BRITISH LABOR

It is evident that British labor is politically like sheep pert outside of the day lilies, lilies its first victory of the season in without a shepherd. It has thrown over Sir Stafford of the valley and orange lilies. There is talk of Ernest Bevin, leader of the exclusives, standing for Parliament at the next election.

NEED OF HOUSES

While there is at present a small amount of building going on, there is still a considerable demand for small residences and the demand is bound to increase as the work develops at Seal Cove. Some people who find they cannot rent have been forced to purchase homes in the city and this has had a stimulating effect on the real estate business in some quarters.

We are not objecting to this point of view. It is quite legitimate but it is not the kind of aim that makes for a millenial. condition. In the long run, it must resolve itself into a scramble for the best positions much as is the case today.

What we seem to need is some guarantee that the man who is able and willing to work, shall have the opportunity to do so and shall receive remuneration which rived in the city on the Catala Lipsett's will enable him to live decently. Very few people would like to live in luxury while others struggle for an insecure and inadequate existence. Yet we see this of Anyox arrived in the city on condition, especially in the larger cities. To make it possible for all to live decently and happily, should be the aim, not only of statesmen but of all citizens.

This is the time of year when the blue Himalayan poppies are in bloom. Bob Yates has a very large one of the Mecanopsis Baylei variety with 138 buds on it and probably more coming. Evidently it likes this wet season. He has other plants of the same variety in bloom but this one is the largest I have ever seen.

The sunken garden at the court house is beginning to show improvement. There is a mass of stuff planted and, while the cool damp weather has kept the annuals back. they will be quite strong when they start to bloom. The whole of the court house grounds, while quite late this year, will scon be a mass of color. The perennial bed on the other side nearest the harbor has been much admired, especially the lupins and aquelegia. The latter are among the finest I have ever een. The colors are soft and deli-

It seemed a pity that Mr. and Mrs. Jack Johns found it desirable to leave their garden just as it was, developing so rapidly along right lines. Possibly in their new location they will start all over again and make something of which to be proud. Fourth Avenue is a good place for flowers.

One of the always interesting gardens on Fourth Avenue is 12 Moore's. I strongly suspect tha Mrs. Moore is the gardener. Whoever does it has excellent taste.

NEW AND BETTER

COLD CURED ICE

For the Halibut and Samon Fleets

Following the investigations of the Fisheries Research Station, the Company has just completed extensive changes and improvements in ice storage and ice delivery methods.

Ice for the boats will all be old ice, thoroughly cured or aged at new low temperatures. It will be delivered into the hold, even in the hottest weather, as cold as the storage room.

Fishermen are invited to inspect the new system. Better ice than ever before, at no increase in cost, means economy to the boat and improved quality in fish delivery.
