OVER 200 DEAD

PARIS, June 4: (CP)- The · Nazi air raid on the Paris region Monday took a toll of 906 victims of whom 254 were killed, it was officially announced tonight.

PARIS, June 4 .- With indications that the casualty list as a result of yesterday's German air raid, the worst so far in the war, was far greater than originally estimated, Paris today proceeded with the clearing up of debris and calmly awaited the next development of the war. A new German offensive against France, it was felt by observers, might coincide with Italy entry into the war.

Preparations are being made to meet a renewed grand military offensive with the use of every military weapon known and further aerial bombardments probably on a greated scale. The new German offensive, it is believed, will probably start between the Somme and the Aisne.

Details of Raid

The German air raids yesterday to large extent appeared to be directed against military objectives although there was no very evident discrimination about sparing civilian institutions. For instance, hospital was bombed and four persons killed and eighty injured. Twenty-five towns outside the city NO DOUBT. started by incendiary bombs were still burning in some of these today.

Embarkation - McNaughton Aided Evacuation-Britons Equal To Anything

Minister William Lyon Macken- + zie King told the House of + Commons today. He said that Major General McNaughton, Canadian general officer commanding, had made a personal reconnaissance of the battle area in Northern France and Belgium and had turned in a valuable report which aided in preparation of plans for the retreat from Flanders.

If the speed of the German rush through the low countries gave cause for great alarm there was in the evacuation of the British Expeditionary Force even. greater cause for believing that the Allies will prove more than equal in any circumstance, said Mr. King.

The Prime Minister disclosed that Canadian troops had been sent to the British West Indies to relieve British forces there and some Canadian destroyers were now serving with the Royal Navy in British waters. Some British ships had been assigned to Canadian waters.

Handling Of Sabotage And Espionage In Canada

OTTAWA, June 4: (CP)- Rt. Hon. Ernest Lapointe, minister of justice, stated yesterday that the public of Canada must accept the Royal Canadian Mounted Police EVACUATION and other police bodies to take care of subversive elements and in connection with espionage and sabotage. There was no need to become stampeded.

There had been no serious complaints in regard to police work in connection with these matters after nine months of war, said Mr. Lapointe.
