BOMBING OF CIVILIANS

It seems as if the ruthless bombing of civilians was about to commence. The people of Great Britain expected it from the beginning when they evacuated children from the centres of population. The people of France must have known it was likely to come. They knew they were fighting a ruthless enemy that would stop at nothing.

It is a horrible thing, this modern warfare. Hitler has been told by the Allies again and again that, if his planes bombed either London or Paris, Berlin would get a similar dose. So far Berlin has always escaped war but may not for long.

DOROTHY TO IL DUCE

In a syndicated article published in a chain of newspapers in United States and Canada, Dorothy Thompson, journalist, addresses herself to Il Duce. She says in part:

"Duce: Before you take your nation into this war, think well and long concerning the United States of America. We are an odd people, Duce. Our democracy may seem to you sprawling and uncompact, composed of all the peoples of Europe, divided in its opinions, quarrelling among ourselves.

"But that is only one America. The other is the America that flies together in an emergency; that being slow to anger is terrible in wrath; that detesting imposed discipline can impose it in itself; that being individual can be, briefly or for long, united in gregarious self-discipline.

"Although we detest aggression—particularly the aggression of the strong against the weak—we despise the vulture who waits until his prey is locked in a life and death stuggle and then falls on him from behind."

After telling of the immense capacity for production in the United States she goes on to tell how pleased Italians in that country appeared when there seemed a likelihood that Italy would be friends with Great Britain. She shows how, when the United States comes in, she will not be a nation exhausted with wars. "We shall have no sympathy for the vulture, for the profiteer on the misfortunes of others." She then concludes with:

"Duce, your industrialists do not want this war. Your peasants do not want this war. The women of Italy do not want this war. Only a part of your youth wants it now before it has begun when you can sway them with your magnetism. But, if this war becomes worldwide and is long, there will be consequences for your youth and for your nation which you too in the watches of the night must have thought about and turned, troubled, on your pillow."

SPORT CHAT

Lou Gehrig, slugging New York Yankees first-baseman, made baseball history eight years ago yesterday when he smashed out four consecutive home runs at Philadelphia, to help Yanks beat the Athletics 20-13. Ed Pelehants did the same trick in 1896.

Helen Jacobs won her fifth challenge match when she captured the all-England women's tennis title at Wimbledon four years ago today. She beat Hilda Sperling of Germany and Denmark, 6-2, 4-6, 7-5.

ROAD WORK DISCUSSED

Continuation of Usk — Cedarvale Link All Depends Upon Federal Assistance, Chamber of Commerce Advised

In answer to representations that the present contractors, Mannix & Co., be allowed to finish the Usk-Cedarvale gap in the northern provincial highway, Premier T. D. Pattullo, in a letter to the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce last night, stated that the government had this in mind but it was all a question of money being available.

E. T. Kenney, M.L.A. for Skeena, advised the Chamber that the Premier was fully seized with the importance of the matter but the financial situation was none too encouraging and everything depended on the present visit of Mr. Pattullo to Ottawa. Mr. Kenney suggested that the matter also be taken up with the federal member, Olof Hanson, in the hope of being able to obtain sufficient further funds to carry on for the meantime at least.

Arthur Dixon, chief engineer for the provincial department of public works, explained that the Usk-Cedarvale work was being carried on jointly by the Provincial and Dominion governments and its continuation would depend upon federal policy.

H. G. Perry, M.L.A. for Fort George, and Olof Hanson, M.P. for Skeena, also wrote on the subject.

The outcome of the discussion was a motion by Theo Collart and G. W. Nickerson again drawing to the attention of Premier Pattullo that the contractors were ready to accept government bonds in payment of carrying on the Usk-Cedarvale work.

GOD'S AID ESSENTIAL

When His Power Is Manifested, No Army Can Overcome It

God will yet manifest his great power to this troubled world and not even the greatest army will be able to overcome that power declared Rev. H. G. Funston in his morning service at First Presbyterian Church Sunday. "If God is to be on our side, however, we must be on God's by accepting Him," asserted the pastor who said that every one must admit there had been a great drifting away from God in recent years. There were many who felt they were on the right side but were they on the side of righteousness? Self-righteousness Mr. Funston contended was one of the worst troubles of the day. Peoples and nations felt their self-sufficiency, ignoring the factor of God. Out of this attitude, this feeling of independence of God, arose the 'isms such as nazism, fascism and communism.
