

Fine Banquet At Kitwanga

Home League of Salvation Army
Responsible for Successful
Affair

KITWANGA, Jan. 6.—The Home League of the Salvation Army gave a very enjoyable supper at the community hall, everyone in the village being present at the affair. After full justice had been done to a fine spread, there was a program of speeches and music. The speakers were Honorary Sergeant Major Arthur McDames of Skeena Crossing, Sergeant Major D. Williams, Robert Harris, Eddie Benson, Matthias Bright, Jacob Morgan and J. A. Sampare. The musical program included violin solos by Sergeant Major W. B. Morgan, accompanied by Mrs. J. A. Sampare; vocal duet by Mrs. D. Wells and Mrs. J. A. Sampare; vocal trio by Irene Yvonne and Loretta Washburn, accompanied by Mrs. J. A. Sampare on the guitar; vocal solo by Mrs. J. A. Sampare, and duet by Judith Morgan and Doris Wells. There were also recitations by Judith Morgan. The audience engaged in hymn singing. Envoy D. Wells was chairman and J. Hayhurst led the prayers.

Natives Made Long Trip In To Hazelton

HAZELTON, Jan. 6.—Twenty-four members of the Church Army from Kisgagas, 63 miles north of Hazelton, visited their Church Army friends in Hazelton at the end of last week for New Year services. The visiting party was under the leadership of William Wale, native missionary at Kisgagas, Capt. Moses Green and four women also making the trip. The trail was a hard one and most of the trip was made on snowshoes.

Rev. Frank Burling conducted a special communion service on New Year's Eve for the benefit of the visitors. In addition to Mr. Burling, William Wale and Simon Green also gave short addresses. The congregation filled the church and entered spiritedly into the singing of Christmas and New Year hymns and carols.

Customs Revenue Lower Last Year

Considerable Decrease in Collections From Imports Shown Here on 1939

Customs and excise collections at the port of Prince Rupert for the calendar year 1939 totalled $123,581.15 as compared with $173,852.76 in the year 1938. The December collections were $8,787.86 as against $8,552.30 in the same month of the previous year. April, November and December were the only months of 1939 to show increased collections over 1938.

HEADMAN'S AXE IS STAYED

Overjoyed on learning of a 60-day stay in the deportation proceedings against him, Baron Waldemar von Reitzenstein-Steinach greets his wife and son at Ellis Island, N.Y. Deportation would mean death under the Nazi headman's axe, says the Baron, who once arrested Hitler during the famous Munich beer-putsch.

give brightness to the city. Tourists will come as usual and it would not be patriotic to neglect our gardens.—H.F.P.

HAZELTON

This winter is quite abnormal in that we have had no cold weather so far. Bulbs are pushing their way through the ground. A few roses were in bloom on Christmas Day and also on New Year's Day. We have had a few odd blooms on the table all the time that were picked from the garden but they have not been very good. Other people with better locations have more flowers.

Since the war broke out it has been difficult to arouse sufficient interest in the garden to do anything. For a while I felt almost like letting everything go or perhaps growing nothing but potatoes. Now we are past the turn of the year, days are lengthening and the weather has improved. I begin to feel that it would not be right to let the garden go, especially at a time when Prince Rupert is on the upgrade with increased population and good prospects for the future. In a few weeks I shall feel the urge to dig and already the new catalogues are proving of some interest.

The other day a copy of "My Garden" arrived from England. In it was a little Christmas story that intrigued me. The father of a family, whose boy had gone to France, decided that they would have a very quiet Christmas with no holly decoration. Mistletoe and holly were to be banned, the mother said, since the boy could not be home to share the festivities. The girls agreed they would be glad to be without the bother of Christmas decorations this year. The sooner they were done with Christmas the better.

On Christmas Eve the girls went to the greenhouse and picked up "just enough holly for the chandelier" from a pile the gardener had left there. The mother came in quietly from another direction with an armful of mistletoe. While they were working the door opened and the father came in furtively with a little holly tree for the carved bear to hold. Then a knock came at the door and the boy in uniform announced he had got leave from the front line to spend Christmas at home. He had picked holly in the lane when coming up. Everybody was happy and what a Christmas they had!

I did not intend to write anything about gardens for a month or two but it seemed to me that there might be others like myself who felt that in these abnormal times a flower garden might be out of place. So I am making this appeal to everyone who can do so to cultivate their patch of garden as usual and plant it to flowers, not potatoes. Flowers will be needed this year to

DRAMA SET OUT WEST

"Maisie," Modern Romance With Outdoor Setting, Is Tonight's Feature at Capitol Theatre

"Maisie," a dramatic romance with western setting to provide the background for a modern story of human beings, is the feature picture for tonight only at the Capitol Theatre. It presents Ann Sothern and Robert Young in the leading roles.

The story is based upon the romance of a chorus girl and a ranch manager who is starting life over again after having been in a prison for a crime he did not commit. The circumstances in the lives of this hard-bitten pair make for a romance of different sort. When the hero goes on trial for the murder of his employer, the story reaches a potent dramatic climax. Robert Young is the ranch manager and Ann Sothern, the chorus girl.

Ruth Hussey has the "heavy" feminine role as the cheating wife of Ian Hunter. Her cheating leads to his suicide and the charge of murder against Young. Cliff Edwards, as a ranch hand, provides much of the comedy while Dick Raymond, Art Mix and Willie Fung also have important roles.
