Birmingham Centre Of Giant Nazi Attack By Night on Midlands

Attempt Made Last Night to Repeat Devastation of Coventry—Onslaught Extends to Various Other Parts of Country

LONDON, November 20: (CP)—The Midlands dug themselves out today from debris left by bombs from hundreds of German raiders which carried out a nine-hour attack last night in an evident effort to duplicate the devastation of Coventry. Reports reaching London from the raided industrial areas said that in the first hours of the attack there was no respite from a continuous fall of bombs and fires lit up the sky until it was almost as bright as day. Considering the country as a whole, observers said the raid was likely to prove as heavy, if not heavier, than any attack yet made on Britain. Casualties are expected to be comparatively heavy, particularly in two unnamed towns. At least five German raiders were brought down. Official British statements did not disclose the identity of the places which were struck but the German high command claimed that more than a million bombs were dropped on Birmingham.
