It's interesting to know when reading the Daily News that the people of the whole district are doing the same.

Work Proceeding On Hunter Basin Mining Property

SMITHERS, Sept. 26.—Work on the mining road from the Telkwa Collieries to the Hunter Basin mine, 15 miles south of Telkwa, is proceeding at a fast pace, being helped along by the extremely fine weather that has prevailed throughout the past four or five weeks.

It is expected that machinery will be taken to the property as soon as the road is finished and that a fair-sized crew of men will be put to work at the property which is showing up well under the development work being carried out by the Conwest people under the direction of Mr. Tomlinson, M.E.

Minister of Public Works In Interior

SMITHERS, Sept. 26.—Hon. C. S. Leary, minister of public works, arrived in Smithers Tuesday together with M. M. Connelly, M.L.A. for Ominica, who is accompanying him through the district.

E. T. Kennedy, M.L.A. arrived here from Terrace yesterday morning to meet the minister and to accompany him through the Skeena riding and to point out the immediate requirements of his constituency in the way of roads and bridges.

OFFENDING CYCLISTS

CROYDON, Sept. 26: (CP) — Three cyclists who had left their bicycles unattended returned to find that the police had deflated their tires, because they might have aided invading parachutists.

SMITHERS

Mr. McDonald and family have arrived in Smithers from Prince Rupert to take up residence here. Mr. McDonald is clerk to Roadmaster R. C. Davidson, taking over the duties relinquished by Stanley Noble who has been transferred to Edmonton.

Frank Foster returned home from a trip south a few days ago. Mrs. Foster and their daughter, Dorothy, have remained behind at Port Haney for the time being on account of the illness of Mrs. Foster's father who recently met with a serious mishap when hit by a motor car on the highway near his home at Port Haney.

W. V. Tomlinson, who motored south to Vernon a short time ago, taking his son, Raymond, back to school there, has returned and reports that Vernon, Revelstoke and other places in the south are booming and that it is frequently impossible to obtain accomodation at any hotel in those places.

Oswald H. Hoskins and family left on Monday morning for an extended motor trip to the south and to Duncan on Vancouver Isl and where they will visit with Mr and Mrs. S. H. Hoskins.

TOOK IT TOO HARD

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, Sept. 26: (CP) — When a British group captain threatened an allied (foreign legion) airman with court-martial the man fell in a faint. It was explained in his country it meant conviction and death.

KISS YOUR TIRED FEELING GOODBYE!
Pepless Many Suffer Low Blood Count—And Don't Know It.

The baffling thing about low blood count is that you can weigh about as much as you ever did — even look healthy and strong, yet — you can feel as if you had lead in your legs, dopey, tired and pepless.

Low blood count means you haven't got enough red blood corpuscles. It is their vital job to carry life-giving oxygen from your lungs throughout your body. And just as it takes oxygen to explode gasoline in your car and make the power to turn the wheels, so you must have plenty of oxygen to explode the energy in your body and give you going power.

Get Dr. Williams Pink Pills today. They are world-famous for the help they give in increasing the number and strength of red corpuscles. Then with your blood count up, you'll feel like bounding up the stairs as if you were floating on air. Ask your druggist for Dr. Williams Pink Pills today.

VANDERHOOF

S. R. Heal, representative of the British Columbia Pea Growers' Ltd. with headquarters at Armstrong, spent last week in the Nechako Valley inspecting the seventy acres under pea cultivation in the district. He said that the crop compared favorably with that of any other section of the province. J. Travis, district agriculturalist, Prince George, accompanied Mr. Heal on his trip.

VERDICT OF ACQUITTAL

Ole Ostberg Found Not Guilty of Manslaughter by Assize Court Jury Last Night

After fifteen minutes' deliberation, a jury at the Supreme Court Assizes here last night returned a verdict of acquittal in a case in which Ole Ostberg was charged with manslaughter in connection with the death on Seventh Avenue near Seal Cove on July 18 of Olof Nygard when struck by an automobile belonging to accused. Hearing of the case had occupied all afternoon and evening.

Mr. Justice H. B. Robertson was the presiding judge. W. O. Fulton was crown prosecutor with T. W. Brown appearing as defence counsel. The jury consisted of Hubert Ward, A. C. Cameron, David Scott, M. M. McLaughlan, Fred Nash, S. J. Hunter, H. A. Breen, W. W. Bowes, A. R. Brown, Leon Dutton, F. C. Eadie and James Gowans.

Witnesses were F. M. Good, Dr. R. G. Large, Julia Intermela, Private McMynn, Constable D. D. McIndoo and T. A. Stewart. Evidence at the trial was similar to that at the inquest and preliminary trial.

The crown endeavoured to hold that accused was responsible for the accident through having taken the car out while under the influence of liquor although he was not actually driving at the time, a girl, Norma Cary, having taken over the wheel at the time.

The judge, in discharging Ostberg, pointed out to him the danger of driving under the condition of the night in question and commented that accused was fortunate that he did not happen to have been actually driving at the time.

Also Acquitted

The case of Rufus White, Indian, charged with breaking into the city jail in the endeavour to liberate a prisoner, was heard today and also resulted in acquittal.

It was announced last night by the crown prosecutor, W. O. Fulton, that there would be no prosecution in the case of Peter Kucharsky, charged with theft of $1100 from a fish packer.

"OUR TOWN" SHOWING

Distinctive Picture Is Current Feature At Capitol Theatre Here

With an impressive cast which includes William Holden, Martha Scott, Frank Craven, Fay Bainter, Thomas Mitchell, Guy Kibee, Beulah Bondi and Stuart Erwin, the screen production of the prize play "Our Town" comes to the screen of the Capitol Theatre here tonight and tomorrow.

The story, as many who have read the play know, is of highly emotional character, depicting many phases and individual characters in town life. Considerable photographic ingenuity has been displayed in delineating the story. The whole pictorial element, as a matter of fact, receives heavy emphasis.

The transposition from one period of time to another has been handled in the picture exactly as it was on the stage.

The picture is distinctive in many ways and has been under much discussion because of its many novel features.

Whifflets From The Waterfront

The holding of a school of navigation here during the coming winter is under consideration. Capt. J. R. Elfert, the harbor master, states but whether or not it will be conducted depends largely upon the number of prospective students.

John and R. E. Eyolfsen are in port for the winter with the trolling boat Iceland after having a good season's trolling in Hecate Straits and on waters outside of North Island. The gross for the season was some $5000. Mid-season there was good success with cohoes despite a slow start and a wind-up which could not be described as unduly profitable.

C.N.R. steamer Prince Rupert, Capt. Neil McLean, arrived in port at 12:30 noon yesterday from Vancouver, Powell River and Ocean Falls and sailed at 7 last evening for Ketchikan and Stewart whence she will return here this evening southbound.

An Unusual Route

By H. F. PULLEN

Last week I took a holiday in the interior following an unusual route. My first call was at Skeena Crossing where I arrived very early in the morning, intending to spend the night at Pratt's Hotel. Unfortunately Mr. Pratt does not cater to transients. In fact he does not do a hotel business but just conducts the post office and a little general store. At four in the morning the place was securely locked and no amount of hammering on the door could rouse the proprietor. There was nothing for it but to go to the village of Kitzegukla, a mile and a half away. That was not far to walk but, in the dark and fog and without knowing the way, it was not as easy as it might seem. Not a soul was stirring. However, I happily took the right turning and arrived at the village just as day was beginning to break. The first house could not take me in but the next was the hospitable home of Envoy Simon Turner of the Salvation Army and there I had a couple of hours sleep before breakfast.

The village is a picturesque one on the highway from Hazelton to Kitwanga and I stayed there until the afternoon, meeting some of the Daily News readers and adding a few more to the list. They told me that Kitzegukla had a total population of about 300 native peoples with a school of over half a hundred children, about as many cattle as children and over a dozen autos, some of them quite new, acquired since the close of the fishing season.

The local affairs of the village are controlled by a council consisting of Chief Moses Jones, Bert Russell, Alfred McDames, Peter Mork, Sam Wesley and Joe Brown.

This village is a progressive one and the plan is to put in an electric lighting system this winter. Most of the people belong to the Salvation Army or the United Church. They get their mail from Skeena Crossing and complain that no eastbound mail is left there. Letters or newspapers are taken through to Smithers and come back on the next train. However they appreciate the Daily News when it arrives. Some of these villagers have been reading the paper for many years.

My chief aim was to visit the village of Kitwancool and, after a night at Kitwanga, I set out for that village on the next morning. I will tell about this trip in another article.

QUEEN WAS "INVADER"

LONDON, Sept. 26: (CP)—Seeing the hospital guard doubled, two wounded German prisoners in hospital here figured England was being invaded. They learned afterwards Queen Elizabeth had visited the institution.

The Pulitzer Prize Play...
Our Town
It's a real human story that gets right down inside you—the story of a love affair—and, along with it, the story of an every day town—its life, its tragedies, its happiness, its funnybone-tickling humor. It's Thornton Wilder's great story that won the Pulitzer Prize as a play—but it's YOUR story, too—everybody's story—a story that will live. You'll remember "Our Town" as one of your greatest experiences inside a theatre.
