RUSSIA NO DEMOCRACY

Editor, Daily News:
Your editorial in the Daily News of November 6 on the British Empire would be excellent reading but for one slip. You say: "... under the British flag there is far greater amount of freedom for the individual than under any other, not even excepting the United States or Holland or Russia." The reading of this sentence provides the same pleasant sensation that one gets travelling along a nice well-paved highway, only to find at the end of a smooth stretch that the pavement had suddenly heaved, giving the traveller a severe jolt. The plumb in your "highway" is Russia. I cannot imagine an editor linking up Russia with any of the democracies. Was it a case of Homer nodding?

About the only freedom that is unrestricted in Russia is the freedom to persecute religion. Link Russia up with Germany if you like but not with the United States and Holland.

PRO VERITATE.

B. Jones, who arrived in the city a couple of weeks ago from Stewart, left on last evening's train for a trip to Wadena, Saskatchewan.
