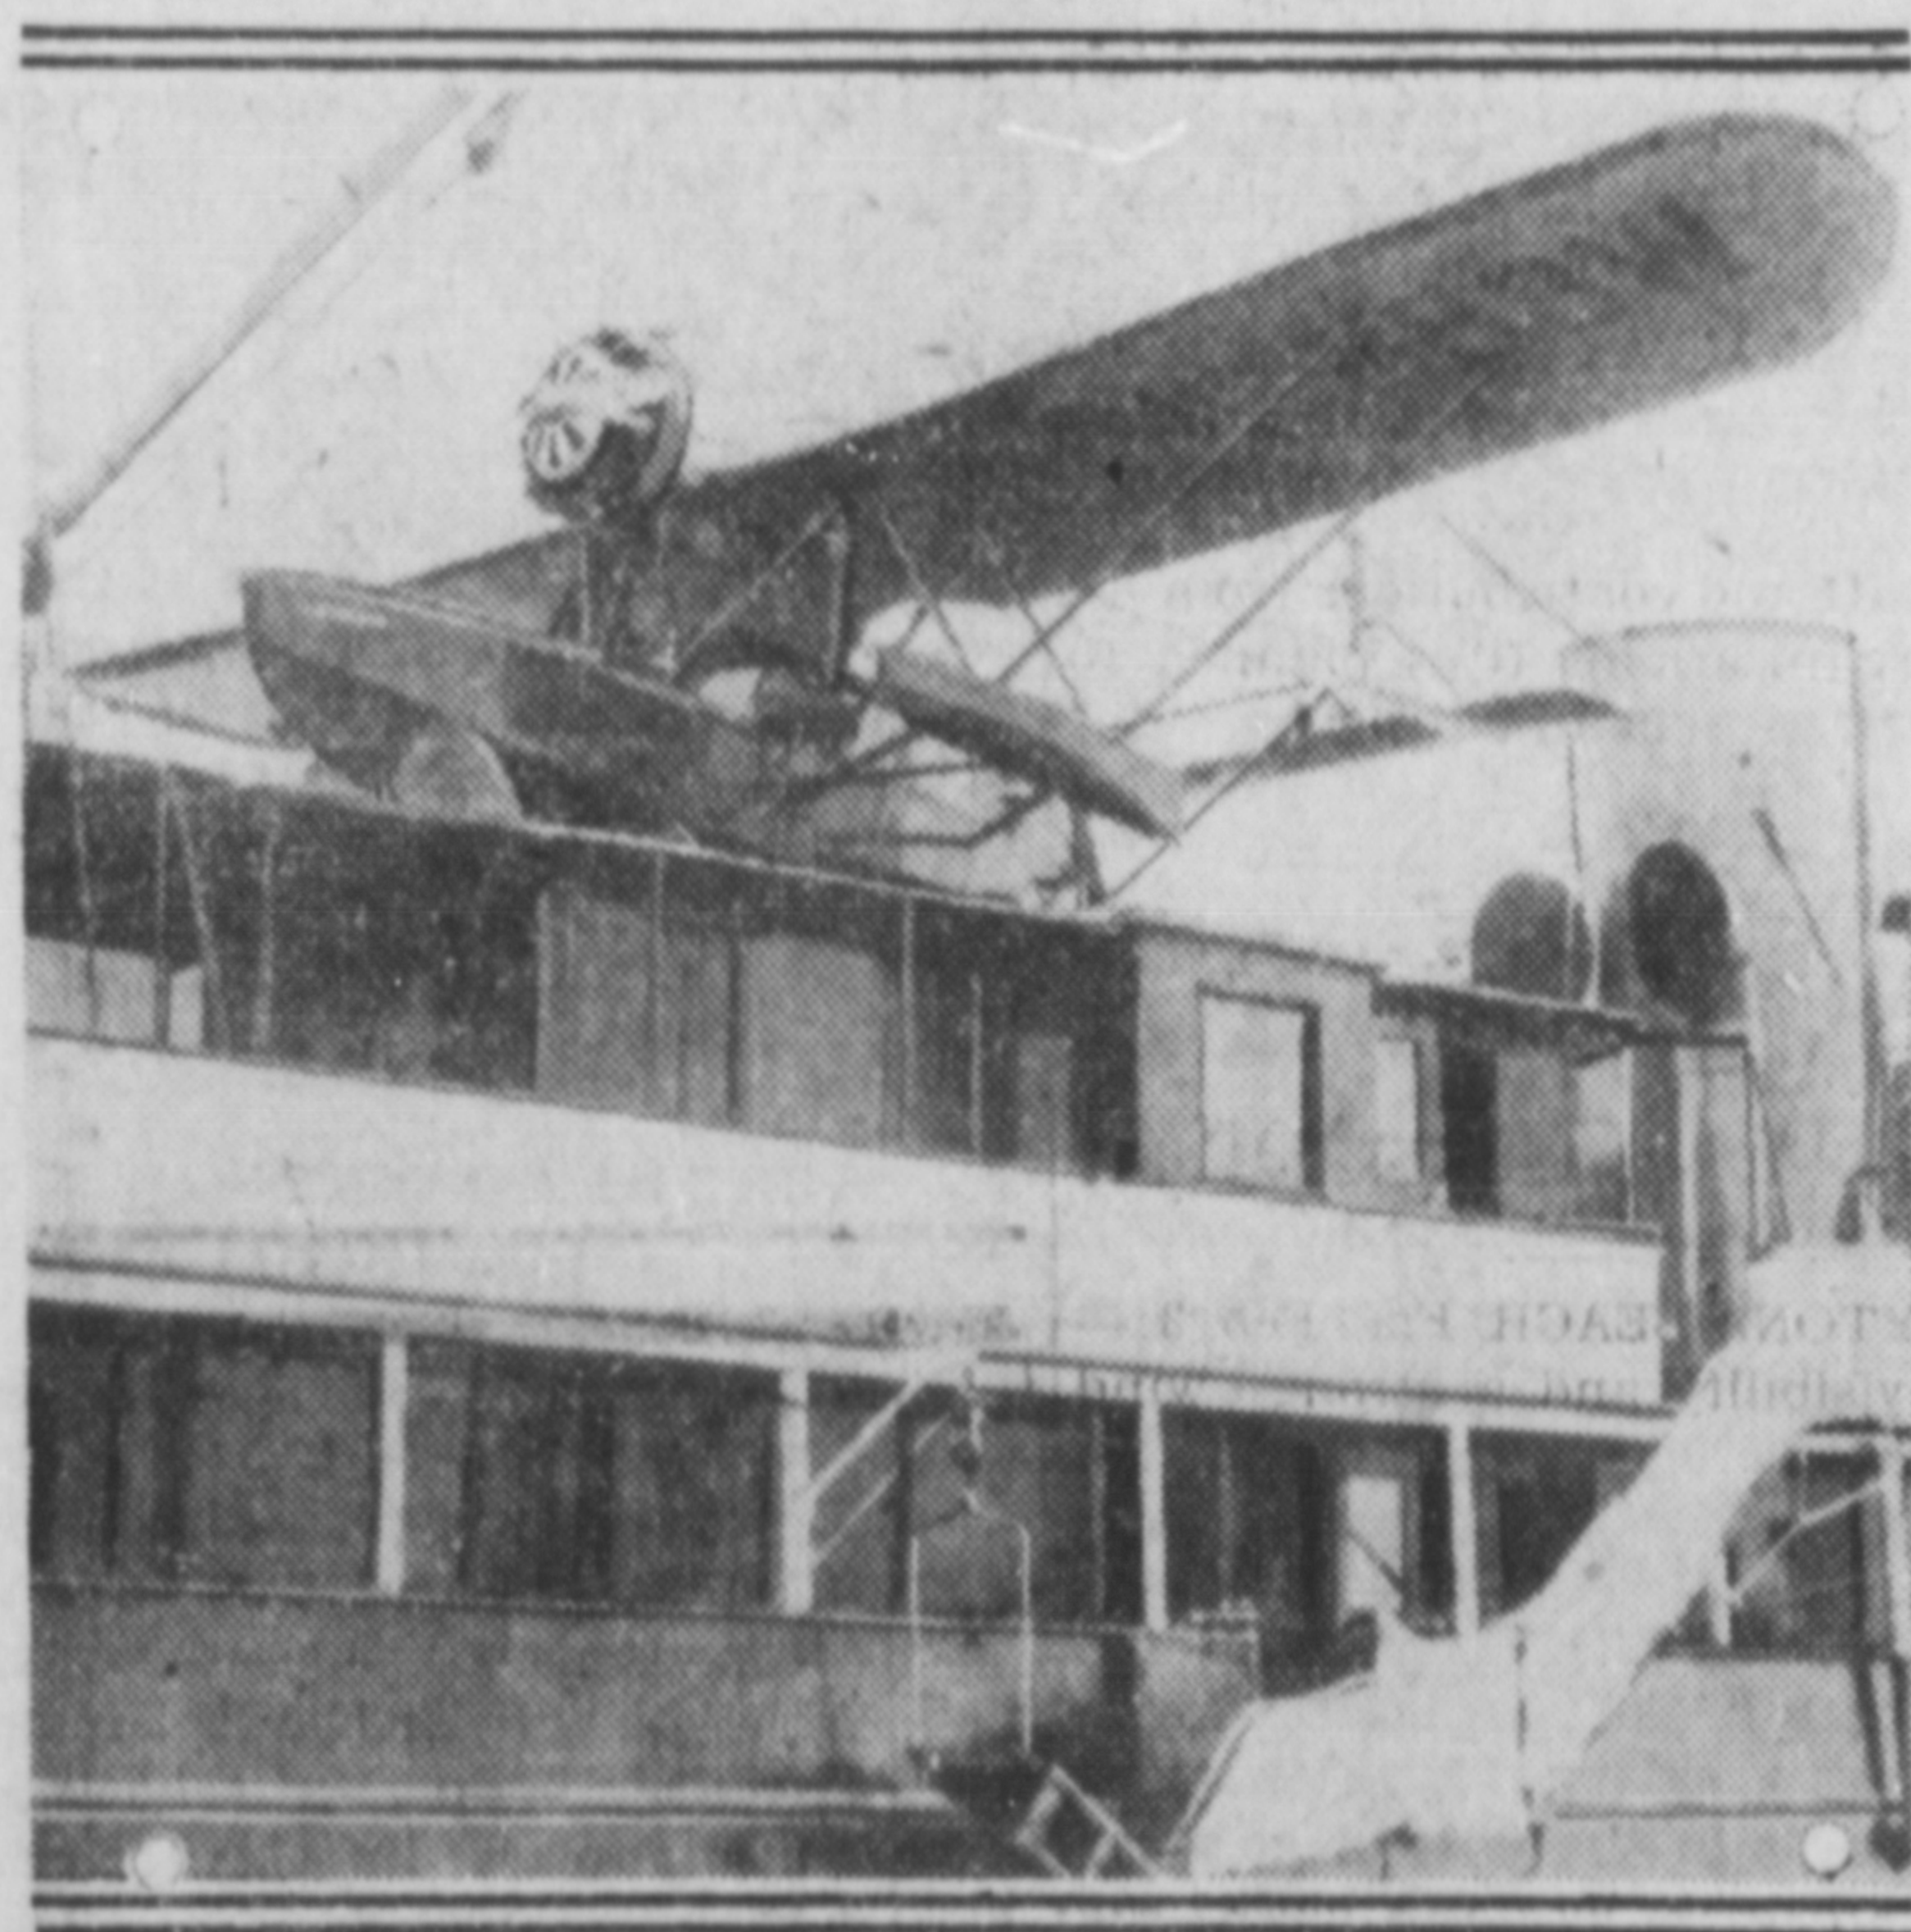

"The British Broadcasting Corporation has just been celebrating its eighth birthday, and we in the Old Country have every reason to be proud of the great institution which looks after our wireless. The B.B.C. is the envy of many other countries. Only this morning I had a letter from one of the leading public men in the United States, saying how much they in America envied us the B.B.C., for, as you know, owing to its monopoly granted by the government and its special charter, the using of wireless for advertising purposes is not permitted in this country, consequently we suffer from none of those ills which are such a drawback to the enjoyment of wireless in other countries.

"The other evening during my dinner, I switched on to Rome, and one of the first things that I heard the pleasant-voiced lady announcer at the headquarters of Radio-Roma-Napoli utter was an exhortation advising the use of so-and-so's soap. In the B.B.C. we have the ideally-run state-controlled organization. The B.B.C. is publicly owned, that is to say, the profits are divided between the Post Office and itself, but it is not controlled by the government, but by a non-party board of private individuals who are not officials, and therefore are not bureaucrats, and the concern is managed by an extremely efficient staff, of which Sir John Reith is the head."

SOUTH AFRICA ATTITUDE

The same writer discussed the attitude of South Africa to the British Empire as follows:

"The day before General Hertzog went back to South Africa he asked me to lunch with him, and I had the pleasure of renewing a friendship begun four years ago. As we talked about the British Commonwealth, I could not help contrasting in my mind the public remarks of members of the Nationalist Party about the "Imperial Connection" when I was in South Africa before the war. Nothing short of a miracle has happened. Today the vast majority of General Hertzog's party have no desire to withdraw from the British Commonwealth, for they realize that South Africa and every other Dominion is just as free as the Mother Country—sister states bound together without any ties of compulsion, but voluntarily associated for the benefit of themselves and the world, truly a fine ideal. With the advance of years, General Hertzog's outlook seemed to me to have broadened, and he is among those who, while definitely loving their own country, realize that the days for narrow nationalism have gone, and that just because a man loves his own country there is no reason why he should not co-operate with his fellows for the benefit of the world as a whole.

SARPOLIS IN DRAW

Had Battle of His Life Last Night With Joe Marcowicz—One Fall Each

SEATTLE, February 3.—Joe Marcowicz gave Dr. Karl Sarpolis, of Cleveland, wrestler the fight of his life last night and it was lucky for the doctor that he got a draw decision. It was a keenly exciting ten-round match in which Sarpolis' wonderful physical condition and great heart served him in good stead.

Sarpolis took the first fall with a flying scissors and Marcowicz came back and felled the doctor with a body slam. From then until the end it was all Marcowicz's fight. He continually had Sarpolis in headlocks and the doctor was unmistakably groggy although still able to kick himself out of Marcowicz's holds.

The doctor almost took the count outside the ropes just before the final gong. Marcowicz gave Sarpolis fifteen pounds in weight.

Make This Test of the HEART

To gauge the condition of the heart, there is a simple test which anyone can make. Medical men agree that it is unrivalled as a means of finding out if the heart is in health or doing its work under difficulties.

"Are you short of breath when going up stairs?"

The extent to which you are inconvenienced under this strain will tell you how serious may be the condition of your heart.

In most cases, the trouble is caused by a weakness of the blood and a run down condition of the nervous system. The logical prescription is Dr. Chase's Nerve Food because this treatment enriches the blood and strengthens the nerves of the heart, as well as those of the other vital organs.

This reconstructive treatment has proven effective over such a long period that you can use it with the fullest confidence that the results will be most satisfactory.

SPORT CHAT

Another Olympic campaign is in full swing—and up from a three-year servitude at head-of-the-lakes has bobbed a hockey team that years to wear the Maple Leaf crest uniform denied it four years ago. Pounding hoofs of Fort William's Thundering Herd, that trampled all but one team in a quest to represent Canada at the 1928 Olympiad, again echo from the lakehead area, and this time the Forts may subdue one of their most dangerous rivals first. Each season since their dramatic defeat in 1927 in the Allan Cup final by Toronto Varsity Grads, Fort William has found the way to the Allan Cup barred by Port Arthur. In the process of building and rebuilding, the Forts have watched the Ports become Canadian champions once and finalists once. Always powerful, but not quite powerful enough to topple their neighbors, Fort William has waited for the season that would change the order of things. Today, they have still to hurdle the tri-color obstacle, but this time they are conceded a better than even chance to accomplish it.

The diminutive Cook is stamper for Chicago Black Hawks and Jimmy Ward moved up to Montreal Maroons in 1928. Pettinger went the rounds of the National League clubs and this season was sold down to London, of the International League. Bob Davis played defence for Duluth Hornets. American League contenders. While Varsity Grads were winning Canada's third Olympic title, Fort William's team was being demolished by cash in hand professional scouts. Only McLeod remains and the build forward has grouped around his fleet-skating youngsters to give the lakeside city one of the best teams in its history. Allan Cup winners this year will be Canada's hopes for the Olympics in 1932—and the Allan Cup and its reward is what Fort William strives for.
