BOYS' WORK MOVEMENTS

Are Being Stressed in Connection With Religious Education Week

The Religious Education Council is holding a Religious Education Week and, in conjunction with that, the Trail Rangers and Explorer groups are holding "open house" on Tuesday night of this week.

Trail Rangers is a distinctly Christian movement for the training of teen age boys. It envisions a four-fold development of boy life—intellectual, physical, devotional and social. It seeks to train boys so that they will have strong, virile minds capable of clear independent thinking; to develop strong vigorous bodies, and to lead boys into vital religious relationships and to enable boys to share in the responsibilities of life. The emphasis is not solely in terms of development of a boy as an isolated individual. He must find increased opportunity for expressing his personality in relation to other groups and individuals in his work.

The regular Trail Ranger camp is a class of boys from 12 to 14 years. The typical week-day meeting consists of six parts—opening ceremony, worship and bible study, business instruction, library and social and recreational period.

On Sunday, the group is a class, worshipping with the rest of the school and studying the lesson. If a boy attends another Sunday School other than the one connected with the church in which mid-week activities are being carried out, his continued attendance there is credited. Under no circumstances will he be asked to change his Sunday school.

The Trail Ranger plan seeks also to help each boy to live life at its Christian best in his home; in his school, in his church and on his playground.

Explorers

The Explorer movement is an effort to present a balanced program of Christian education emphasizing especially those features which cannot well be carried on in Sunday sessions. Appropriate study and worship create the atmosphere in which boys may participate in play, group activities, social good times and constructive work.

The keynote of the Explorer program is service, every Explorer being "A doer of the word and not a hearer only."

The unit of organization for Explorers is the junior department of the Sunday School which includes the Sunday School boys nine, ten and eleven years of age.

The Explorer program illustrates those principles which in the opinion of the Religious Education Council of Canada ought to govern week-day work with Juniors.

Tuxis Square

Classes of boys from 15 to 17 years for what are called Tuxis Squares. Here, too, the emblem is four square. It is based on a series of projects.

There is a special significance in the word "Tuxis." Each letter has its own distinctive meaning. "T" stands for training; "S" for service; "X" represents the first letter in the Greek word meaning Christ, thus indicating that the program is "Christ centred"; "U" stands for you and "I" for the first person singular. Hence, the word means "You and I in training for service, Christ in the centre and no one but Christ between us." The boy who takes Tuxis work seriously is aiming to make Christ central in his life.

To Seek And Serve God Christian Aim

The true aim of every person who would enjoy a full life is to seek and serve God, Rev. H. G. Funston declared in morning sermon at First Presbyterian Church yesterday. They should also strive to help others to do likewise. Indifference and self-righteousness were factors to be deplored, the pastor said. Advertising is an investment.

McAfee Says Private Business would Make It Impossible For Him To Enter Federal Contest

What the Conservatives intend doing in connection with the election in Skeena still seems uncertain. There is said to be a possibility that they may not nominate in which case it might be a straight fight between Olof Han-
