

"Let's finish the job"

CANADA!
Ypres, April 22-24, 1915

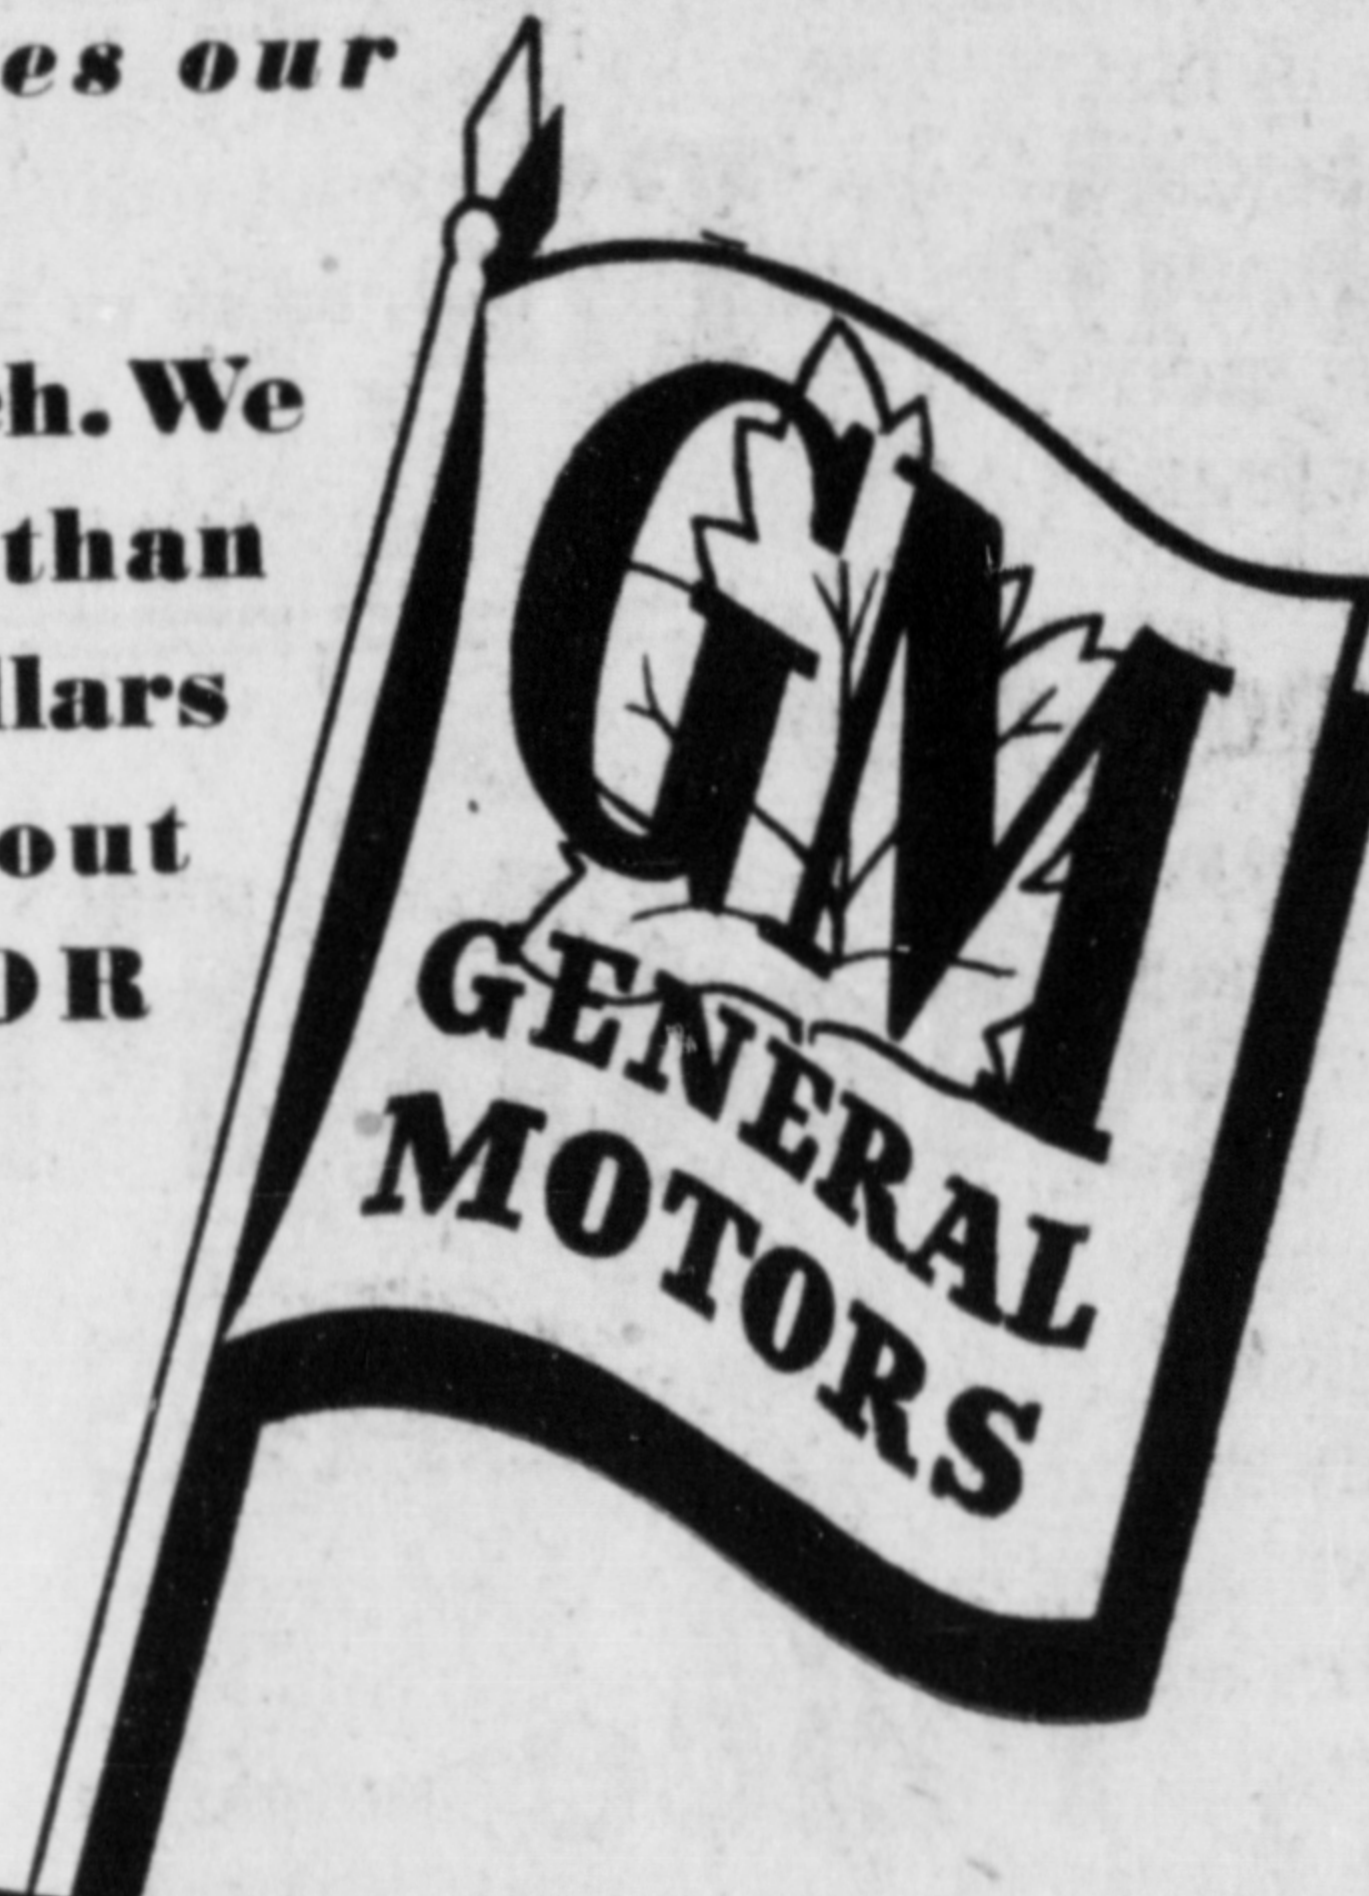

In this famous drawing from Pussett, Sir Bernard Partridge commemorated for all time the heroic stand of Canada's First Division against poison gas and overwhelming odds. As our soldiers held the line then, so Canada must hold it now.

TO US - THE TORCH IS THROWN

A generation ago, from Flanders Fields, our soldier dead threw us their torch to hold it high, as they had held it from Second Ypres to Mons, from Somme to Passchendaele.

For four years they kept their rendezvous with death. They knew no peers but the living who served with them, and their spirit so animated the Canadian Corps that it became the spearhead of victory. That same spirit animates our troops today.

We hold the torch. We cannot do less than pour out our dollars as they pour out their all - FOR FREEDOM.
