CANADA AT WAR

year, March 31, 1914, was only $363,000,000.

The magnitude of Canada's war effort is illustrated by the fact that more than one-quarter of the Dominion's male population between the ages of 18 and 45 served in the Canadian, British and Allied forces during the conflict. The total was 682,888.

Enlistments in the Canadian Expeditionary Force numbered 619,636.
Some 36,252 Canadians served in the British forces, of whom 18,272 went to the Royal Flying Corps, while an estimated 5,000 saw service in the forces of the allied or the associated powers.

Canada sent 424,589 men overseas, of whom 346,531 fought in France and Belgium. Statistics disclose that approximately 80,000 served in the United Kingdom only while a further 195,047 were enlisted but did not leave Canada. The majority of the latter were men called up under the Military Service Act of 1917, few of whom saw service in a theatre of actual war.

Canada's Service

The Canadian effort was not confined to the Western Front as the area of operations in France and Belgium was termed. Four infantry divisions, a brigade of cavalry, railway, forestry and other army, transportation and lines of communication units were concentrated on that front. A total of 1,800 served in the Near East, however, chiefly with hospital units and railway troops at Salonika, the Dardanelles (Lemnos), in Egypt and Palestine.

A small detachment of about 40 officers and non-commissioned officers fought in the "Hush-Hush Army" of General L. C. Dunster-ville in Persia, the Caucasus Mountains and even in Russian Turkestan.

one to the Murmansk Coast and the other to Archangel—saw Canadian infantry, artillery and machine personnel serving in that theatre while Canada's Siberian Expeditionary Force to Vladivostok comprised two infantry battalions, a battery of artillery and subsidiary units. About 588 served in North Russia and 4,140 in Siberia.

The Dominion's war-time army was a cross section of the world in general. Following are the countries of birth of those who served:

Canada, 318,728; England, 156, 967; Scotland, 47,427; Ireland, 19, 327; Wales, 4,719; Newfoundland, 3,296; Australia, 1,203; British India, 1,142; South Africa, 444; New Zealand, 412; British Guiana, 125; Tasmania, 33; the United States, 35,599; American republics, 344.

The total of foreign-born Canadian soldiers was 64,000 in round numbers. They included 414 Asiatics of whom 178 were Japanese,

118 Chinese and eight Arabs.

Some Enemy Born

The enemy countries were Germany, Austria-Hungary, Turkey and Bulgaria. Yet 2,382 men who served in the Canadian forces were born in those countries. They were distributed as follows: Austria-Hungary, 1,969; Germany, 245; Turkey, 104 and Bulgaria, 64.

About 4,000 men did not give their place of birth on attestation.

The Great War involved 27 nations counting the British Empire with its Dominions and colonies as one of them. Of the 23 known as the Allied and Associated Powers 11 were active participants. These were the British Empire, France, Russia, Serbia, Belgium, Montenegro, Japan, Portugal, Italy, Roumania and the United States. The other non-active allies were Greece, Panama, Cuba, Siam, Liberia, China, Brazil, Guatemala, Nicaragua, Haiti, Honduras and the tiny republic of San Marino.

UNITY OF CANADA

NOVA SCOTIA

The Hospitable

★ The greatness of Canada and the scope of her influence depend on the co-operation and unity of all the Provinces. Alone, they are separate Provinces; united, they are a proud Dominion.

Here was established the first representative government in Canada, 1758. Halifax has one of the world's finest and safest harbours, and for long was a stronghold of Britain's ships and soldiers. Here were the first post office and the first printing plant in British North America. A centre of old and new world culture: sending many wise men westward to influence Canadian thinking. Today, one of Canada's gateways to the Empire and world. Nova Scotia's notable race of deep-sea fishermen, doughty, hardy, add to National as well as Provincial wealth. With her fisheries consider also her apple orchards, set in heavenly valleys, her intrepid Cape Breton miners, bringing out from under the waves of the Atlantic great treasure; her forestry, her agriculture: for with these activities she produces more than $160,000,000 a year, and exports over a million and a quarter tons of these products for the enrichment of herself and her sister provinces.

Long a favourite summer resort, she values and yearly enhances her reputation for gracious hospitality to those who come to visit the Land of Evangeline and of Romance. She has nearly 15,000 miles of roads used by tourists and her own 50,000 cars.

A part of the Eastern frontier, she gains security by her affiliation with her sister provinces, united under the protection of the Dominion. Ask us for Facts and Figures concerning the Automotive Industries and the work they are doing in Canada, and we will send them.

BUILDING CANADIAN MOTOR CARS is a National Enterprise

Probably no other single agent has changed the lives of so many people, pushed back so many horizons or brought common understanding to so many sectional problems as has the Automotive Industry. It has created new opportunities, new employment in every Province. Through its pay-rolls of the Parts, Steel, Paint, Textile, Glass, Rubber and other industries dependent on it, it has created stable and profitable markets for the products of the farms, the mine, the fisheries and the forest. The money it puts in circulation reaches every corner of Canada: a truly inter-Provincial enterprise, National in purpose and National in scope. When you buy a Canadian-built car you help your own Province as well as Canada as a whole.
