NEW WORK FOR LEGION

The Canadian Legion drive that is to be put on a week from Monday is to provide funds for carrying on educational work with Canadians who have enlisted in the fighting forces. It is particularly designed to get rid of the mental attitude that they are not coming back. In addition to providing them with personal services the Legion plans to carry out such educational work while the men are training for war that they may be in a position to take their places at home when the war is over. In addition, concert parties will be provided and recreation huts established where required. It will be the aim to do such things as may seem reasonable and necessary to contribute to the welfare of the troops, having regard to conditions that may develop. In view of experiences with the work of the local branch we know of no organization better fitted for this job than the Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League.

CARRYING ON THE WAR

It is much more important to the people of Canada that the war be carried on to a successful conclusion than that any political party be chosen to undertake the work. Most people are not greatly interested in political parties but they are interested in the men who are to be at the head of the affairs of the country during this crucial time. If Dr. Manion has any idea of taking over the government of the country, the people will want to know who is to be with him and what is their standing as public men. Have they ever shown an aptitude in administering public affairs? That will be the crucial test that will be applied to the men to be chosen by any leader. Prime Minister King has promised that he will tell the people whom he expects to have with him. How about the other side?

PRETTY GOOD TEAM

Hon. T. D. Pattullo and Olof Hanson, who have been to Montreal to enlighten the Canadian National heads in regard to shipbuilding possibilities at Prince Rupert, are a pretty good team for the job. They are possibly more familiar with Prince Rupert in its relation to the rest of the country than any others in British Columbia. Whether they manage to secure the work for this shipyard or not, it would be difficult to beat them as delegates of this city and they are costing the city nothing, at any rate not directly. It would have been quite a strain on local finances to send any other delegates.

minesweepers. Without the stimulus of excitement, they carry out their desperately dangerous duties without cease. The R. A. F. has also shown by engaging fighting aircraft with their bombers that success can be gained by skill and determination even when theoretically it could not be expected.

Dominion's Aid

Another event has been the arrival of the first Canadian Division. Coupled with the news that Australian and New Zealand divisions are ready to sail, this must make Hitler wonder whether the British Empire can really be in decay.

Apart from the sign of unity of purpose it gives, the military value of Dominion assistance is very great. Those who realize that best are German soldiers who had to fight, and British regular officers who were associated with Dominion troops in the First Great War. Quick to learn, thorough in all their methods, and full of initiative and offensive spirit, these Dominion troops had no superiors and few equals.

While still raw, the Canadians of 1914-1918 came through the first gas attack and Australians and New Zealanders through the Anzac landing in a manner that left no doubt as to their potentialities. Further experience made them the more formidable and at the end of the war they showed no signs of exhaustion.

West Front Today

Many ask what is the meaning of "patrol activity," "raids" and "artillery fire," often mentioned in communiques. Such activities are not intended to produce any decisive results. Perhaps their main object is psychological.

Troops allowed to hold their positions passively undoubtedly tend to become inert, bored and either jumpy or careless. Activity and excitement is the best cure. In addition the training value of patrolling and minor operations is very great. This may sound a hard and dangerous doctrine but the lessons learned save life in the end.

There is another reason for patrol activity and raids. Information is required of enemy points. Much of that information can only be got by capture of prisoners. It is, for instance, important to know what divisions are holding the position and what extent of front they occupy. That is an indication of the strength of the troops holding the line and the numbers in reserve. The movement of divisions from one part of the front to another or their withdrawal to reserve gives valuable notice of enemy intentions. Information which throws light on the vigilance and state of morale of the enemy is also required.

Artillery activity may be to cover patrols or raids or it may be merely harassing fire intended to inflict loss—as, for instance, when it is known reliefs are taking place involving movement without cover.

Much of the artillery activity is, however, merely for registration of the exact range of points, thus enabling accurate and intense fire to be opened at short notice when required.

Beavers Win 3 to 2 Over Leading Wanderers In King Edward School League

The uncertainty of football prophecy was once again shown when in the King Edward School Football League the present "tail-enders," the Beavers, won from the leaders, the Wanderers, by three goals to two.

Through two goals both scored by Everett Pierce, who was quick to take advantage of the chances, the Beavers led two goals to nil at half time.

Hemmons opened the scoring for the Wanderers and Joe Davis added the equalizer. The latter was too high with his shot from a penalty kick given against Menzies for handling. With scores even, the game became faster. Beavers were the better team and McGreish got the winning goal.

Teams:

Beavers—Mairs; Husoy, Menzies; Johansen, Holkestad (captain), C. Piffold; Wesch, J. Haugan, E. Pierce, McGreish, Bond, D. Murray. Wanderers—Jerstad; Teng, Dixon; Leavitt, Joe Davis (captain); D. Owens; I. Matsumoto, Hemmons, Bud Pierce, Stacey, D. Scherk.

Beavers had a good defence in Mairs, Menzies and Husoy. Holkestad and Johansen were good halves with Pierce the pick of the forwards.

Jerstad was fair and apart from one bad kick Teng was good. Dixon kicked strongly. Joe Davis and Owens were good with Bud Pierce, Hemmons and Donald Scherk the best forwards.

Maple Leafs	5	4	1	11
