GAVE TALK TO LEGION

Chief Petty Officer Instructor Bird Interesting Speaker—Impressive Initiation

The Prince Rupert branch of the Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League was in regular session last evening when, in addition to routine business, there was the initiation of new members followed by an interesting talk by Chief Petty Officer Instructor A. G. Bird of the Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve. President Jack Preece reported on the result of the plan sponsored by the Canadian Legion to send children representing the city to Victoria. Final arrangements were well in hand. Photographs of the fortunate six were being taken and would appear in the Victoria and Vancouver papers. With reference to the equipping of a Canadian Legion ward in the hospital complete fittings had been ordered and the ward would be fully furnished by the time the opening of the hospital took place. The Women's Auxiliary of the Legion was co-operating in fitting out the ward.

The impressive initiation was carried out with H. A. Breen and G. J. Dawes in charge. Three new applications were approved. It was also decided that the annual picnic would be held with Digby Island and the place and June 23 the date. G. J. Dawes was appointed a representative to attend the meeting called in Toc H hall to consider a local celebration of the royal visit.

C. P. O. Bird Chief Petty Officer Bird gave an unusually interesting address and one that was particularly enjoyed by the members most of whom served with the land forces during the Great War. The speaker contrasted the filthy surroundings of trench life, the lack of regular meals there and the absence of the most common conveniences with the more favorable surroundings prevailing in the forces of His Majesty's Navy in wartime. With many an apt story to add point to an illustration Mr. Bird told of the splendid part the navy played in international relations, in the great centres as well as in the uttermost parts of the Empire. No less important was the work done in the local units of the Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve and the Sea Cadets. On behalf of the members, President Jack Preece thanked Mr. Bird for a talk that had held the listeners' complete interest and which served to bind together the various arms of His Majesty's forces.

General disappointment was expressed at the action of the Dominion government in failing to implement the recommendations of the Veterans' Assistance Commission with regard to the Dominion responsibility for providing a provisional economic allowance for unemployed ex-service men. While governments squabble about whose responsibility the needy ex-service man was, the "forgotten man," whom Sir Robert Borden assured in Canada's name "nothing is too good for you," must take his place in the line of those on relief. Organized action was planned to have a more satisfactory solution found. To date, it was reported, upwards of 45,000 ex-service men have registered in the National Survey, a total that is being rapidly increased and which demonstrates that those who served are still willing to serve.

SHIPPING ANTIMONY

If Market Can be Found, Interior Property Will Produce—Sampling Plant of Value

A thirteen-ton trial shipment of antimony ore from the Snowbird mining property at Fort St. James is about to be made from the local ore sampling plant. Whether it will go to London, Texas, New York or Belgium remains to be determined. Providing a market can be found, an appreciable tonnage may be produced from the property. The Snowbird property is owned by A. J. Ostrem and associates and is under lease to T. E. Neilson. Fairly regular shipments have been made during the past winter to the ore sampling plant by some seven or eight properties in the district, operation of which has been made possible by the existence of the plant.

Congratulations Mickey!

You're terrific in your first starring production!

It's packed with heart tugs, adventure, and human, hilarious humor! They'll howl when you dress up in girl's clothes to play Juliet (and what a Romeo Walter Connolly makes!). They'll hold their breath when you escape with the runaway slave and turn robber to save little Mary Jane's gold! They'll love "The King" with his gold bricks and 5-Ace poker decks, and the "Duke of Bridgewater" and all the rest. And they'll all say "Huck Finn" is your perfect role!
