CONFERENCE WITH COAL MINERS BROKE UP WITHOUT DECISION

ESTIMATED THAT STRIKE IS COSTING FIFTY MILLION DOLLARS PER WEEK—MILLIONS OF PEOPLE SUFFERING DIRE PRIVATIONS.

(Special to Daily News.)

London, March 25.—The discussion of the minimum wage bill was again postponed in the Commons today while the conference between the mine owners and the men was being held. The conference broke up without any decision being reached.

According to well defined report even if the strike is settled at once two million men in other industries could not be immediately relieved. All are suffering great privations. Train and steamship service is further reduced today. It is estimated that the strike at the lowest is costing the United Kingdom fifty million dollars per week.

Premier Asquith meets the old members of the Miners' Union and several of the owners this afternoon, in an apparent attempt to arrange for another conference.

WOMAN MAKES A DESPERATE EFFORT TO REESCUE PRISONERS

FULLY LOADED REVOLVER FOUND IN BOSOM OF HER DRESS AND IN HER STOCKINGS TWELVE STEEL SAWS AND OTHER TOOLS.

(Special to Daily News.)

Bellingham, March 25.—Under the pretense that she wished to see her alleged brother, a woman giving the name of Georgia Allan and claiming that her home is in Vancouver, B. C., was arrested here while attempting to get inside the gaol.

A search of the woman shortly after she made the application to enter revealed a revolver, the six chambers fully loaded, and a box of cartridges in the bosom of her dress, and in her stockings twelve twelve steel saws, oil and other tools such as would be useful to men attempting to break gaol.

The man she wished to see was arrested a few days ago along with another charged with smuggling opium. It is one of the most daring attempts to rescue prisoners ever heard of on the Pacific coast.

Down with ring rule is the cry unanimous on every side. The determination of the fair minded people is bound to win out on Thursday. For progressive government put your cross after the second name on the ballot paper. tf to have when the Conservative powers that be would kick William Manson out of their circles. He impressed the audience as being a capable and fair minded man and an energetic and forceful speaker. He was well applauded.

Mr. Alex. M. Manson preferred to be the last speaker, but Mr. William Manson ruled that it was his meeting and he would run it to suit himself. So the member-to-be bowed to the inevitable. He attacked the McBride government most unmercifully and exposed their different policies one after another, picking the ex-member's speech to pieces gradually. He called the McBride government sharply to task regarding the auditing of the public accounts. His speech was received with frequent applause.

The Socialist representative spoke for a few minutes only.

In his reply Mr. Manson dismissed Dr. Clayton's speech as being unworthy of recognition. He paid little attention to the Socialist, but centred his attack upon the Liberal candidate. He accused Mr. Alex. Manson of having wilfully impressed the audience with a false idea regarding the auditing of the public accounts and immediately the Liberal candidate was on his feet. The ex-member ordered him to sit down. Mr. Alex. Manson drew himself up and refused to do as he was ordered, and the audience yelled approval. A lively argument then ensued for a few minutes.

When Mr. William Manson was through speaking Mr. Angers endeavored to ask him a few questions, but the lashing he administered at Terrace was well remembered and Mr. Angers was denied another opportunity.

That tonight's council business will be of plain routine nature is the prediction of City Clerk Woods this morning. There is nothing of out-of-the-way interest on the bill of fare, and though anything might "jump up" there are no symptoms of such a jack in the box around the city hall.

Liberal Rally Was a Pronounced Success

trict and Prince Rupert in particular, entitled it to more representatives in the Legislature, yet McBride forces a sudden election upon us. Why was this done when the Legislature had two more years to run?

Then Mr. Williams told in detail how the pre-emptors were taxed, in every way conceivable, and only a sixteenth of the revenue coming back, and that to a large extent improperly expended, and asked how long could such an injustice to the people last.

Mr. Naden said it was often asked why the Liberals did not join with the Progressives in placing a candidate in the field to defeat Wm. Manson. He had replied that the Liberals had something stronger than mere office to fight for and vote for. Dr. Clayton would not fight for Liberal principles (cheers), and it was these principles which led to a Liberal candidate being placed in the field (cheers). They were in it to fight against the McBride government. Sir Wilfrid Laurier had endeavored to assist this northern country by a railway that should open up more country to development, while McBride had actually done nothing in this direction.

Speaking of the road building he said a party of these road-builders were at Alice Arm last year for the purpose of building a road to the Naas River, about twelve or fourteen miles. They started out the week before election with supplies for thirty days. How were they going to get these men back to Goose Bay to vote? They managed it. The very week of the election the foreman got a telegram to bring them all in to report. So the government had these votes to help beat Duncan Ross, and paid the cost of them out of your money.

"We should vote against the McBride clique as long as we have breathed in our bodies. (Cheers). Will Dr. Clayton fight our battles or will he jump into the band wagon and say: 'Well, Bill, I'm with you.' We have a candidate fighting for Liberalism. (Cheers.) Alex. M. Manson is making this fight for us. It could not be with any good grace I could vote for Dr. Clayton as a Progressive or any other kind of a Tory, and I think you all feel as I do. (Cheers.) We are all bound to vote against the abuses of power under which we are suffering."

The licenses system of British Columbia is maintained solely as a vote making machine. tf

The management of the Westholme Opera House is again offering a big feature tonight and tomorrow night entitled "Bobby, the Footman," a delirious comedy in two reels of 1,000 feet each. The story is clean and very funny. Bobby is a tiny chap, 5 years of age, who is engaged by a noble marchioness of Paris as footman, and his escapades and exploits will amuse young and old. No one should miss this splendid entertainment. tf
