Memory Of Laborites Is Honored

The executive and delegates of the Prince Rupert Trades and Labor Council on Sunday visited Fairview Cemetery to pay respects to the memory of members who have passed on including the late S. D. Macdonald, for many years president of the local Council.

President Thomas Elliott gave a brief address, recalling work done by those who are now resting after lives filled with endeavour to better the lot of their fellow-men. At this time, when the world was faced with the threat of dictatorship which would rob organized labor of all it had gained, there was a need for as much or more being done to support the cause of labor.
