NECESSARY WITHDRAWAL

Because the British forces have found it necessary to withdraw from Norway does not mean that they are beaten. Usually the British start out rather badly. It is not the first victory that counts but the last. The British had a bad time in South Africa when the war in that country started. There were a number of bad early setbacks in the last Great War.

We have just as much faith as ever that we shall win the war. The British and French fight best when they seem to be beaten. So far they have not been beaten. They have gained immensely on the sea as a result of the Norwegian campaign and next week we shall learn why the withdrawal took place.

When the war is over it will be found that the British and French still control the Mediterranean Sea, the Suez Canal, the Straits of Gibraltar, the North Sea and they will see that the ruthless slayers of women and children are put back within their own boundaries with sufficient curb on their activities to insure that they do not try the same game again.

PITY THE POLITICIAN

"Pity the poor politician," says the Victoria Times. "If he does nothing he is spineless. If he does things he is a dictator. If he doesn't show his teeth to big corporations he has no backbone. If he does he is presumptuous. If he does nothing about price control he is indifferent to the people's welfare. If he does he is an interfering busybody. If he cuts the price of gasoline he is a hero to the motorist and champion to the people's rights. If he relents in the price battle he is a coward and if he interferes with the regular supply of gasoline for a week-end he is a meddler in things that don't concern him."

SPORT CHAT

Robert Moses (Lefty) Grove joined the list of major league pitchers who have struck out 2,000 batsmen when he fanned six Detroit Tigers and gained his 260th victory in 15 years of baseball two years ago yesterday. He joined the company of such baseball "greats" as Walter Johnson, Cy Young and Christy Mathewson by his feat.

New York saw its first Sunday baseball game 21 years ago today and the game was spoiled for 35,000 fans when Philadelphia Phillies pulled out a 4-3 victory over their National League rivals, the Giants. The enabling law had been passed only a few days before the game.

GUARDING BATHTUBS

Anything Loose Likely Prey To Students' Noisy Raids For Old Iron

By GLADYS M. ARNOLD
Canadian Press Correspondent

PARIS, May 4: (CP)—A sudden burst of popular song relieved the tension brought about by screams, cries and the heavy tramp of feet on a bright spring morning in the streets of Paris.

It was neither armed invasion nor air raid but frightened housewives and concierges guarding their garbage cans with their very lives while the policemen kept an eye on lamp posts and letter boxes.

Everything metal and movable appeared to be legitimate prey to an army of students thundering along the Boulevard St. Michel.

A Good Haul

"Old iron, old iron—we want your old iron. Gives us your beds and bathtubs; gives us your pots, pans, cans and casseroles—give us your old iron . . ."

Since the government announced that old iron can easily become new cannon and munitions if the population would get busy and collect—everybody in France is at it. Even Maurice Chevalier, who with a tear and a sigh turned in his own car—his very first car which was the badge of his first youthful success and with which he vowed never to part.

The students—in law, medicine, letters and science—boys and girls in their white blouses and black velvet "Sorbonne" berets gathered before the Pantheon with trucks, pushcarts and the chassis of ancient automobiles. With terrifying howls they invaded apartment blocks, hotels and cafes, to return triumphantly with battered birdcages, stove-pipes, bedsprings, tubs, soup kettles and wash basins.

At the end of the day they had collected more than 100 tons. An excellent haul was made in one place. Over a period of years tenants had left an apartment block leaving behind stoves as too costly for transport. A concierge had moved them into the basement where 31 had collected. A real find!

SIRENS OF SYDNEY

SYDNEY, Australia, May 4: (CP)—Sydney's first air raid warning test was a failure. A stretch of 35 miles along the coast was covered by the sirens, which "barely penetrated" some busy streets in Sydney.

HERE'S FISHING

BRISBANE, May 4: (CP)—Queensland's record big-game catch, a 1,324-pound tiger shark was bagged off Mud Island near here by J. Murray. It was 12½ feet long, eight feet in girth, and was landed after a three-hour fight.

HOMERS WIN BALL GAMES

Jimmy Tabor Poles Out Two Circuit Clouts For Boston Red Sox

NEW YORK, May 4: (CP)—Three home runs—by Bob Rolfe, George Selkirk and Charlie Keller—helped New York Yankees to an 8 to 4 victory over Chicago White Sox in the Yankee Stadium yesterday. As a result, the Yankees went into fifth place ahead of the St. Louis Browns who lost 8 to 9 in a hectic ten-inning contest which featured two home runs by Third Baseman Jimmy Tabor, one in the ninth inning and the second in the tenth with the bases loaded. The victory put the Red Sox into exclusive possession of first place ahead of the idle Cleveland Indians.

In the only National League game St. Louis Cardinals won 8 to 4 over Boston Bees.

All other games scheduled for yesterday were postponed on account of rain.
