New Fish Smoking Equipment at Cold Storage Plant Now in Operation—Herring Run So Far This Season Is Spotty

New smoke house facilities for the curing of fish are now in operation at the plant of the Canadian Fish & Cold Storage Co. at Prince Rupert. The new facilities include the most up-to-date equipment for the processing of fish by smoking methods and will insure a further improved product. The installation includes modern methods devised by the Prince Rupert Fisheries experimental Station in the course of its work along this line.

Although a few scattered catches have been made, the herring run during the past week in Prince Rupert Harbor proved somewhat spotty but an early improvement is anticipated. The very late arrival of winter weather conditions and the exceptionally mild weather for this time of year it is thought has had something to do with the condition. The fish are in the harbor but are swimming deep and difficult to catch. The seining and packing fleets for the Tucks Inlet, Port Edward and other reduction plants are remaining poised for action.

Commander G. Borrie R.N.R. arrived in Prince Rupert on the Princess Adelaide last night from Esquimalt to take over the post of naval officer in charge at Prince Rupert in place of Commander C. D. Donald R. C. N. who, after having been here for several weeks, is returning to Esquimalt. Lieut. Orme Stuart has been appointed to further staff duties with the navy at Prince Rupert and henceforth will be devoting all his time to that work.

Capt. Walter Gosse arrived in the city on the Princess Adelaide last night to take over duty as pilot in connection with the local naval examination service. He relieves Capt. A. W. Ogden who left last night by the Princess Adelaide on his return to Vancouver after having been here for the past few weeks.

Announcement is made by the Department of Marine of the establishment of new lights on Kiwash Island off Namu harbor, Fitzhugh Sound; on Glaholm Island, Spiller Channel, and Red Cliff Point, Princess Royal Island, Graham Reach. All three are flashing white acetylene lights unwatched.

Two coastal liners were in port last evening on their regular weekly calls. C. P. R. steamer Princess Adelaide, Capt. Henry Anderson, arrived at 5:45 and sailed at 10 p.m. on her return to Vancouver and waypoints. Union steamer Cardena, Capt. John Boden, arrived at 8:30 p.m. and sailed at 10:30 on her return south. The Prince John, Capt. Neil McLean, also sailed at 10:30 p.m. for Vancouver via the Queen Charlotte Islands.

Capt. John Muir, well known former skipper of coastal vessels and now marine superintendent for the Union Steamship Co., was in port last evening aboard the steamer Cardena, making the round trip north. He was accompanied by Mrs. Muir.

The story concerns the efforts of a daring but hot-headed racing driver to keep his younger brother from falling to the virus of the racing fever. The brother, however, has different ideas and also falls in love with a girl who has not the approval of the older brother. The brothers feud and part and the older, through recklessness in a race, causes the death of his best friend. The accident breaks him and he disappears while the younger [illegible] on to fame as a new champion, [illegible] annual 500-mile Memorial Day [illegible] at Indianapolis provides the background for the sensational climax scene in the picture.
