Sir Abe Bailey Provided Million Dollars for Schemes to Include Natives

CAPETOWN, Sept. 17: (CP)—Provision for a £250,000 ($1,117,200) trust fund to foster institutions in South Africa not adequately provided for by the state and also for Imperial interests, if at least 80 per cent. of the income is spent in South Africa, is contained in the will of Sir Abe Bailey, world known sportsman.

Objects of the trust include encouragement of the teaching of Afrikaans in English schools, sending students, particularly Afrikaans, on vacation trips to England and other parts of the Empire, and assistance to the Salvation Army.

The noted sportsman's will stipulated that natives and colored persons should not be excluded completely from the scheme.

Blue Bombers Defeat Bronchs

Score Of 22 to 11 In Interprovincial Football Yesterday

WINNIPEG, Sept. 17: (CP)—Winnipeg Blue Bombers defeated Calgary Bronchs by a score of 22 to 11 in interprovincial football yesterday.

entous New Deal session of Franklin D. Roosevelt's first administration, Bankhead proved an efficient legislator. Teamed with his senator brother, he engineered passage of the celebrated Bankhead cotton control act, an integral part of the Roosevelt farm program. He also was author of soldiers' rehabilitation legislation which made it possible for thousands of crippled veterans to earn a living.

Bankhead was twice married. The first union, contracted in January, 1900, was to Ada Eugenia Sledge of Memphis. She died a few years later leaving him with two baby daughters, Tallulah and Eugenia. In 1915 he married Florence McGuire of Jasper, Alabama.

INDIANS ON TOP STILL

CLEVELAND, Sept. 17: (CP)—Cleveland Indians shared honors with Philadelphia Athletics in a double-header here yesterday and retained the leadership of the American League with a half game margin over Detroit Tigers who won from the Washington Senators. Meanwhile, the New York Yankees dropped further back into third place three and a half games below the Tigers by a rout at the hands of the booming St. Louis Browns.

In the National League the first place Cincinnati Reds downed the runner-up Brooklyn Dodgers in a closely contested game and increased their margin of leadership to a comfortable ten straight games which should now see them through safely to the pennant.

ACHIEVED AMBITION

William Bankhead Was First Alabamian To Become Speaker

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 17: (AP)—William Brockman Bankhead, who died Sunday, was the first Alabamian to become speaker of the national house of representatives and his unanimous election to that high office made congressional history.

A member of a family which was represented for more than half a century under the capitol dome, politics was his birthright, but years of climbing the house seniority ladder intervened before "Will" Bankhead became, in quick succession, chairman of the powerful rules committee, majority leader and speaker.

Elected first to the 65th or "war congress," he realized a long-cherished ambition to wield the speaker's gavel upon the death of Speaker Joseph W. Byrns of Tennessee near the close of the 1936 session. Byrns' passing, virtually upon adjournment eve, created a situation for which there was no precedent. It was the first time a speaker had died while congress was in session. Party leaders, anxious to avert anything in the nature of a contest under these circumstances, quickly decided upon Bankhead for the post, and less than 12 hours after the death of his predecessor, the courtly Alabamian was elected without opposition as the 45th speaker of the house. He was re-elected January 6, 1937.

Born on a small plantation at Moscow, Ala., on April 12, 1874, Bankhead was the son of a Confederate army captain who blazed a trail to congress which later was followed by two of his sons. When "Will" was elected to congress from the newly-created seventh district of Alabama, his father, Senator John Hollis Bankhead, already had carved a distinguished career in the national legislature.
