they did on this occasion. The young promoters of this show might have felt a little discouraged over the turn-out Saturday night but it undoubtedly served to renew interest in pugilistic activity here the fourth, Nelson got Folger against the ropes and pinned him for the first time. Just about the end of the fourth, Folger evened up the fall count. A shoulder press in three minutes and twenty seconds of the fifth round gave Nelson the winning fall. There were times when both men showed signs of being nearly out. The referee, wrestler of some ability himself, was kept busy keeping the match clean. The mat was not altogether suitable for wrestling, not being properly padded and this made it harder for the gladiators. Nelson weighed 163 pounds and Folger.

Seven boxing bouts by boys were all earnestly contested and made a good show for the customers. In the curtain raiser, Ted Arney, 111 pounds, and Bill Bond, 113 pounds, did three two-minute rounds to a draw. Sydney Alexander, 150 pounds, had a twenty pound advantage over Jack Eby and was awarded the decision although Eby fought gamely. Howard Hougan, 177 pounds, and Alistair Crerar,

180 pounds, despite their excess weight, displayed a good deal of action and it was fairly called a draw, Guy Thorne and Jack Corbould were billed as 155-pounders but Thorne looked the bigger and
