BUILDING NEW HALL

People of Kitsegukla Are Engaged in Building of Fine Structure

KITSEGUKLA, April 16.—Under the direction of the Athletic Club, the people of Kitsekukla are now engaged in the building of a fine new community hall— a project which has long been mooted in the village. With the entire population of the village lending a helping hand, the structure is rapidly taking shape and the foundation and floor have been completed, the cornerstone having also been fittingly laid.

The new hall, measuring sixty by thirty feet, will be fully modern. It will have hardwood floors, stage with dressing rooms, an outer lobby with cloakroom and ticket wicket. The ceiling will be high enough to permit of the playing of basketball and badminton. The exterior will be in stucco finish.

The construction is under the supervision of Arthur Sampare with Bert Russell, president of the Athletic Association, as his consultant.

In connection with the laying of the cornerstone there was a suitable celebration. There was a program arranged by Jeffery Johnson and supper was served by the Ladies' Aid. The ceremony opened with the singingf of "Work for the Night Is Coming." N. McEwen gave a short talk, emphasizing the need for whole-hearted co-operation and generous donations if the hall is to be completed. Speeches were also given by Arthur Sampare, Alfred McDames and Simon Turner who, in turn, pledged support and co-operation toward the undertaking. Representatives of the Ladies' Aid, Home League and Red Wing Club spoke and pledged their support by making donations towards the hall fund.

Man in the Moon

Many Prince Rupert people think they are taking part in the war by listening in on the radio. A slight stiffening of prices is the only indication so far that we are engaged in a struggle with the European dictator.

Land is supposed to be free in Russia and yet that country expended 260,000 Russian lives to acquire 15,000 square miles of land. To us in Canada that seems rather expensive.

"Shine, please, boy," said a tall soldier.

The boy eyed the boot before him, calculating its vast expanse.

"Bert," he called to another boy. "Gimme a hand, I've got an army contract."

A school boy was told to write a sentence using the words "analyse" and "anatomy", so he produced the following:

"My Anna lyse over the ocean
"My Anna lyse over the sea
"My Anna lyse over the ocean
"O bring back anatomy."

HISTORY REPEATS

WABASH, Ind., April 16: (CP)—Vern Zook lent his car to Eugene Hiatt. Hiatt ran into the dead end of a road and damaged the car. When it was repaired, Zook took it out and ran into the same dead end and the car went back to the repair shop.
