FRIDAY, APRIL 19

TOKENS OF RESPECT AND DEEP SYMPATHY.

Our flags are at half mast today, and every mark of respect it is possible for Prince Rupert to pay to the memory of Charles Melville Hays is being dutifully and affectionately done. Also, there will be blended with this sad duty our deep sympathy with the wife and daughter and the brother, our highly respected fellow townsman, David H. Hays. Their sorrows are ours.

The president of those two great railway systems, the Grand Trunk and the Grand Trunk Pacific, in the very prime of his life and before he had reached the zenith of his successful career, was suddenly called, and his careful climb from railway clerk to the greatest railway builder and manager of the continent, his breadth of view and his intellectuality, his charming personality and democratic manners, all these are now but a memory. A certain solace may be found in the thought that he went down to death in the company of other men of world-wide fame, but in future biographies Charles Melville Hays will doubtless head them all.

It is pleasant to recall President Hays' visit to Prince Rupert two years ago, just a few days after we had had the honor of entertaining one of the greatest statesmen of the Empire—Sir Wilfrid Laurier. In his address at that time Sir Wilfrid, in speaking of the great transcontinental railway to this port, which was his own grand project, said he was possessed of a supreme confidence that the road would be completed from sea to sea in the time stipulated, because of his unshaken confidence in the abilities of his builder, Charles M. Hays. A great tribute paid by one great man to another.

Sunday will bring us special memorial services to those lost when the steamer Titanic struck the iceberg in all the churches of this broad continent. Similar services followed the Bourgoin marine disaster. It is a pathetic coincidence that the last time Mr. David Hays sang in public was at the request of President Diaz, in the cathedral of Mexico City, at the memorial services then held there.

TINY TOTS ARE TRAVELERS

Youngest Boys Who Ever Travelled Alone Across the Atlantic. Were Addressed Like Parrels.

Patrick Fred Carroll, aged 6 years and 1 month, and Frederick Henry Carroll, aged 4 years and 2 months, have just come across the Atlantic unaccompanied, and will continue across the continent to Calgary, accompanied by their father, who met them at St. John. They were put aboard the Lake Manitoba on the other side of the ocean with their directions sewed to the linings of their overcoats. The cards gave their names and said that they were to be met at St. John, N. B., by their father, and were then to proceed to Calgary.

These are the youngest children who have ever crossed the Atlantic without an adult companion. The C. P. R. has a limit of seven years, but an exception was made in this case. The father, who works in the C. P. R. freight office at Calgary, could not get home to bring the children across, and he tried to arrange their passage across last year, but without success.

Their mother is in an insane asylum in the old country, and the boys do not know her. Mr. Carroll brought his family to England from South Africa in 1908, and left the boys there until he could make a home for them in Canada.

Fashions Change

"He used to be the worst dancer in the ballroom. All the girls used to be in constant dread that he'd ask for a dance."

"Awkward, eh?" "The devil. But he's in great demand as a partner."

"He must have improved." "Not at all. But the new turkey trot dance makes his awkwardness seem art."—Detroit Free Press.

Lots 3-4, Block 15, Section 8, $500; 1/4 cash, 6, 12, 18 months. The Collier, 225 6th street.

"Why didn't you get a young turkey?" demanded the husband. "I told the dealer I was rather green," faltered the young wife, "so he advised me to take an old, experienced bird."—Kansas City Journal.

TO DENOUNCE FISH TREATY

Action Will Be Taken by Canada Unless United States Begins to Live Up to Agreement as to Salmon Fishing.

Ottawa, April 17.—British Columbia will be particularly interested in the news that unless the United States Congress approves at its present session the regulations drawn up by the fisheries commission of the two countries, Canada will likely withdraw from the treaty signed in 1908. This is drastic action, but as Canada has been waiting for nearly four years for the United States to approve the regulations it seems the only dignified position to take. The B. C. members and particularly Mr. J. D. Taylor, M. P. of New Westminster, have been urging the government to take this stand for a number of years.

Mr. W. A. Fould, of the department of fisheries, has been making an investigation for Hon. J. D. Hazen, minister of fisheries, and he strongly advises that Canada withdraw from the treaty unless the United States take action at once. His report deals very strongly with the situation in British Columbia.

ANOTHER CARPET BAGGER

Member for Calgary Going to Enter British Politics.

Ottawa, April 15.—R. B. Bennett, member for Calgary, leaves shortly for England, where he expects to take up permanent residence and enter British politics in Unionist cause. Bennett has been promised a Unionist nomination and is desirous of emulating Sir Max Aitken and other Canadians now in the British House. He will probably resign his Calgary seat before the next session of parliament.

No Man Need Use Poor Printing Unless He is Willing and Satisfied to Do So.

The man who is able to buy any kind of printing is able to buy good printing. If he uses anything else it indicates to people who see it that he doesn't care.

Most people would prefer a man's general character and personality to be in keeping with the printing—outside affairs not to care about your printing.

From Profits—or Losses?

WE all advertise.

A man advertises his character by his deeds, his wisdom by his words or by his silence. A merchant's store, stock, and windows speak either well or ill of his business.

So when a man says "No, I do not advertise," he knows not what he says. What he really means is that he does not publish printed advertisements.

Some proclaim this as though it were a virtue—yet spend much effort and invest much money in advertising their business through mediums other than the printed word.

They may make their wares fit for a king—yet hesitate to introduce them to Brown or Smith.

This is inconsistency.

The truth is, printed advertising is a vital force in every business, just as is the "silent" advertising of a product's quality or a merchant's service.

When you employ the Printed Word as your solicitor in the Court of Public Opinion, you build good will for your product or service—a good will that results in profit.

If unrepresented at this Court, your interests are as unprotected as though, when involved in a law suit, you failed to "enter an appearance" and the case is decided against you—by default.

So it is clear you pay for advertising—one way or the other. If you pay it wages, it will work for you.

If you refuse its offers of service, it will work against you, in just the measure of its employment by your Competitors.

So you are paying for advertising either out of your profits or by your losses.

Advice regarding your advertising problems is available through any good advertising agency, or the Secretary of the Canadian Press Association, Room 325, Lumsden Building. Enquiry involves no obligation on your part—so write, if interested.
