UNITED STATES ELECTION

There will now be four months of more or less intensive electioneering before it is decided whether Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democrat, is to continue as president of the period with Mrs. M. A. Greig. He has made some people look to the government to keep them in a life of comparative ease and much of the money with which it has been done is borrowed money. Now the international situation has forced the President into a new spending spree, which will keep the country prosperous and add billions to the debt as well as increase the taxes. Fortunately for him, most of the taxes will not be pinching the people until after the elec-

His position will undoubtedly arouse suspicion in spite of the fact that he has been professedly a Liberal for many years.

Just at present it looks as if Roosevelt ought to be the LOST-Gold cross on chain at Salt favorite but John L. Lewis, the labor mogul, has refused: to endorse his candidacy and he may be able to sway the C.I.O. organization to vote for a socialist candidate. Possibly Lewis may be that candidate, running on a labor ticket. While we may now feel like betting on the election of Roosevelt, many things can happen in four months. The election is in the lap of the gods. In any case, both men have publicly declared themselves in favor of the British cause and in favor of selling war supplies to the British government. That is something for which to be thankful.
