Paying Cash To Roumania For Stores of Foods—Move On Slovakia Yesterday

With German troop movements toward the frontier reported on a large scale, indications still point to the imminence of a Nazi move against Slovakia by way of military occupation. Fleeing Slovaks are still seeking refuge in Poland.

Average Child Is No Genius

Psychologist Scores Efforts to Over-Develop Youngsters

CHICAGO, June 15: (CP)—Proud parents are advised by a teacher of psychology to stop trying to make "geniuses" out of pre-school age children.

Dr. Alexander Schneiders, psychologist of Loyola University, says parents cause "irreparable harm" to youngsters by helping to develop either "social or educational maladjustments."

Asserting it was "impossible to make anything like a genius out of the average child," Dr. Schneiders deplored a widespread tendency, particularly among educated persons, to satisfy their own egos by forcing their children into intellectual moulds ill-suited to their native capacity or temperament.

Compelling children — even before they are able to hold their books upright — to recite poems, count up to 100, or name offhand the streets of the cities in which they live, were named by Dr. Schneiders as among the practices used in parental efforts to develop precocious youngsters.

J. M. Buchanan, general manager of the B. C. Packers; J. P. D. Malkin, one of the directors, and other officials of the company in the persons of W. Malcolm and W. R. Arnold were overnight visitors in the city in the course of a coast tour.

Likes Hitler's Friendly Manner

American Dancer Finds German Fuehrer Entertaining Companion

MUNICH, June 16: (CP)—Miriam Verne, the American dancer, sees a different Adolf Hitler than most of the world.

The Pittsburgh brunette, whose luck it was to attract the attention of the Reichsfuehrer, says: "Every time he has joined our little parties, I have been impressed by his easy, friendly, but polished manner. And he is capable of jollying one a bit."

Miss Verne has always seen Hitler in moments when he has shaken off cares of office. "Maybe that's why I don't get this impression of fierce sternness which the world seems to associate with the Fuehrer," she says.

"My impression is one of friendliness. He smiles often, listens to my bad German attentively and is always making jokes. We always talk German. I never heard him venture one word of English."

Publicity resulting from friendship with Hitler apparently has frightened the Pittsburgh girl a little. She was not sure it would be helpful to her in America.

"I have had some perfectly nasty letters," she said. "As if I had anything to do with Hitler's politics or could help it if he liked my act. I'm glad he did."

Legislation amending the United States neutrality laws is expected as a result of the spirit engendered by the visit of Their Majesties.
