MORE RAIDS ON ENGLAND

One Nazi Bomber Flies Over London—British Believe One of Raiders Perished

LONDON, Jan. 12: (CP)—For the fourth successive day, German bombers today ranged along the east coast of England and penetrated as far as they could over land before being driven off by pursuit planes and heavy anti-aircraft fire.

One Nazi bomber flew over some sections of London before turning off to the north to escape defensive action.

A large Dornier flying boat, believed to be a mine layer, was sighted half a mile off the East Anglian coast and driven out to sea.

The German scouting bombers, as they cruised above the British ports today, met the anti-aircraft fire in clear skies over the Thames Estuary, Suffolk coast and off Yorkshire. They also continued new activity at sea.

One of the visiting German planes is believed to have been successfully brought down. The last seen of it was when it headed out to sea with a heavy pall of smoke issuing from its tail.

At various points along the east coast anti-aircraft fire was heard. One merchant ship and one fishing vessel were made the object of bombs but were not damaged, the raiders being driven off before being able to do so.

In Berlin German authorities claimed that three British patrol ships had been sunk and one British pursuit plane brought down.

Yesterday German bombers sank the British steamship Keynes, 1705 tons, in the North Sea, the survivors being landed this morning.

Missions Subject Of Prayer Meet

His subject missions—the ascending Christ and the increasing church—Rev. E. E. Brandt, pastor of First Baptist Church, led the Week of Prayer meeting held last night in First United Church. There was a good-sized congregation.

There were special prayers that God would bless His missionary servants and crown their work with success. That He would kindle in all hearts the fire of love for Him and for neighbor and that nations called Christian might so order their social life as to become beacons for peoples of the world, lighting their way to the Lord of life.

Tonight's meeting at St. Andrew's Cathedral will be in charge of Rev. H. G. Funston, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, his subject to be "The Triumph of the Cross," discussing home life and education.
