SOVIET DEMANDS FULL MILITARY CO-OPERATION OF BRITAIN AND FRANCE

THIS WOULD BE RUSSIAN PRICE FOR SUPPORT OF ANTI-AGGRESSION PACT—LONDON AND FRANCE WORRIED—WARSAW ALSO APPREHENSIVE

LONDON, April 21: (CP)—Soviet Russia made definite proposals today to Great Britain and France demanding their full military co-operation in return for joining the anti-aggression front, it was reported in official circles. The Russian demands are reported to have London and Paris worried because neither country is prepared to go that far in collaboration with the Soviets. Western democracies take the view that a tri-partite military alliance might throw Berlin into such a rage that it might start a war instead of guarding against one.

The Warsaw newspaper Express Poranny expresses the official view that the suggested Russian aid in any European war might be dangerous to countries receiving it for geographical and political reasons.

Visitor Was Interested In Socialist Government of New Zealand and Tells About It

Dr. W. T. Kergin Gave Interesting Account of Part of His Recent Trip to Southern Hemisphere at Rotary Luncheon

The outstanding theme of the address given by Dr. W. T. Kergin at the regular weekly luncheon of the Prince Rupert Rotary Club yesterday was his survey of political conditions in New Zealand. During his visit he talked to many people of all classes and he found that in that country of which 98 per cent were Anglo-Saxon they had a Socialist government, elected as a protest against the incompetency of the previous administrations. Under this government the country owned the railways, bus lines, tourist agency and tourist hotels. They marketed the butter and undertook a very extensive housing program. So great was this that they were advertising for mechanics in Australia. He felt that this state housing program would kill private enterprise in that particular line.

In New Zealand men worked five days a week of forty hours and they had now introduced a costly new social security measure. Banking was owned or controlled by the state and so were imports and exports. It was so difficult to get money from the banks that one lady who was setting out on a long trip had to use strenuous efforts to get enough cash to do her until she returned home. New Zealand money was no good in Australia or the Fiji Islands. Australia would not take it at any price. So there were manifest disadvantages in a Socialist government. Even small capitalists were strongly against it while, generally, the workmen were for it although a number of men with whom he conversed said, while they favored it, they were doubtful if it would work out and could be carried through.

Dr. Kergin said he found New Zealand a most interesting country. He enjoyed his visit very much and he greatly appreciated the people. The chief industry was the raising of sheep and cattle, particularly sheep. The products were marketed chiefly in the British Isles and the people recognized their dependence upon the English market. The people were the soul of courtesy and hospitality. He thought they treated visitors better than did Canadians.
