Canadian Legion Monthly Meeting

At the monthly meeting of the Prince Rupert branch of the Canadian Legion last evening with President Jack Preese in the chair circulars from the Dominion Command of the Legion gave further details of the work of the Legion and its participation in auxiliary service organization.

Particulars of the National Remembrance Day ceremony from Parliament Hill, Ottawa, from 10:45 a.m. to 11:15 a.m. Eastern Standard Time indicate that the keynote of the ceremony will be: "Remembrance Day, 1939, finds Canada at war. Around the Empire, aye, around the world, rolls the age-old cry: 'Who is for liberty?' Beside the veterans of 1914-1918 a new generation ranges itself in the battle for the right. In the approaching silence let us commemorate those others of our race who in this same warfare, have trod the path to victory." In

"Well, not a great lot," replied the sailor, quickly. "We put in there once for coaling but I never went ashore."

DRAMA IS ABSORBING

"Daughters Courageous," With Fine Cast, Feature Picture At Capitol Theatre Tonight And Tomorrow

It's a wonderful feeling to win the war by letting someone else do the fighting.

Jake says he expects to get the Victoria Cross for staying at home and letting someone else do the work while the boys go overseas to fight.

Jake says he'd like to be a Scot-tie and wear a kilt. Then he'd have something to be proud of. As it is the only thing he's proud of is his ability to drink beer.

I'd like to be a Highlander. And wear a pretty kilt. I'd feel that I was somebody. Who'd make the Germans wilt?

I'd like the girls to see my knees. As I march along and sing Or listen to the bagpipes play And make the welkin ring.

A Prince Rupert man wanted to enlist for overseas service but his eyesight was poor. He went up for medical examination and the doctor took him into the little room and told him to look and tell him how many lines he could read on the chart. "What chart?" inquired the applicant.

WAS ACTIVE IN REFORM OF PRISONS

Hon. Hugh Guthrie Was One Of Canada's Most Distinguished Statesmen—Always Commanded Respect

OTTAWA, November 9: — As Minister of Justice Hon. Hugh Guthrie, who died recently, answered to Parliament in connection with the tempestuous period of 1932-1933 in the penitentiaries of the Dominion. A series of disturbances in these institutions brought many questions in the Commons as to penitentiary administration for which Mr. Guthrie's department was responsible. To the accompaniment of an agitation for prison reform in the press and public here was a running fire of criticism through two or three sessions of the house.

Various changes in the wardenship of Kingston penitentiary and granting of some of the reforms demanded by the convicts were announced by Mr. Guthrie in the course of these discussions. However, the minister stoutly denied the necessity for a royal commission or other investigation into his situation beyond the enquiries of officials of the reportant.

The penitentiary riots and widespread discontent with conditions in the federal prisons were troublesome incidents during Mr. Guthrie's regime as minister of justice. The gravest of the riots were in the Kingston penitentiary where there were several outbreaks.

There was one serious outbreak at St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary and a minor one at the Dorchester, N. B. institution. Evidence was unearthed pointing to a deliberate plotting of a series of disturbances in one prison after another. Vigorous steps were taken to restore quiet.

Several changes in the wardenship at Kingston were made and some of the demands of the prisoners were met by changes in prison regulations.

Mr. Guthrie invited church bodies or other responsible organizations to visit the penitentiaries and inspect them for themselves. Several delegations took advantage of this opportunity, generally reporting greatly improved conditions but in some instances recommending further improvements.

Born in Guelph in 1866, Hugh Guthrie was educated in Guelph public and high schools and at Osgoode Hall Law School. He opened a law office in his home city and practised there until he entered the Dominion cabinet. He was made a King's Counsel in 1902.

He was married and had two children, a son and a daughter. Mrs. Guthrie was formerly Miss Maude Henrietta Scarff of Guelph. Mr. Guthrie was a Presbyterian. He belonged to the Guelph and Ottawa Country Clubs, the Rideau Club in Ottawa and the Albany Club in Toronto.

Name Ranks High

The Guthrie name ranks high in the city of Guelph and the constituency of South Wellington. Mr. Guthrie's father, Donald Guthrie, represented the seat in Commons for a term between 1877 and 1882. Only once had the seat returned a Conservative and when Hugh Guthrie obtained the Liberal nomination at the age of 34 he was practically assured of election. When he became a Conservative 20 years later the old Liberal riding went Conservative with him and remained so as long as Hugh Guthrie was in the running.

The turning point in Mr. Guthrie's career came in 1917 when the Liberal party was torn asunder on the issue of union government. He was one of the principals of a substantial group of Liberals who favored accepting the proposal advanced by Sir Robert Borden, the Conservative premier, for a union of all parties to enact compulsory military service and carry on the war. Sir Wilfrid Laurier declined and took the stand conscription was not necessary at that time. Mr. Guthrie accepted office as solicitor-general in the union administration and fought the election against his old leader and his old colleagues. He never returned to the Liberal party but became prominent in Conservative administrations. He was appointed chairman of the Board of Railway Commissioners during the Bennett regime, continuing in that capacity until his death at the end of last week.

SUPPORTING RED CROSS

F. A. MacCallum Speaks to Junior Chamber — Would Entertain Troops Here—Moving Pictures Of West Indies

F. A. MacCallum, president of the local branch of the Red Cross Society, was present at the meeting of the Junior Section of the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night and spoke briefly in regard to the Red Cross. He mentioned the campaign which would be held next week and beseeched assistance and support. The aim was to reach all people in the campaign. Mr. MacCallum announced that Red Cross work in Prince Rupert was now getting well organized. Headquarters were opened at the corner of Second Avenue and Sixth Street and there work would be centred. Mr. MacCallum briefly outlined the wartime functions of the Red Cross stressing their importance.

J. C. Gilker urged that the Junior Chamber do something in the way of lending to the entertainment of members of the forces now quartered here. In this suggestion G. P. Lyons heartily concurred. The outcome was the delegation of Mr. Gilker as a committee to go into the matter.

Correspondence from the Canadian Junior Chamber of Commerce offered suggestions as to what might be done in the way of war activities, this being turned over to the committee.

The Junior Chamber decided to admit during the period of war the families of members who have enlisted for service. Thirteen members have enlisted, it was stated by the treasurer.

Another matter taken up at Tuesday night's meeting was that of sanitary conditions in certain parts of the city. The president will interview the City Commissioner on the subject.

A feature of Tuesday night's dinner was the showing by Lieut. Orme Stuart R.C.N.V.R. of interesting moving pictures of a West Indies cruise with a Canadian destroyer squadron last spring. Lieut. Stuart prefaced his pictures with a review of Canadian naval history from 1910 until the outbreak of the present war and an outline of the three-and-a-half months' cruise to California, Panama Canal, Jamaica, Bermuda and other waters. The president expressed the appreciation of the Chamber to Lieut. Stewart.

UNITY OF CANADA

NEW BRUNSWICK Land of Beauty

NATIONAL UNITY is vital to success of Canada's War Effort

This series of advertisements was initiated many months prior to the outbreak of war. Its theme "Unity of Canada" was prophetic; a message that today is more vital than ever to all Canadians.

For in Unity lies the strength of the Dominion, and we, of the Automotive Industries, accept our full responsibility in working as well as writing towards this end.

Now, more than ever before, our plants and highly specialized equipment are Dominion assets; our skilled workmen, vital cogs in the wartime industrial set-up in which the production of units of transport looms more important than ever.

So remember, when you buy a Canadian-built car, you are helping support an industry that distributes more than $22,000,000.00 in wages and salaries to many thousand families dependent on the industry itself. Add to these the families that are supported by industries supplying raw and finished materials to the Automobile manufacturers, and you get an idea of what this activity means to the Canadian Home Market.

A busy Automotive Industry in wartime is a live asset indeed—a truly national war enterprise.

Hon. A. A. DYSART Premier of New Brunswick

NEW BRUNSWICK OFFERS EVERY AID IN EMPIRE'S STRUGGLE

"In the gigantic struggle upon which Canada has embarked by the side of her Mother Country, New Brunswick offers every assistance in the hope that her contribution will so help to strengthen the hand of the British Empire that she and her allies will emerge victorious over the forces of lawlessness and aggression. Worthy sons of courageous fathers who served King and Country in the War are already offering themselves in their thousands. The great natural resources of New Brunswick, her products, the rich harvests of her forests, her fish, her minerals, are at the disposal of His Majesty. Her all-year ocean port of Saint John stands ready to handle the great streams of goods which will pour through from all over Canada to help the Motherland in her hour of greatest need. New Brunswick in the past has taken second place to none in her loyalty to the Union flag and the British tradition—she is prepared to demonstrate this once more to the world."
