RED CROSS WORK

The Red Cross Society has been organized in Prince Rupert and already the committees are at work getting ready for practical help to the soldiers and sailors and others who need assistance during war time.

The Red Cross is the leading society doing war work throughout the nation. Every town and village has or will have its organization with groups of men and women engaged in its various activities. It provides comforts for the men, supplementing the very meagre army rations. It provides materials for use in case of the wounded and for the sick in hospitals.

Most of the work is done by groups of noble women who give of their time and labor without thought of reward. For the time being the soldiers are their children and the wounded are their special care.

During the First Great War the Red Cross did splendid work in Prince Rupert and there is not the shadow of doubt but they will do the same again and even more. First the people have to be shown the way when the response will be general.

Because of the presence in the city of hundreds of soldiers, times are better than they might have been. Other defence work helps to provide employment which makes payrolls in the city. Because of these conditions the people generally are better able to support the Red Cross than if there had been no such income coming to the city. Because of this and because of their known interest in the men who will do the fighting, we have confidence that the people of the city will extend themselves in supporting the Red Cross this winter and throughout the war.

who are not able to do very hard work and yet in some positions would give as good service as if they were graded A1. Most of them are between sixty and seventy years of age and, therefore, not eligible for pensions under our present laws. It was for these men that Commissioner W. J. Alder made a plea when he brought the matter of old age pensions to the attention of the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce and secured its support for an appeal to have the pensions given at 60 instead of 70. They might be employed only they cannot earn the minimum wage so they are paid the regular relief allowance of $11.10 a month, which as everyone will agree is not sufficient to keep any man in any degree of comfort these days. However, they have the privilege of doing odd jobs in order to supplement this amount if they have sufficient energy and aggression to get them.

It used to be that we worried over the "teen age" members of the community. Now we have to worry over the sixties, the age of not-wanted men. While the war is engaging most of our attention we must not wholly forget these people between sixty and seventy who find themselves in the position of being unable to help themselves.

CANADA A TRAINING CENTRE

No matter who originated the idea of making Canada the training ground for British aviation, it seems to be popular and also it seems likely to lead to a development of air-mindedness in Canada that should be generally beneficial to the country as a whole.

Canada is particularly well situated both in regard to its central position in the British Empire and also in regard to its diversity of climate and the inaccessibility of some of its interior.

APPEAL FOR HELPLESS

There is in Prince Rupert a group of men who cannot be classed as able bodied men and

Capt. E. Teigen, and the Atli, Capt. William Bussey. It was the second fine on the Atli. Henry Smilie prosecuted in the Domino case with T. W. Brown defending. Miss Willa Dyer prosecuted in the Atli case and Henry Smilie defended.

GOOD PAIR OF FILMS

Another of the series of exciting detective pictures, "Bulldog Drummond's Bride," and a thrilling romantic drama of the race track, "The Lady's From Kentucky," comprise an interesting double bill program at the Capitol Theatre tonight.

The pursuit of a daring bank robber from England to France provides "Bulldog Drummond's Bride" with material for plenty of thrilling adventure and action. The story progresses to a hectic and romantic climax. The supporting cast includes, as usual, such popular figures as Heather Angel, H. B. Warner, Reginald Denny, E. E. Clive, Elizabeth Patterson and Eduardo Ciannelli.

In "The Lady's From Kentucky" George Raft plays the role of a gambler with Ellen Drew as his partner. The story is romantic and fast-paced and has some good comedy in which Hugh Herbert and Zazu Pitts play an important part. Louise Beavers, popular colored actress, is also an important member of the cast.

BELGIUM LOOKS TO BORDER DEFENCES

General Van Der Berghe (holding map, chief of the general staff of the Belgian army, is pictured as he made a tour of inspection of the Belgian defences along the German frontier. It is that Germany's "blitzkrieg" toward the west may involve violation of Belgium's frontiers, led to these precautions.
