FIRE PROTECTION

DAILY EDITION

The fire at Dodge Cove yesterday when A. Enochson's home and boat were destroyed is a reminder that very many smaller communities have absolutely no fire protection and find it difficult to get insurance. It would not be a very big job to instal an elevated tank to which water could be pumped and piped to all nearby homes. By using a small gas engine the tank could be kept filled and a three-all overtime draw in last everything next day. the water could be used for household purposes as well night's Pacific Coast Hockey.
