This spring has been rather disappointing to local gardeners who have been unable to do much work enough to sow seeds. However, so nany people now have either little reenhouses or cold frames that it is not so very important to have their seeds in the ground early. I sowed sweet peas this week.

In spite of the snow and night frosts, perennials have been growing. Lilies have been pushing their way through the ground and nothing seems to have suffered to any appreciable extent. It seems quite! safe to plant rose trees and other shrubs now and also to transplant perennials.

Most gardeners who have a good many perennials will be digging up a box of roots for the plant sale, on Saturday for the benefit of the Horticultural Society. When a plant has been in the ground a couple of years it usually can be divided with advantage.

It is very satisfactory to see the local florists importing quantities of roses at low prices. Already many people have made purchases and second shipments will be quite in order. The sooner they are planted the better now. They should be pruned either at the time of plantling of very soon after, leaving about three or four eyes on each stem with the upper one pointing outward.

Many people prefer to leave their perennial bed untouched for a time in order to be sure not to injure Canadian Naval signs of growth above ground. Also many people like to get seedlings from this bed. Many people never sow some varieties of plants but depend upon self-seeding for their stock. I find that foxgloves perpetuate themselves quite easily if the oung seedlings are not destroyed n mistake for weeds.

Someone asks what plants are ikely to be offered at the sale Satirday. I should say that the list will include phlox, foxgloves, sweet rocket. lupins, leopardsbane, delphiniums, michaelmas daisies and possibly orange lilles, bleeding heart. Relief Rolls tiums and other rock plants and dahlias. Canterbury bells are scarce and difficult to secure. H.F.P.
