Canada's Royal Guests—

STRESS QUEEN'S FAVORED COLORS IN ROYAL ROOMS: FOND OF PINK AND BLUE

Rideau Hall Slated for Doing Over in View of Their Majesties' Stay In Dominion Capital in May

OTTAWA, January 27: (CP)—Pink and blue, favorite colors of Queen Elizabeth, will be stressed in the furnishings of Lady Tweedsmuir's bedroom and sitting room at Rideau Hall, her Majesty's home for four days during the royal stay in Ottawa in May.

King George will occupy the bedroom now used by the Governor-General and will have the use of his Excellency's sitting room adjoining the parlor to be occupied by the Queen, on the floor below.

From mid-March until mid-April Lord and Lady Tweedsmuir will travel in Western Canada while renovations are taking place at Rideau Hall. Members of their staff will accompany them.

On their return they will occupy their own rooms until the arrival of their Majesties May 17 when they will move to other quarters in Government House. Staff members who will travel with the royal party from England will be accommodated in Rideau Hall or in Rideau Cottage, residence of A. S. Redfern, secretary to the Governor-General, in Government House grounds.

New Color Scheme Walls of the room and the closet-lined dressing room off one side, now a pale yellow, will be done in pastel pink shade. New chintzes flowered in pink and blue will cover the sofa and stuffed chairs in the room and a blue taffeta frill will replace the deep green covering around the dressing table.

Complementary plain drapes will take the place of the green hangings now framing the four-poster mahogany bed in early English design with high padded back will also be re-covered in pink and blue flowered chintz. Off the bedroom is an all-white bathroom.

A mahogany wardrobe, bed-side table, writing desk and a high chintz screen are other pieces of furniture in the room. Over the white fire-place and on the walls will be hung water-colors done by Canadian artists.

A hooked rug in rose and blue tones, bought by Lady Tweedsmuir at the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto last summer and in anticipation of the royal visit, will be used on the thick beige

Many Phases Of Holiday Visit Told At Luncheon

An enjoyable, racy description of his trip to Calgary and California was given the Prince Rupert Rotary Club yesterday at its weekly luncheon in the Commodore Cafe by Roy Vandersluys. He told of stopping off at Moses Lake, about ninety miles from Spokane, where the people in the next room worked all night at their accounts and moved out about four o'clock in the morning and began banging at ducks, it being the opening day of the duck shooting season.

Proceeding from Spokane to Creston the next day he again ran into the opening of the duck season on the British Columbia side of the boundary. The roads around Creston were very bad, especially the bridges.

They visited Cranbrook, Windermere, Radium Hot Springs where moose crossed the road right in front of them. At Calgary, where Frank Dibb, who went with them, had a large number of friends, he attended the Rotary luncheon, visited with Glen Gulick and had a very enjoyable time.

The finest scenery on the trip was on the road from MacLeod on the Canadian side to Missoula Hot Springs where they drove around the tops of the mountain ranges on excellent roads.

After reaching Vancouver, Mr. Dibb stopped off and Jack Joy took his place as a guest as far as Los Angeles. Many incidents of the visit were related, of particular interest being the large number of Prince Rupert people they met at different points.

Concluding, Mr. Vandersluys said that, once the Canadian provincial governments got their roads in shape, he thought just as fine a holiday could be spent without crossing the boundary line. As it was they travelled 6,800 miles without a puncture or anything to mar the enjoyment of the tour.
