KING'S SPEECH TODAY

VICTORIA, May 30: (CP)-King George, in a public address here this afternoon at the provincial government luncheon in honor of himself and Queen Elizabeth over which Premier T. D. Pattullo presided, said that, when the world realized that prosperity lies in co-operation and not in conflict, he expects Canada will play an even larger part in extending friendliness between the east and the west. With the widening of Canada's role of international interpretation will come corresponding benefits to mankind, His Majesty

Wonderful Reception Was Accorded Their Majesties On Reaching Coast-Weather Was Cloudy

VANCOUVER, May 30: (CP)-Cheers thundered over the great seaport of Vancouver yesterday as King George and Queen Elizabeth nearing the end of their west. ward tour of Canada, received the homage of Canada's Pacific gate-

His Majesty was off the train the first moment after it stopped he shook hands with Mayor J. Lyle Telford who was presented to him by Prime Minister William Lyon Mackenzie King, Then he shook hands with Mrs. Telford.

The Queen followed His Majesty sudden flash of sunshine through threatening clouds. She too shook hands with the mayor and Mrs. Telford.

Her Majesty wore a blue crepe ensemble, the sleeves banded with lace, and an off-the-face hat in matching blue. Her gloves, shoes and bag were grey.

The King wore the uniform of a chief of the Royal Air Force. It was the first time he had worn this uniform in Canada.

Royal Canadian Air Force guards stood across the platform on which there were only a few officials. Royal Canadian Mounted Police lined a red carpet which led from the train steps to the royal motor car.

A huge cheer rose as Their Majesties mounted to the street level from the depot platform of the Canadian Pacific Railway Station. The cheer almost drowned out the cannon which fired a twenty-one gun salute from Stanley Park. The crowd went wild with enthusiasm as the royal motor car appeared on the street. The Queen walked with Mayor Telford to the car, the King following with Mrs. Telford.

The car left at once through a covered causeway to the streat followed by a car carrying the Prime Minister. Behind came a Royal Canadian Mounted Police car, carrying Hon, Ian Mackenzie, the mayor's car and one for the King's assistant secretary.

The King stepped into the roadway near Pier B-C to inspect the guard of honor of the Seaforth Highlanders of Canada.

Before reaching the guard of honor the Queen raised her arm to point towards the mountains of the North Shore with the beauty of which she was evidently in-

After the inspection of the guard, the Seaforth's band played "God Save the King" as the procession passed the guard which stood at salute. The King returned the salute.

Then followed the procession through the city to the City Hall for the official reception. Their Majesties lunched at the new Hotel Vancouver and there was another procession in the afternoon before they sailed at 5 p.m. on the Princess Marguerite for Victoria after being farewelled by Mayor and Mrs. Telford.

Passing out of First Narrows, the royal ship moved through a lane of fishing vessels and a formation of Indian war canoes manned by 400 representatives of coastal tribes, in which Their Majesties evinced much interest.

British Columbia's Greeting

Facsimile of the Address of Welcome read and presented to Their Majesties by the Hororable T. D. Pattullo, K.C., LL.D., Prime Minister of British Columbia, at Parliament Buildings, Victoria, today.

The design is built around the Royal Arms and embodies the Arms of Canada and of British Columbia. The scheme of ornamentation is the popular and pleasing Renaissance in which is featured the symbolic Rose, Thistle and Shamrock. Rich lustre has been imparted by the use of real gold color and the whole ensemble is well in keeping with the occasion and with the dignity of the province. The Address is bound in handsomely tooled royal blue leather.
