FAVORED?

Editor, Daily News:
You might wonder why you are favored in this manner or otherwise as the case may be. I merely wish to go on record.

I realize that I must be the craziest person in the world and there are about 500,000,000,000 people therein. One might as well go the limit.

The so-called civilized portions of the world have practically the same problems as has Canada. Starting with the C.N.R. deficit, which has been the study of various governments and commissions, it appears that no one has been able to solve the puzzle and we have a sneaking opinion that the only reason they do not donate the C.N.R. to the C.P.R. is because they are afraid to do so—at least until the Conservatives and the Liberals have joined forces in a Union government which would owe no responsibility to any one or else the worse catastrophe of forming a sort of Fascist union by which those who now are plundering the people might get us in the position in which the Russian, German, Italian and Japanese people now find themselves.

We are in practically that position in some respects and everything points towards things being worse and not better.

When one gets down to brass tacks, it is absolutely impossible to prove that we have a democratic government. In fact, it has been a very long time since even the United States could make that claim count. I have come to the point and prove it. It is easy to kid the masses but figure out the facts to suit yourself.

It has been admitted for a long time by many of our so-called statesmen and by many of our larger business men that the country is in a very precarious condition. Canada is not alone in that and the reason applies to the so-called civilized world. No one seems to be able to put a finger on the trouble. There are a few who have come to the same conclusion as myself but for some reason they do not make their findings public. We believe there are several revolutionary inventions in the world today which are kept off the market because to use them would spoil the income of our great racketeers.

It is my belief that some one must have come to the same conclusion as I have arrived at in regard to our greatest racket but they are not telling anyone. It seems incredible that what we will assume to be a fact has not been discovered by any one except myself. Surely I am not really the most crazy person in the whole world.

It boils down to the fact that I am either right or I am wrong. If I am right, then there are a lot of people in the world who are more crazy than I am and I lose that honor and distinction. Today I stand convicted by my own words. I am in a class by myself.

Now that even the Senate has again been unable to do anything in regard to solving the C.N.R. matter, not to mention the fact that the C.N.R. is merely a drop in the bucket, it would seem that the powers that be would welcome some advice from anyone, even a raving maniac. It is results that States could make that claim count. I have come to the point and prove it. It is easy to kid the them suffer longer, not to say anything about the taxpayers who are the real victims. These poor suckers are, if I am right, being plundered to the extent of nearly a million dollars every day—possibly much more just in Canada. What gets me so disgusted is to hear the government and the people talking about hard times. They haven't the money for needed things but they shoot this amount of money down the sewers every day. Not only that alone but the most sickening part of the whole farce is the fact in my distorted mind that they are not receiving a farthing of real value for these millions and that the whole racket is needless.

Possibly only a extremely crazy person would get such screwy ideas. Possibly it is because the same people cannot see the woods for the trees. Possibly it is because they cannot see their nose although it is the most prominent feature on their face. Possibly it is merely that I have bats in the belfry. Who knows?

We do know that no one else has come forward with any kind of a solution whatever. They are stuck or else are in on the racket and, naturally, are saying nothing. In any case we suggest that a small sum like a million a day is of not much consequence and we do not care so much for the money but it should be a matter of pride with us that we have at last got wise to the little shell game and need the money to play that other shell game munitions for a change. Of course the two are really tied up in the same racket but we could beat both these and several other like swindles if everyone was just as screwy as I am.

I shall not go into the simplicity of the matter but will merely state that it helps everyone except the racketeers and the only harm it does them is just to stop handing them over money which they should not receive. It does not rob even those leeches except in stopping their soft pickings in the future.

At the present time, at least, I would state that I do not wish to hear anything about this matter from any one unless it be Mackenzie King, Mr. Dunning, Mr. Manion or Mr. Hurd. This will put them, as well as myself, on the spot. Some of us shall be obliged to either "put up" or "shut up." O. K. let's go. And this means a million a day. Quick.

Don't Be Mistaken About Constipation!

A great many people, when they are constipated, open the medicine closet, take a purgative, and try to forget—and the ailment returns. And generally it comes back—more and more often—until you find the cause.

If, like most people, you eat bread, meat, potatoes—the cause of your ailment is probably lack of "bulk." And "bulk" does not mean quantity of food, but the kind of food that is incompletely assimilated and leaves a soft mass in the bowels that helps the bowel movement.

If that is the reason for your ailment, eat a good bowl of Kellogg's crisp All-Bran for breakfast. It forms the necessary "bulk," and contains Vitamin B₁, the natural intestinal tonic. Eat some All-Bran every day, drink lots of water, and become "regular." Made in London, Canada, by Kellogg. At all grocers.
