Church Wednesday Hobble Skirts? "Sunning" Sunday It Is The War

Montana Minister Solves Empty Pews Question By Weekday Services
New York Fashion Sharps Look For Narrower Dresses In The Fall

BUTTE, Mont., June 12: (CP)—For the third consecutive summer, Butte's United Congregational Church will have "Sunday on Wednesday."

Rev. Emerson W. Harris says all church services will be held on Wednesday, out of the ordinary working hours, so they won't compete with "healthful activity in the open" that many workers find to their liking on Sunday.

Mr. Harris added that the experiment had been "quite successful" in increased attendance during the two summer seasons it has been tried.

It's the cumulative effect of advertising that counts.

NEW YORK, June 12: (CP)—As headlines grow wider, women's skirts grow narrower. Believe it or not, it's cause and effect, says Amy Porter, Associated Press fashion writer.

The slim silhouette is definitely on its way and you can blame it on the war. As you hobble about in a hobble skirt this fall, remember that it never would have happened if it hadn't been for Hitler.

For an explanation of the strange tie-up between war and fashion you couldn't go to a better authority than the woman who is known as Toke, fashion adviser to more than 100 big stores.

Toke's favorite slogan is "Headline news makes fashion news."

Man in the Moon

According to a Berlin despatch, Hitler's war aim is to destroy England and France. German forces are in France but the tight little island is still intact.

The Hitlerian method is the lying method. Avoid it and him.

The man who can be duped by the Hitler ideology can be duped by anything. Don't be a sucker.

The long run winner is he who profits by his mistakes. The British and French at Dunkerque turned disaster into victory. That is the stuff that counts.

People who sling mud lose ground.

It's far better to get down to facts than to stoop to lies.

"Did he bring his wife with him?"

"Every time, sir, and three prettier girls it would be difficult to find."

Modern: "Canada anticipates that in this emergency men, women and children will do the nearest thing that comes to hand in the service of their country."

Nelson: "England expects that every man this day will do his duty."

"Today's big black headlines won't make us go into mourning," she says, "but they will be translated into the straightest, simplest clothes we've worn for years."

"Possibly frugal French designers feel that less material should be used, hence narrow skirts. Possibly they think full skirts are a kind of vanity, unsuitable in wartime. In any case, it's sure that new fall daytime clothes will stick to the straight and narrow. Only in our jewels and in our evening things will we go gay and luxurious."

ALL THE COMFORTS OF HOME

His machine gun set and its range fixed upon a point in front of his post, this French mitrailleur (machine-gunner) has nothing to do but sit and watch. He is in a former private house in an advanced position, where he enjoys the comforts of a rocking chair.

EMBASSIES IN MARBLE

Envoys in Washington Uncle Sam's Problem Children; Six Diplomatic Chiefs Without a Country

WASHINGTON, June 12: (CP)—The United States capital is rapidly becoming a city of embassies without a country.

In embassy lane—Massachusetts Avenue—marble villa after brick chateau is pointed out to visiting firemen as the embassy of a land that is no more and in many of them live men who realize they are men without countries, says Jack Stinnett in Washington Daybook.

There are six embassies here of lands which have been absorbed by Germany or captured by the Nazis and subjected to a government domination that leaves their ambassadors not knowing for whom they speak nor to whom they owe allegiance.

The Czechoslovakian flag still flies over the residence of Vladimir Hurban and Mr. Hurban still comes and goes on the business of his state, but where is that state today?

Count Jerzy Potocki still is "His Excellency" when he enters a Washington drawing room and his 16th Street palace still is the recognized center of Polish activities in the United States, but where is Poland? At last report the "capital" was Angers, France.

Still a Belgium

Count Robert van der Straten-Ponthoz, who also lives on the great avenue of nations, represents a nation torn asunder—Belgium. His cabinet and council is in Paris and has not given up; his King, who appointed him, has; and the United States, which recognizes his credentials, refuse to recognize the conquest of the nation that sent him there.

Henrik de Kauffmann's status theoretically has not changed, for he is Washington's minister from Denmark—but the status of his country has. When the minister receives an order from Copenhagen today, how can he know whether it comes from the government that appointed him or from some Nazi overlord?

Dr. A. Loudon is another man whose daily problems must cause sleepless nights. Queen Wilhelmina, to whom by oath he owes his all, and her government, are in London; and Arthur Sevss-Inquart, the Austrian Nazi leader, is in supreme command of all the civil functions of the Netherlands.

In a similar plight is Wilhelm Munthe de Morgenstjerne, the minister from Norway. The great lobe of the country that he represents is in German hands. King Haakon and the Norwegian government are in England.

Have Social Status

The social status of these ambassadors without a country is unchanged. Washington still recognizes them as representatives of the nations that appointed them. They still call almost daily at the State Department and report or confer on the problems of the world.

But behind the scenes, they rapidly are becoming the State Department's problem children. Refusing to recognize a conquest is one thing, but when you have to straighten out the affairs of Americans and the United States government in a conquered land, that's another.

Farewell To Shawatlans

Away beyond the harbor toward the rising sun
Gleams a haunt I'd planned to visit when exams and tests were done
There's a lake its swell to swim in, fed by gurgling, rippling streams,
And a sandy beach for a campfire, when the sun no longer beams.

I'd wake to the splash of salmon, hurrying upward from the sea,
And watch the bald-headed eagle pretend to be part of a tree,
Then launch my skiff and go gliding through pale waterlilies fair
Or I'd make a mad dash for the camera if the shout rang out "There's a bear!"

But now that my country needs thee, Oh wonderland by the sea,
And an edict stern has banished me in the cause of liberty
I yield a ready obedience, 'tis the least that I can give
When so many brave hearts have given all that in freedom we might live.

So farewell, till the ban is lifted, till the cause of right has won
My visits to thee shall be fancy-flights, on the wings of my longings borne

Even now, while the schoolroom is stilling and home economics a bore,

A truant breeze comes whispering, and together we glide through the door

And race barefoot to the lakeside and tread the cool wet sand
Till the voice, pedagogical, breaks the spell "Oh thou dreamer, hold out thy hand!"

Rump Argument Smoothed Over

Charles Laughton Denies Alleged Remarks About Samuel Johnson

LONDON, June 12 (CP)—Charles Laughton made peace with the admirers of Dr. Samuel Johnson who were quick to resent remarks credited to the film star in Hollywood.

The English actor denied he had declined to play the role of the author - philosopher because Dr. Johnson "never did anything but sit on his fat rump and make cruel remarks about other people."

The Staffordshire (Literary) Society had suggested the "fat rump" reference might apply quite aptly to Laughton himself. Laughton said he had rejected the Johnson script because he considered it "too static" to make a film. Laughton wrote he might "just as well on about criticizing roast beef and Yorkshire pudding, an English bluebell wood or the Yorkshire moors" as to make lightening remarks about the "great man," Johnson.

MY DAD KNOWS A LOT ABOUT DRIVING AND HE SAYS BLOW-OUTS ARE MUCH WORSE THAN SKIDS!

YOU'RE CRAZY, MY DAD KNOWS TWICE AS MUCH AS YOURS AND HE SAYS SKIDS ARE MUCH MORE DANGEROUS!

WHY ARGUE?
BOTH ARE DANGEROUS!

NEW GOODRICH TIRE PROTECTS YOU AGAINST BOTH SKIDS and BLOW-OUTS

Usually "kid" fights start over something mighty trivial. But the cause of this battle is something that every grown-up car driver needs to take seriously.

Way up the list of safety features in this new Silvertown is the Life-Saver Tread—that is specially designed to act on wet roads like a whole rapid-fire battery of windshield wipers. It sweeps the water right and left—forces it out through the deep drainage grooves—leaves a track so dry you can actually light a match on it! It's easy to understand why this tire will stop you quicker, safer than you've ever stopped before!

And, adding one safety feature to another, this new Silvertown gives you the famous Golden Ply. By resisting internal tire heat, this exclusive Golden Ply provides scientific protection against high-speed blow-outs. Don't take chances with either a skid or a blow-out. See your nearest Goodrich Dealer now about putting Silvertowns on your car—the tire that does "double duty" as a life-saver—at no extra cost!

NEW! Seal-O-Matic Life-Saver Tube makes your driving SAFER in TWO WAYS...

1. New Blow-out Protection... In the blow-out "danger zone" (A), Seal-O-Matic's "Self-Healing" Lining instantly works in to fill rips, or tears... changes dangerous blow-outs to safe, slow leaks... Even at (B) clear out of the "danger zone," Seal-O-Matic gives new protection with 60% greater strength in its "Tuff-Rubber" walls.

2. New Protection against Flat Tires... Punctures due to nails, glass, etc., are instantly, completely and permanently sealed by the new exclusive Goodrich "Self-Healing" Lining.
