DAILY EDITION.

MONDAY, APRIL 8

HALF A CENTURY OF CONFEDERATION.

Five years hence from next Dominion Day the Dominion of Canada will be fifty years old. This is not a long time in the history of a nation and yet sufficiently long to enable the once isolated and infant-like provinces of British North America to grow into a prosperous and well knitted together confederation. Already steps are being talked of to specially celebrate this fiftieth anniversary of the birthday of the Dominion, the one to whom credit is due for starting this agitation being Mr. Charles R. McCullough of Hamilton, originator of the Canadian Club idea and president of the Association of Canadian Clubs.

In regard to the spirit that should inspire such a celebration, Mr. McCullough writes:

"Let us not, anywhere in Canada, describe ourselves by the tongue we speak, by an ancestral race, or by the church to which we adhere. And, furthermore, let us dwell upon our many agreements rather than upon our differences."

He sees that "a wider and deeper understanding of our history and the retelling of the nation's firesides of the stories and traditions of the past will do much to exalt and strengthen the spirit of this people. The pages of Canada's history have been ennobled by great names; great figures have played great parts under the French as well as under the English kings."

As for the celebration itself he suggests "the reassembling of the surviving Fathers of Confederation, and of all the parliamentarians who have sat in the Senate and Commons since 1867." Since Mr. McCullough wrote the "Surviving Fathers of Confederation" have been reduced by one—Sir Charles Tupper. This gathering would take place at the federal capital, while at the provincial capitals all the men who have been or then are lieutenant governors, members of the Legislatures, judges, college professors; also graduates of colleges, and public men of the respective provinces generally.

To these great reunions of the Canadian people he would invite all the surviving occupants of the position of governor general; and then comes the crowning guest—the King of Great Britain and Ireland and of the Dominions Beyond the Seas.

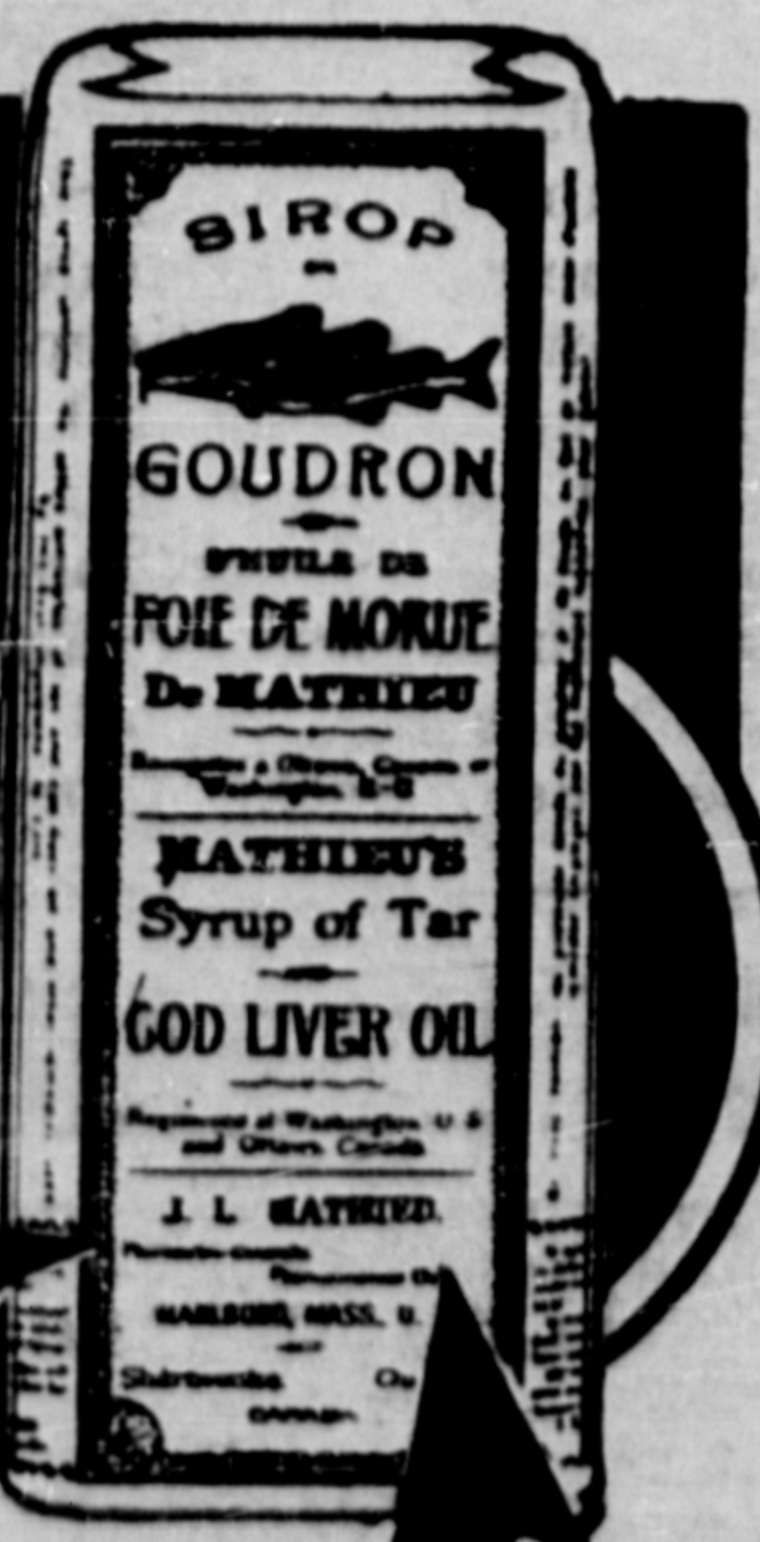

Mr. McCullough closes his outline of the proposed celebration of 1917 with this exhortation: "With forethought and deliberation let us move toward this epoch in our history. Let us aspire to fulfill in part our great family of British nations—and this shall surely come to us if we make ourselves worthy of that high post of honor."

COBALT'S BIG SILVER OUTPUT

Dividends from the Great Silver Camp More Than Half of Gross Production.

Final figures on production of the Cobalt camp for 1911 give 351,507,791 ounces of silver, thus exceeding the production of 1910 by approximately 1,000,000 ounces. There were seven mines during the year which produced 1,500,000 and more ounces of silver. These were: Nipissing, 4,627,043 ounces; La Rose, 4,090,157; Crown Reserve, 3,430,002; Coniagas, 3,272,464; McKinley-Darragh, 2,551,884; Kerr Lake, 2,238,353; Buffalo, 1,644,245. Three other mines produced over 1,000,000 ounces each.

Dividends paid amounted to $8,889,916 or more than half the value of the silver produced. Total dividends distributed to date amount to $30,391,095, not including profits made by privately owned mines. For the whole period, since its inception, the Cobalt district has produced 425,571,980 ounces of silver, worth $64,317,352.

Suffragette Stone Thrower.

A gentleman who witnessed a scrimmage with suffragists outside the Houses of Parliament vouches for the truth of the following story:

A woman carrying ten stones in a bag took up her stand in front of a window.

She threw one stone, she threw two stones, she threw three stones,

And didn't hit the window.

She threw four stones, she threw five stones, she threw six stones,

And the window still was whole.

She threw seven stones, she threw eight stones, she threw nine stones,

And then a man laughed.

She threw the tenth stone at the man—

And broke the window.

All the rest of the way to Boston heavy weather was encountered, and in the lower harbor the steering gear jammed and the vessel nearly went ashore close to the channel edge. LATE SENATOR A. A. MACDONALD

Important Eastern Paper Publishes Picture of the Second Last Survivor of Federation Fathers—Relatives Reside in Rupert.

In the Montreal Standard of March 30th, appears the following item:

"The death took place last week, at Ottawa, after an illness of a week's duration, of the Hon. Senator A. A. Macdonald, of Charlottetown, P.E.I. The deceased was one of the Fathers of Confederation, and had been a member of the Canadian Senate since 1891. He was at one time Lieut.-Governor of the province of Prince Edward Island, and had for many decades been identified with provincial and federal politics. As a result of his death Sir Charles Tupper is now the sole survivor of the Fathers of Confederation."

A fine picture of the late Senator Macdonald accompanies the item. It is not generally known that relatives of the senator's are resident in Prince Rupert. He was the uncle of Mrs. Macdonald, of Ninth Avenue, who came west with her family of sons and daughters from Prince Edward Island some two years ago.

When a Man Marries

WHEN a man marries he quickly discovers his need of innumerable things he had never thought of before.

And the butcher, the baker and the cabinet maker have a new home to supply.

The new husband and wife must buy things to which they had previously given little thought.

A thousand marriages mean a thousand new homes.

Right here is a fact overlooked by many merchants.

They say, "How could it pay us to keep on repeating the story of our goods or service?"

If they could reach every possible customer with one advertisement—and if people didn't forget—there might be no object in "keeping everlastingly at it."

But because every possible customer does not read every advertisement, you must repeat.

And because these thousands of new homes are every day coming into existence, continuous advertising brings increased results.

Perhaps some people knew your goods or your store five or ten years ago. Since then new generations have come into existence.

The boy of to-day is the man who will sign the cheques to-morrow. To-day your advertisements are of great interest to him. To-morrow he is your customer, if you solicit his trade through advertising.

Every day thousands of people discover for the first time their need of your kind of goods.

Will you be there every day with your bid for their business?

Or will you leave the field to your competitors?

Advertising is the key that opens the door of these new homes to your goods.

Is Advertising on your key-ring?

Advice regarding your advertising problems is available through any good advertising agency or the Secretary of the Canadian Press Association, Room 503, Iamsden Building, Toronto. Enquiry involves no obligation on your part—so write if interested.
