TO OBSERVE YOUTH DAY

National Council Of Education Urges Co-operation For May 25

TORONTO, May 13: (CP)—Youth Sunday, which had its origin in the great gatherings of Empire youth organized by the National Council of Education will this year be observed May 25. From "somewhere in England" a service will be broadcast to the Empire and the United States.

Last year the pulpit of Westminster Abbey on Youth Sunday was occupied by the High Commissioner for Canada, the Hon. Vincent Massey. On May 25 the speaker will be either General Sir Charles Dill, the chief of staff to the Imperial Forces, or a young unknown airman.

Youth Sunday constitutes a fitting corollary to the Empire-wide observance of St. George's Day, and its observance a fresh step in the organization of the Great Crusade. Canadian schools and youth organizations, it is hoped, will join in services on that day, proceeding as units to those churches making special provisions for them. In some cities, notably, Winnipeg, Calgary, Vancouver and Victoria, service rallies have already been organized and all denominations will take part.

Australia has reported their organization has been completed throughout the Commonwealth. New Zealand is to observe Youth Sunday on June 1, as the earlier date is inconvenient for the schools which are not then in session. South Africa, too, can be counted upon to play its part. From the Colonial Office, London, a letter commending the observance of Empire Youth Sunday has, it is understood, gone to each of the colonial dependencies and mandated territories.

The National Council of Education says: "Youth Sunday is designed both as the initial item in the program of the Empire Youth Movement and as its very foundation. Its inauguration was due to Canadian initiative. It is Canada's privilege to take the lead at this critical time and to this end the co-operation is sought of all those who believe that the British peoples form the one solid bulwark against the forces of evil besetting Christendom. With such co-operation Youth Sunday can play its part in the Empire's battle for freedom and become an irreplaceable permanent factor in setting the feet of Youth upon the Trail of the Great Crusade."

Mother's Day Is Observed

Special Sermons at Presbyterian Church by Rev. Dr. Alexander Esler

Love, humility, fidelity, prayer, suffering and sympathy—these Christ-like attributes of mother—were dwelt on in First Presbyterian Church Sunday morning, the subject being "Mother's Writing Copy." These attributes the pastor likened to the writing in the school copy books. They were something for all children to emulate and follow throughout life. The children of the Sunday School joined a large general congregation in the special Mother's Day service. J. E. Davel, Sunday School superintendent, presided and conducted the formal Mother's Day service. There was special music by the Junior Choir under direction of Mrs. E. J. Smith.

Sunday night the Mother's Day theme was continued when Dr. Esler spoke on "The Two Dearest, Sweetest Names on Earth—Jesus, Mother." There was special music by the Senior Choir.

THEY KEEP HERITAGE

British Children Armed With "Token of Freedom" Reminding Them Of Nation's Struggle

OTTAWA, May 13: (CP)—When British children left England for foster homes in the United States they brought with them a little book called, "The Token of Freedom."

A hundred or more fragments from the writings of the world's defenders of liberty are in the book, given to each child so that he or she may never forget the heritage their father and mothers in England are fighting for.

Under an illustration of Britannia confiding her children into the outstretched arms of America's Liberty is this inscription: "This Token of Freedom was given to me, 'John Bull Jr.' when I was 12 years old by someone who loved these words and knew what they meant and knew why I must cherish them and hold them sacred as long as I live." Pericles, Dante, Shakspere, Milton, Lincoln, Blake are among the writers.

Privately printed for distribution among those children going to the United States, by the Americans-in-Britain Outpost of The Committee for Defending America by Aiding the Allies, a foreword tells the children to observe the Statue of Liberty in New York harbor holding high the torch—and a book in the other hand with the three words, "Liberty, Liberty, Freedom." "Tyrants," reads the book's preface, "hate these words and try to destroy even the stones on which they find them carved. But your British fathers and mothers are saying no to that. They mean it, and you are their messengers.

These words of the Great English poet, William Blake, are recorded in it:

"Let Liberty, the chartered right of Englishman,
Won by our fathers in many a glorious field,
Ennerv our soldiers; let Liberty,
Blaze in each countenance and fire the battle."

A prologue by Geoffrey Chaucer is a prayer, Magna Carta and Lincoln's speech at Gettysburg charting the freedom of the western world are quoted.

These words in the book "I need not remind the House that we are come to a new era in the history of the nations; that we are called to struggle for the destiny, not of this country alone, but of the civilized world. . . were not spoken by Winston Churchill, but by William Pitt, in April 1804.

IS KILLED IN LONDON

Harold Parks, Formerly Of Prince Rupert, Loses Life In Action

Leslie Parks, well known local employee of the Canadian National Railway, received a cable this morning announcing that his brother, Harold Parks, had been killed in action while on duty with the London fire department for which he was the driver of a fire engine.

Harold Parks spent four or five years in Prince Rupert some time ago, being identified with the Bridges and Building Department of the Canadian National Railways. He made many friends while here.

Prior to the outbreak of war he served with the Royal Air Force in Egypt. While in Prince Rupert he was a member of the 102nd Regiment. He was also a prominent football player.

Deceased was married but had no children.

The local brother is a veteran of the last war as a result of which he suffers disabilities.

Harold Parks was too young for service in the last war.

oped a short circuit.

The shock, travelling into the water, via the pipeline, electrocuted all fish within a considerable distance.

Brides Work for Canadians

Wives of Old Islands Prepare Special Weave for Canadian Wearer

LONDON, May 13: (CP)—Tweed coats like twills are being specially woven by the crafters of the Hebrides for the Canadian market.

This is their reply to an increasing demand for the famous British cloth they have been weaving for generations, which has necessitated additions to traditional patterns of Harris tweed that Canadian women wear fashioned into tweed coats for town and country, many feature racoon, beaver or lynx collars, worn with mitts. English designers prefer velvet and felt for collars and some even have cuffs.

Coats and suits reveal more and more "back" interest. Suits have a "shooting jacket" split at the back, jackets are tucked into waistbands, and topcoats are drawn into back fullness, held with tabs.

Union steamer Catala, Capt. Ernest Sheppard, arrived in port at 12 noon today from Stewart and other northern points and sailed at 1:30 p.m. for Vancouver and waypoints.
