

SPORT CHAT

Thelma Kingsbury, a shapely English lass with the brightest blond hair outside Hollywood, is Uncle Sam's new national badminton champion—yet, officially, she is barred from defending her title. Thelma has been in the United States three years and the rule-books says an alien can't compete in the national tournament until she has been here six. Less than six months after resuming play in San Francisco, she was the champ. Thelma thinks her left-handedness probably is an advantage. She herself finds left handed players a "nuisance," so she supposes every player does.

As to how she got into the play at Cleveland this year—"They kept pestering me to enter, and when I filled out an application it said that an alien was eligible after three years. When I got to Cleveland I found that was somebody's mistake and that the required time really was six. I had got time off my bookkeeping job, and the association here in San Francisco had raised money for my trip and I was certainly going to be disappointed. Somebody even called in a lawyer. I didn't know until ten minutes before I went on the court that I was going to be allowed to play. Then I was told that the committee had suspended the rules for me—and by just one vote after a deadlock."

Defenders of American supremacy had good reason to fear the blond British girl. She took the singles crown away from Evelyn Boldrick of Pasadena, the 1940 champion, teamed with Janet Wright of Oakland, Calif., to win the women's doubles and reached the semi-finals in the mixed doubles. When somebody talked Thelma into going to the badminton centre here last November, she had not played for two years and thought she was through with the game. In England, where the game was more widely developed and presumably tougher, she had won two singles championships and four doubles, and had won permanent possession of 17 three-year challenge trophies, some of which dated

CLEAR DEBRIS LEFT IN LONDON BY WAR'S WORST RAID

Workmen clear debris from the streets and repairmen re-string power and telephone cables overhead as London recovers from what authorities say was the worst air raid of the war on the Metropolis. The devastating raid was made by dozens of Hun bombers, many of them flying so low they barely cleared the tops of buildings.

SHOULD BE WORRIED

Editor, Daily News:
I note that Germany has taken 50,000 Croats as slaves to Germany. This is only a small number, I believe, as every conquered country is similarly treated, including the Germans themselves.

Britain is operating on a 24-hour basis. It is rather hard to understand why we, in Canada, or at least in Rupert, operate on an 8-hour basis, with Saturday afternoon and many holidays idle. It seems that with the ten years start which Germany had, and the efforts being made by Germany at present, that we are not as badly worried as we should be, at the present time.

While it seems there is some shortage of materials, I am of the opinion that there is no good reason for some of the delays.

It does not seem appropriate time for labor to haggle about overtime pay, just because there are others who appear to be out for as much money as they can secure from the proceeds of government loans, while giving as little effort and results as possible in return.

Possibly I am misinformed as to the situation in some respects, but I believe that there is need of some efficiency experts in many instances.

No one else seems to care to stick out their neck in this regard, and, owing to my position I trust I shall be pardoned for not using my name in this connection.

"WORRIED."

NEW YORK, May 13: (CP)—Brooklyn Dodgers won twice at the week-end over the Phillies and extended their margin of leadership in the National League to two full games over the St. Louis Cardinals who won Sunday over the Pirates at Pittsburgh but were idle Saturday when the scheduled game with the Pirates was postponed. The Cardinals won over the Pirates yesterday and cut the Dodgers' lead to one and a half games. The Chicago Cubs won over the Cincinnati Reds and went into leadership of the second division ahead of Boston Bees.

In the American League the Cleveland Indians, league leaders, split a double-header with the St. Louis Sunday. The Boston Red Sox slipped into second place with a slugging victory over New York Yankees while the Chicago White Sox went into third position with a victory over Detroit Tigers, the Yanks slipping from second to fourth place. The Philadelphia Athletics had a good week-end, winning two games from the Washington Senators, and advanced from the cellar to sixth place, the St. Louis Browns now being in the basement. The Boston Red Sox won again yesterday and reduced the lead of idle Cleveland to two and a half games. Washington Senators defeated Philadelphia Athletics and dislodged them from sixth place.

Javelin Or Ball, It's Wrist Twist

Two Athletic Forms Really Have Much In Common

LINCOLN, Neb., May 13: (CP)—Did you know a baseball pitcher and a javelin thrower have a lot in common?

Here's what Herb Grote, University of Nebraska junior Big Six javelin champion, has to say about it:

Both need a good warm up before going into action and both depend a lot on wrist motion.

Grote takes a real long warmup, a couple of hours if he can work it in, then:

"Wrist action, that's what counts. The proper flick and snap of the wrist at the right time—that's what makes a good curve ball. I try to get that same whip of the wrist in my throws with the javelin."

"When I fire the spear, I am not throwing for any object I have placed at a distance I think I should reach. Instead I hang up an imaginary object somewhere in the sky and aim for it."

WATER
is Good Whisky's perfect companion

A good companion allows a friend to express himself freely. That is why water is the perfect companion of good whisky. It allows whisky to tell its own story.

The Seagram Canadian Whiskies are distilled, aged and blended to meet the water test. They are of such exquisite flavour that men who know good whiskies refuse to mix with them anything other than plain or sparkling water.

It is this delightful and exclusive smoothness that has caused the Seagram whiskies to outsell all others on the American continent.
