PASSES AWAY

-Peter Mark is His Successor

KITSEGUKLA, Nov. 15:- Chief Daniel Cookson, one of the best known venerable natives of the Skeena River village of Kitsegukla, passed away following a long period of illness. Born sixty-two years ago at Kitsegukla, Chief Cookson was well known all along the Skeena River and down to the coast. He was the third chief of his tribe. A widow survives. Deceased was an active worker of the United Church.

The funeral was held on Tuesday afternoon at Kitsegukla with the resident missionary, Rev. N. F. Mc-Lean, officiating, burial being made in the village cemetery. Relatives and friends from the surrounding villeges attended the funeral at which the Kitwanga choir and band were in attendance. Pallbearers were Matthias Bright, George Moore, Frnest Smith, Harry Rencon. David Wells and Robert Harris.

During the church service Alfred McDames, with the assistance of Matthias Bright and Harry Benson, both of St. Paul's Church, Kitwanga, installed Peter Mark into the vacancy in the church committee caused by the death of Chief Cookson. Peter Mark, who is president of the Epworth League, is also successor to deceased as third chief of the tribe.

One ambitious little maid of three came as a sweet girl graduate and a tiny toddler dressed in not very much and representing 1940 attracted much attention. Unfortunately they were disqualified by not being masked. There were several rosebuds, so dainty that they quite outrivalled the flower they imitated.

A WARSHIP'S ANSWER TO BOMBERS

A diving bomber would never come so close to the deck of a warship to see the details of a gun like this. But if one did get so low, this is how one of the anti-aircraft guns on an unnamed British cruiser would look to the crew of the plane. German bombers have tried conclusions with British warships on several occasions since the start of the war, but so far the controversy as to whether planes can defeat warships remains unsettled.
