VICTORY FOR BOTH

The naval battle off the coast of South America evidently was a victory for both sides. The Germans claim victory because they crippled the Exeter and scored a number of hits on the Ajax and Achilles. The Britis. are jubilant because they have put out of action, chased to a neutral port and bottled up a vessel much more heavily armed than their own ships and one that has already been Bryant. responsible for the loss of nine merchant ships.

SPORTSMANSHIP

To show that there is no hatred for the German people the commander of the British cruiser Exeter applied for permission to land one hundred men to pay their respect at the funeral to the brave foemen who were killed on the Graf Spee. This is along the same line as when the foot ball teams cheer each other at the close of the game. I is a matter of sportsmanship. Those who have read of the fighting which took place in the time of the Norman invasion of England will remember that tribute was always paid to the memory of a brave foe, one who has won the respect of all by his prowess.

C.C.F. LOSSES

The defeat of the C.C.F. candidates in Vancouver this week was undoubtedly due to the disloyal statements made by their leaders in the Legislature recently. Many who supported the party because of their opposition abilitw refused to follow them into disloyalty to the British Crown. It was a salutary lesson.

AIM OF UNION WORKERS

The workers of Canada are naturally interested in the purpose of the war, and concur fully in the attempt to overthrow Hitlerism and all it stands for, says President A. R. Mosher of the All-Canadian Congress of Labor. They believe in freedom and democracy and realize fully that there is more than this to be done," says Mr. Mosher. world-domination had to be met. They have already assured the Canadian government of their whole-hearted support and of their desire to maintain industrial harmony in order that there will be no interference with the productivity of the nation or with the mobilization of resources. The workers will play their part as loval citizens. and will expect others to do the same. "But it seems to me that there is more than this to be done." says Mr. Mosher "The workers should formulate their own war-aims; they should give thought and study now to what kind of a world they want after the war, and strive to put themselves in a position where they will be able to use their influence with that end in view."

NATURE FAVORS FINLAND

The Finns in their struggle for liberty against the barbarian giant are finding the elements with them. I is a hard country, a wild and forbidding country, at this time of year and every day sees it becoming wilder and more forbidding. The lakes are frozen and snow is covering everything. Very soon the weather will be worse and it will be most difficult for the Russians to advance. It is suggested that, by another week, the travelling will be so difficult that the invasion may have to be abandoned until spring.
