H. F. Pullen Chats With Members of Rotary Club on His Favorite Theme at Luncheon

An informal talk on gardens an gardening was given yesterday a ternoon to the members of Prince Rupert Rotary Club at regular weekly luncheon by H. every businessman to have a hobby, apart altogether from his business. and recommended gardening as especially suitable in a place like Prince Rupert. The busy man who had no hobby was lost and one he quit making money he usually died. A keen interest in gardening would save many a life for years.

The speaker said that, for some time past, he had been doing his people at a distance remembered Prince John for Vancouver. Prince Rupert because of its gardens. One particular case was of some ladies in Florida who had written telling how they appreciated the gardens in this city.

Mr. Pullen spoke of formal and informal gardens, also of gardens made up mostly of perennials and others mostly of annuals. In any case there was no easy way. There was always something more to do than just planting the flowers. The main trouble was to keep them free from weeds. This was particularly true of rock gardens. Rock plants were mostly perennials but dwarf annuals could be used very effectin ively to brighten up the rock gardens in the fall. There gardens

The speaker told of the effectivehoof where they will look over some ness of very common flowers in any garden when used in great splashes. Last year he said he had a big drift of foxgloves that were self-sown. These attracted the attention of ies based on the celebrated comic the principal casualties have been tough but essentially good inmates say, Ronald Reagen, Grant Mitchell that in a few weeks from now would be a fine display. A touch of yellow alyssum among them would help to set them off. To those who were fond of sport

Mr. Pullen recommended that type of gardening where growers competed with each other either for prizes or with the idea of making a more beautiful place than the next. There was no end of competition among those who grew flowers. This catered to the sport instinct. To the true gardener, planting and cultivating was not labor, it was recreation. Any person who made! a labor of it, failed getting the most regular weekly luncheon by H. F. out of the hobby. A few people Blondie Takes have time to look at their flowers. watch their growth and enjoy them. That was a great mistake. The wonderful colors and forms in flowers were intended to be enjoyed. Even if they were originally intended to attract bees, they might well be adapted to human enjoyment.

Fred M. Wells, well known pionpart in trying to make Prince Ru- eer mining man, arrived in the city pert people garden conscious.
