

THE LAUGHS ON ADOLF

This is how at least one Briton reacted to the pamphlets dropped by German planes in flights over southern and southwestern England the night of August 1. The paper contained extracts from Hitler's "appeal to reason" speech to the Reichstag in which the German Fuehrer repeated his reported desire for peace.

Man in the Moon

There was another Irish invasion Sunday night. Forty of them came in on a northbound steamship but so far there have been no casualties.

They tell me I have a rival column in this paper today. But it's not so funny as mine.

"Willie," asked the teacher, "what is the plural of man?"
"Men," announced Willie.
"And the plural of child?"
"Twins!" was the prompt reply.

Betty (just engaged): Doris, do you know what it feels like to be in love, what it feels like to sit next to the man you adore and feel your innermost soul vibrate?"
Doris: "Sure I do, I feel that that every time Joe takes me out on his motorbike."

Counterfeiting has increased 40 percent in the United States during recent years. Lots of fellows find it the only way left to make money.

Betty: "I can't think what you see in Peter. He does not go in for sport or games and he does not like dancing. What is he interested in?"
Pam: "Me."

"Say, driver, you gave me the wrong change."
Well, you can't expect taxi drivers and accountants for one dollar."

"I met my husband on the street today."
"Yes, it's a pretty small world, after all."

The novice boxer had been badly battered in the first round. His second tried to cheer him up.
"Good boy," he said, "you're doing fine."
He fared even worse in the second round. Still his second remained optimistic.
"You were great that time," he said. "He barely laid a glove on you."

The novice looked puzzled. As he went out for the third round, he turned to his second:
"Better keep your eye on the referee this time," he said. "Somebody is hitting me."

"What, you own a whole row of up-to-date houses and haven't got one to live in yourself?"
"That is so. You see, I've raised the rent so much that I cannot afford to pay it."

TORONTO, Aug. 27.—Five thousand parcels of food per week for British prisoners of war in Germany, to be purchased and packed in Canada for shipment overseas, are asked for in a cable received from London by the Canadian Red Cross Society.

This request will be discussed at an executive meeting of the Society in Toronto this morning, but unofficial statements made by officers of the Society indicate that the Canadian Red Cross will not hesitate in adding this important new branch of work to its many services.

In making public the cabled request, Mrs. H. P. Plumpré, chairman of war activities, said: "This is a great thing for Canada. It is another important job which the people of Canada can do in relieving the British Red Cross of some of the tremendous load which it is carrying. Britain needs all the food she can produce, and we can provide these food parcels for prisoners of war from our abundant supplies here in Canada."

Financing this arrangement will greatly increase our need. The parcel of food from Canada would be distributed in Germany under International Red Cross supervision.

It is understood that if the Canadian Red Cross does agree to supply the parcels, the British Red Cross will send over to Canada a representative of their packing department to supervise the packing of parcels in Canada.

The food contents of parcels will have to be purchased carefully with regard to rules governing parcels for prisoners of war. The weight and size of parcels are regulated and food is sent in small cans so that there will be necessary variety. If the Canadian Red Cross takes on the request from England, it may ask the help of the Canadian Medical Nutrition

Committee in considering the nutritional value of the food.
The Canadian Red Cross has for some time past been sending consignments of food over to England, to be packed there and sent to British prisoners in Germany. These prisoners include some Canadians who enlisted with the British Forces, mainly the Royal Air Force.

"It will therefore be seen," Mrs. Plumpré said, "that by sending over these 5,000 parcels each week, as requested, we will be making sure that all our Canadian prisoners in Germany are taken care of. There are many of these Canadians of whom we have no information because they enlisted in England and gave their nationality as English."

Mrs. Plumpré emphasized that Red Cross is the sole agent permitted to send food parcels to prisoners of war. Hundreds of veterans of the last war had testified that the food parcels they received from the Red Cross saved them from starvation while they were prisoners in Germany.

"As an additional safeguard in this war," she added, "the International Red Cross Committee is sending its inspectors through the camps to make sure that the prisoners are properly treated and get their letters and parcels."

An urgent meeting of all women interested in Red Cross work will be held in the City Hall on Thursday August 29th at 8 p.m.

Papers Out Early During This Summer
It has been decided to get the Daily News out early during the summer months. That makes it very difficult to make changes in advertisements that come in late. All copy for new advertisements or for changes should be in the Daily News office the day before publication. Reports of overnight meetings for publication should also be in early, preferably the night before, to insure publication.
