Don't Be Worried - - -

Some local people are worried because of the way in which the war has been going in the island of Crete. They seem to think that, if Suez is taken by the Germans, the war is won by them and lost to us. Nothing like that is true. The farther Hitler gets away from his base the more likely he is to come a cropper. If he goes through Syria it is dangerous, for the French are divided among themselves and a taste of German domination will not help him there. If Britain can get oil from this side of the Atlantic she can carry on indefinitely. One possibility is that two robber nations, Germany and Russia, will quarrel. BOARD There are all sorts of other possibilities. If, in view of his success in Crete and based on his experience there, he decides to Invade Britain, he will find he has a different problem to tackle. We have not the least idea that Germany is going to win this war if we all do our best to hold her back.

Ships Taken Over - - -

The taking over of more than one hundred foreign ships that had taken refuge in United States is an important step and will help to solve the shipping situation. There are also a number of United States ships which are not at present in commission. These also will likely be operating soon, either carrying food supplies or troops. The whole set-up is gradually changing and the declaration by the President of the United States of a state of emergency is only one of the steps leading to greater pressure being brought upon the enemy by the Allies.

Five Years of Paradise - - -

"Two American young men back from Russia after all five-year visit they made to find out whether the 'workers' state' is the proletarian paradise that admirers of the Soviet crack it up to be, are back in America," says the San Francisco Chronicle. "They passed a considerable part of their visit in jails, where they were tossed because one of them admitted his father owned 160 acres of land in America and hence must be a kulak. In interludes of liberty they earned 50 cents for a 12-hour day working on railroad construction. The rest of the time they were dodging the OGPU. And now back through the agency of the American Embassy, Peter and John Stevens are more than content to be again part of the "downtrodden masses of democracy.'

"We couldn't all go to Russia even if we wanted to, so must take the word of those who have enjoyed the delights of Communism at first hand. We are willing to let it go at that."

ONE WAS PURGED—THE OTHER FLED

Seven years ago it was said throughout Germany that Hitler only trusted two men in full measure. They were Ernst Roehm left, and Rudolf Hess. It was seven years ago, despite this re tation for trust, that Roehm was assassinated in Hitler's bloody purge. Now the second Hitler trustee, Rudolf Hess, right has fled Germany in a plane and parachuted to earth in Scotland Insane, says Germany.
