THE SAME OLD TRICKS

By this time it would seem that the European countries should be aware of the simple tricks played by Germany in her forward march in Central Europe. She had an advance guard always stirring up trouble in order to give her an excuse to seize more territory. No sooner had she entered Memel than trouble commenced in the Polish corridor. To us in this country it seems childish for these excuses to be accepted as a reason for advancing and bringing pressure to bear on the smaller countries.

Nazi rule in Germany was brought about by deception. It has been continued by keeping the people in ignorance of real facts. Chamberlain admits he was deceived at Munich and has given up his policy of consultation with Hitler. It sometimes makes people wonder whether honesty is the best policy when they see duplicity bringing results and countries such as Britain and France and Russia allowing it.

SPRING CLEAN-UP SOON

It will be time for the annual spring clean-up pretty soon. Prince Rupert will need it this year just as much as in former seasons. We can all point to each other's back yards and feel that the neighbors need the clean-up but some of us are so used to our own needs along the same line that we wade through the mud rather than get busy to improve the place.

Prince Rupert has been pointed to as a nice clean city Let us all make an effort to maintain that reputation and to keep up with the times by eliminating some of the unsightly places. Every town and city on the coast is improving. What about Prince Rupert? There is no reason why we should not be one of the leaders.

ARE WE TOO OLD?

Many of the people who came to Prince Rupert in the early days are getting old and some of them are beginning to show signs of decay. Others keep up the good work of city building and are carrying on with only a slight mellowing.

There is a young generation growing up, a generation born during or after the war and they are beginning to make themselves felt. Pretty soon the older men will have to make way for the younger. That is the way of the world.

Prince Rupert must keep her manhood virile if she is to succeed. She cannot afford to get old or lag behind because of lack of initiative. We seem to be approaching a period of advancement. We can feel it coming. The city is being rejuvenated and all must play their part in seeing that full advantage is taken of the advancement period so that it may continue indefinitely.

BLUE BIRDS TAKE TITLE

Are Champions of Ladies' Bowling League for 1938-39 Season

Blue Birds last night won the Ladies' Bowling League championship for the 1938-39 season. The Blue Birds were winners of the first half and last night's final was between them and Rex, winners of the second half, the score being two games to one in favor of Blue Birds. High average scorer was Ethel Bury of Rex with 216.

To settle second half honors it was necessary to break a three-way tie at the top of the standing between Annette's, Maple Leafs and Rex. Annette's won over Maple Leafs two games to one and then Rex won over Annette's two games to one, thus taking the second half and qualifying to meet Blue Birds in the championship play-off.

Canada's Royal Guests—

QUEEN'S DRESSES MAY BE LEAD FOR AMERICAN STYLES FOR THIS YE

Her Majesties' Court Gowns Severely Cut for Cana Wear But Less Formal for Washington Affairs

LONDON, March 29: (CP)—Mayfair couturiers that Queen Elizabeth may introduce some new fas in Canada and the United States during the Royal v May. Sketches for designs of the Queen's war which will include 50 dresses and as many coats, ha ready been presented at the Palace and have been se with the co-operation of the King and Catherine MacLean, mistress of the Royal Wardrobe and so nearly a physical prototype of the Queen that she can "stand-in" for royal fittings.

The Queen—as member of the Empire's ruling house in Canada and wife of a visiting state head in the United States—has planned a wardrobe suitable for both roles.

At least four severely-cut court gowns will be included in her luggage for Canadian social functions. But for her Washington days the Queen has chosen gowns less formal for evening wear, and informal prints for daytime wear. The extent of the Royal wardrobe may be guaged by the fact the Queen, on busy days, must wear three different outfits.

Fashion Innovation

The Queen has already had some success as a fashion innovator. A crinoline gown which she introduced last year had a long run among conservative dressers.

One of the Queen's new ensembles will feature grey-blue "smoky" fox fur, a new product of Canada. There will be gracefully cut dresses of fine wool georgette with long matching coats, and at least three all-white party ensembles similar to those the Queen wore on the state visit to Paris.

Printed silk and chiffon afternoon dresses for formal receptions will have soft flower des pastel shades. Modernis ters are ignored, but lines defined, featuring pleated and shorter hemlines.

None of the court gowns crinolines and some will be guished by unusual over-d of chiffon and lace. One w silver and white, shades especially to set off the boned Order of the Garter.

For the first time in year, the Queen's wardrobe clude no black, until now in observance of the death mother, the Countess of more.

None of the Queen's ha have veils so that she may more easily.
