

School Concert Bright Affair

TERRACE, March 26—The pupils of the public school produced a very enjoyable concert and entertainment last Wednesday evening in the Oddfellows' Hall. C. W. Michiel, school principal, presiding. The program contained twenty-one items—songs, action plays, drills, dances and choruses—and lasted until eleven o'clock. The whole program was punctuated with applause.

There were so many good performances by the young people that it was difficult to say which was best. A very pretty act by the younger kiddies was "Visit to Fairyland." Back stage was a great big shoe, into which the children disappeared as each one did his or her little act. "The Book of Memory" was another delightful turn. The chorus, "Memories," by the youthful choir was very good.

Miss Mamie Haugland was the accompanist where the piano was required and, if there was to be any special mention, the little boy, Alan Dubeau, displayed bright promise with his piano solo.

Asking for Records

Editor, Daily News:
May we ask through your valuable paper for gramophone records for the use of the troops stationed in and around Prince Rupert.

We believe there must be many records in homes in Prince Rupert for which there is no use at the present time and the troops would be so pleased to have the use of them.

If they could be sent either to the Canadian Legion or Toc H rooms, or phone Black 837, we will see that they are called for. Thanking you

Easter Tableau Well Presented

"Challenge Of The Cross" Impressively Staged At Salvation Army Citadel Sunday Night

Every seat in the Salvation Army Citadel was filled Sunday evening when there was a special request repeat presentation of the Easter tableau "The Challenge of the Cross" which was excellently depicted. With the cross and tomb as the centre of the setting, the leading part was taken by Miss Ruby Suden, representing an angel, with other participants in the persons of Ruth and Grace Jones, Clara and Mary Pierce, Dolly Smith and Gloria Swanson. Envoy Stanley Calder was accompanist. William Hildebrand and Herbert Pierce were responsible for the lighting effects.

Another special feature was a song-sermon "The Pilgrim's Journey" by Mrs. Ivan Halsey, Miss Ruth Jones and Miss Mary Pierce. Arthur and Howard Toftager sang duets and Capt. Halsey and Miss Ruth Jones gave a duet. There were also several Easter songs.

The first presentation of "The Challenge of the Cross" had been last Friday night when there was also a large audience, an Easter resurrection pageant having also been presented then with Herbert Pierce, Dolly Smith and Cora Pierce as the principals.

BIG CROWD AT MEETING

Six Hundred Hear Liberal Candidate and Other Speakers in Capitol Theatre

Six hundred people gathered last night in the Capitol Theatre for the final rally of the campaign of the forces supporting Olof Hanson, Liberal candidate in the federal election. Mr. Hanson was there himself and spoke briefly, other speakers being E. T. Applewhite of Stewart, E. T. Kenney M.L.A., of Terrace, and P. H. Linzey. The chairman was W. O. Fulton who gave a brief outline of the career of the candidate, telling how he had hiked into the Bulkley Valley when only a mere lad determined to throw his lot with Central British Columbia and he had been there ever since.

Mr. Hanson explained what happened at Ottawa when the Ontario rebellion occurred under Mitchell Hepburn. Mr. King, backed up by the members of the Liberal party, decided to appeal to the highest court in the land—the people. He also described the condition prior to and at the time war was declared, showing that Canada had made great progress toward preparedness considering the short time since the money had been voted.

Incidentally in the course of his address, Mr. Hanson spoke of Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, former Prime Minister, as "one of the biggest Canadians," only lacking the ability to organize and work with his fellows.

Mr. Linzey Speaks

Mr. Linzey made the only address that drew sparks from the audience. Again and again there were signs of dissent as he scored the C.C.F., stating that they would turn the constitution of Canada inside out. He referred to statements of Mrs. Steeves and suggested that people like her should be shipped back to Europe. He also spoke of the British Empire as the world's hope at this time. It was an inspiring address that was outstanding and the one particularly remembered after the meeting.

Mr. Applewhite analyzed the attitude of the Liberals toward the veterans of the First Great War and compared it with that of the Conservatives. He also answered the criticism of those who thought Canada should not have taken part in the war, making it clear that the object was the defence of the smaller nations.

Mr. Applewhite showed how Stewart people had steadily increased support of Mr. Hanson as they got to know him and this year he prophesied even greater support than in the previous election.

Member for Skeena

Mr. Kenney, member of the Legislature for Skeena, urged that at this time civilization was in the balance and the British Empire was threatened. He criticized the C.C.F. for suggesting that moral forces should be used instead of physical force. The only thing Hitler knew was brute force. He told of the statement made by J. S. Woodsworth to the effect that if his sons were called he would be proud to see them go into a concentration camp rather than fight.

Turning to the Conservative attitude he urged that Dr. Manion was asking the people to give him carte blanche to choose any sort of cabinet he wished and suggested that probably Sir Edward Beatty would be a member of it if the Conservatives were elected.

Concluding, Mr. Kenney urged that there was only one major issue and that was the successful carrying on of the war and he suggested that this could best be done by electing the Liberal party headed by Mr. Mackenzie King.

Man in the Moon

After you have been in the city a few weeks your neighbors call you Bill or Dick or Jack except those that speak to you as a son-of-a-somethingorother.

An outstanding feature of the city is the large number of organizations. Any person belonging to less than six is given a medal for self-denial. If he does not get the medal he feels that he is deserving of one.

In Prince Rupert the city treasurer is the mayor, city council, school board, board of works, parks commission, police commission and authority on everything else.

Prince Rupert has a flair for people who seem to be very busy but do very little.

In the summer the city has beautiful gardens and girls in slacks. You just ought to see them.

The chief occupation of a large part of the inhabitants is reading the funnies and gossiping, especially gossiping.

Hospital Dance At Skidegate Is Large Success

QUEEN CHARLOTTE, March 26:—Under the auspices of the Skidegate Inlet Hospital Society a successful St. Patrick's dance was held in Miller's Hall. There was a large crowd in attendance and the hall was gaily decorated in the traditional green and white.

Colorful balloons and green and white paper hats were distributed at the beginning of the Grand March.

Prizes were given during the evening for the lucky balloon, the lucky ticket and for a waltz competition. A handsome black slate totem pole that had been raffled, was drawn for, the winner being Mrs. Mike Anderson. Music was supplied by the Harmony Boys, assisted by James Denholme and his accordion. Verner Douglas of Skidegate proved a capable master of ceremonies.

Supper was served in the hall by the ladies of the society. At the close of the dance cakes that had been left over were auctioned by auctioneer M. J. Dougherty and added several dollars to the proceeds.

The gratifying sum of $70 was cleared and will go towards the purchase of needed extra supplies for the hospital.

In charge of the affair were Mrs. E. C. Stevens, Mrs. B. F. Munro and Charles Hartie. Their assistants who helped them in making the dance an outstanding success were Mesdames W. Barry, F. Atkins, G. Chastaney, G. Neubauer and O. Hill. Coming over to attend the St. Patrick's dance were Mrs. George Kirby, Miss Violet Kirby, Miss Kay Mathers and William Mathers of Sandspit. Miss Edna Beaven, who is visiting there, also came over for the dance, returning Sunday on the mission boat Udal.

LOIS N. IS FIRST OUT

Leaving For Halibut Banks Today—Vessels Grouped Again According to Alphabetical order

The Lois N., Capt. Ben Pedersen, leaving today, is the first vessel of the Prince Rupert halibut fleet to get away to the grounds for the 1943 season. As has been the custom during the last few years, the fleet has been divided into four groups, according to letters of the alphabet with which their names start, and the departures spread out over ten days, this under the voluntary plan for orderly marketing to prevent bunching of boats on the return.

The general fishing plan for the season as well as the regulations imposed by the International Fisheries Commission this year are to large extent the same as last year. The total fishing quota for the season is 48,000,000 pounds—28,700,000 pounds from Area No. 2 and 25,300,000 pounds from Area No. 3.

Fishing arrangements between boat owners and fishermen remain the same as in past years.

The fleet consists of about sixty vessels including a couple of new boats and a couple, among them the seiner Fredelia and the packer Elmer C. which have been converted to halibut fishing.

The first boat to leave, the Lois N., clears for the more remote Area No. 3. The majority of Prince Rupert boats, except for the larger ones, will, as a result, fish in Area No. 2 during the early part of the season.

With the season opening April 1, it is expected the first fish may be brought in by some of the smaller boats within the week ensuing.

THRILLING ROMANCE

The story is a gusty romance with salt water flavor of England's Cornwall coast set in the lawless days at the turn of the last century. Its most interesting characters are a band of wreckers and land pirates who lure ships to their ruin in Cornish bays for the sake of plunder. Into this atmosphere is thrown a romantic pair, Maureen O'Hara and Robert Newton, who are determined to bring the wreckers to justice. It is not until they have narrowly escaped death at the hands of the pirates that they discover the dandified, debauched squire, Charles Laughton, to whom they have appealed for assistance, is the secret leader of the nefarious gang.

With sequences of thundering sea adventure, thrilling sunfire and pounding pursuit of the escaping squire, the picture illustrates how justice is served and romance fulfilled.
