

Expert Optical Service

Chas. Dodimead
Optometrist in Charge

Watch, Clock, Jewelry Repairing

Hand Engraving

VISIT OUR BASEMENT STORE

For Fine China, Dinnerware, Glasses, Baggage and Novelties

Max Heilbronner

JEWELER — DIAMOND MERCHANT

COMEDY IS LIVELY ONE

"Third Finger, Left Hand." With
Melvin Douglas and Myrna Loy,
At Capitol Theatre

Myrna Loy, teamed for the first time with Melvin Douglas, abandons her typical role of a "perfect wife" in "Third Finger, Left Hand," which is the feature picture for tonight and tomorrow at the Capitol Theatre here. In this hilarious story of a romantic mix-up, Mr. Loy plays the part of a magazine editor, who, because her boss' wife is jealous invents a mythical husband whom she is supposed to be trying to find in order to get a divorce. The deception is perfect. A method has been perfected for until Douglas, who has learned "finger printing" paper with mercury vapor to determine its porosity shows up and assumes the city.

BETTER FINGER-PRINTS

A "spot" costs you only half a dollar. Try it in the Daily News column (ftf).

Prize winners were:
First necklace, Mrs. P. Doherty
Ticket 7.
Bean guessing contest No. 1, Mrs. James Laurie, 750, box of chocolates.
Bean guessing contest No. 2, Mrs. A. Guwan, 1385 casserole.
Table runner, Mrs. Andrews, ticket 78.
Doll, Mrs. W. Brass, ticket 77.
Chicken, Mrs. E. Dickey, ticket 54.

The Legion Defence Corps is continuing its weekly parades at Stewart with J. Thompson as platoon commander.

The program at the regular monthly meeting of the Prince Rupert Parent-Teacher Association last evening was of outstanding merit. The speaker of the evening was G. R. S. Blackaby who took as his subject "The Art of Reading." Other items on the program were a very enjoyable recitation by Jacqueline Smith, delightful piano solos by Miss Frances Moore and splendidly rendered violin solos by Bandsman A. Holt, Rocky Mountain Rangers, accompanied by Miss Swanna Olafson T.C.M.

In his interesting and informative address Mr. Blackaby treated the "Art of Reading" under the three headings "Why to Read, How to Read and What to Read," interspersed with references drawn from varied and wide sources of information the subject was comprehensively covered. Books were the treasure storehouses of the accumulated knowledge of the world, said Mr. Blackaby. They were the best teachers and an open Sesame to the fairland of dreams. In discussing the question of how to read the speaker stressed the need to read for pleasure but also to discipline the mind to avoid dissipation. People should read widely but with care and should approach reading in the proper frame of mind. What he read determined largely what a person was. The standard books of travel, biography history should all have a place. The importance of reading poetry was particularly emphasized. The thanks of the meeting were enthusiastically expressed in a hearty vote of thanks to all the artists.

Mrs. G. Hill Jr. was in the chair and in the business meeting final arrangements for the June tea were completed. Grants of $25 each to Booth Memorial, Borden Street and King Edward Schools were voted and $5 to Seal Cove. Mrs. Bussey presented the secretary's report. Mrs. Barclay the treasurer's report while Mrs. Boulter was refreshment convenor.

READING STEWART

SUBJECT

The Legion Defence Corps is continuing its weekly parades at Stewart with J. Thompson as platoon commander.

An apple tree on the Toth property on Eighth Street at Stewart, occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Docksteader, is thriving and is now in full bloom.

A home nursing course is being conducted for the ladies of the Portland Canal at the Moose Hall with Misses Jessie Rothnie and Mrs. S. G. Lawrence as instructors.

A committee of the Stewart Canadian Legion, under the chairmanship of J. Scott, has been delegated to prepare resolutions for the provincial convention at New Westminster this summer.

The Moose Lodge and the Women of the Moose of Stewart held a successful bridge drive and dance on Saturday night. The affair was largely attended and very enjoyable.

The interests of Canadian newspaper publishers was honored in 1930 when members of The Canadian Press and the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association jointly presented him with a portrait of himself by Kenneth Forbes which now hangs in The Herald Building in Calgary. He was a director and honored executive of the Southam Publishing Company of Montreal.

In Other Fields

Mr. Woods developed many interests outside the realm of newspaper publication. In 1930 he was elected president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce and as its leader attended conventions in the Dominion, the United Kingdom and United States Chamber of Commerce session in Washington. In 1935 he headed the Canadian delegation to the League of Nations Assembly in Geneva.

Many honors came to him. He was created a Companion of the Order of St. Michael and St. George in the King's birthday honors June 3, 1935, and was honored by Albert, then King of the Belgians, following the Great War. He also was decorated at a public ceremony in Calgary with the Order of King Albert II for distinguished services as director of the Belgium Relief Fund in Alberta during the war years. In 1935 he was presented with the Jubilee Medal of the late King George V in recognition of his work as an executive of the Alberta branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society.

A supporter of Canadian militia, he was appointed honorary Lieutenant of the Alberta synod.

In 1908 he married Leon Christine Eby, daughter of J. E. Eby of Toronto. Their daughter, Eleanor, is the wife of British General Donald McDonald D.S.O. of Victoria, B.C.

VOGUE PURE WHITE
Free Burning
CIGARETTE PAPERS

Fresh Local Raw and Pasteurized Milk
VALENTIN DAIRY
PHONE 657

Specify "BLACK & WHITE"
"It's the Scotch."

SCOTCH WHISKY "BLACK & WHITE"
SPECIAL BLEND OF CHOICE OLD SCOTCH WHISKY
SCOTCH WHISKY DISTILLERS, EDINBURGH & LONDON
CONTENTS 26 1/2 OZ.
DISTILLED, BLENDED AND BOTTLED IN SCOTLAND

Distilled, Blended and Bottled
In Scotland
26 1/2 oz. $3.75

This advertisement is not published or displayed by the Liquor Control Board or by the Government of British Columbia

Clean-Up Paint-Up

Make
Repairs,
Build

We can supply all the materials for a new home or for additions to the old one. Call in and talk it over

Albert & McCaffery, Ltd.
PHONE 116

DRESSMAKING AND REMODELLING

Reasonable price, good work
Phone Blue 916 203 3rd Ave.

KIMIKO UYEDA

MAIL US YOUR FILMS TODAY

Any size roll developed and printed 25¢—Special "Decko-Art" prints—Reprints twelve for 35¢
STEFFENS-COLMER PHOTO CO.
P.O. Box 220 Vancouver B.C.

Canada At War 25 Years Ago

May 22, 1916—British monitors and aircraft bombed El Arish, Tukish fort on the Sinai Peninsula. Three German ships sunk in the Baltic by British and Russian warships. Violent artillery actions on the Western Front.

MAGNESIUM-ALUMINUM
Magnesium is about one-third as heavy as aluminum.

UNCLE SAM IN SAMOA
The United States has maintained a naval base at Samoa since 1872.

DIAMONDS MAYBE?
Ancient Manavans of Central and South America used to decorate their teeth.

IN THE SUPREME COURT OF BRITISH COLUMBIA IN PROBATE
In the Matter of the Estate of John William McKinley, Deceased, late of the City of Prince Rupert, British Columbia, who died on December 1st, 1941.

Pursuant to the provisions of Section 28 of the Trustee Act of the Province of British Columbia I hereby give notice that on the 25th day of April 1941 my appointment as Executor of the Estate of the late John William McKinley, Deceased, was confirmed by Letters Probate issued out of the Supreme Court of British Columbia, and that all persons indebted to the said Estate are required to pay the amount of their indebtedness to me forthwith and all persons having claims against the said Estate are required to file them properly verified with me on or before June 15th 1941 failing which distribution shall be made having regard only to claims which are in my hands.

Dated at Prince Rupert, B.C. this 7th day of May A.D. 1941.

CLIFFORD GILKER
By his Solicitors
Brown & Harvey
Bennett Block
Prince Rupert, B.C.

WOODS WAS PROMINENT JOURNALIST

(Continued from Page One)

ment of the Canadian west's rich mineral resources. In Great Britain and the sister Dominions he told of the greatness of Canada and its paramount place as a link of Empire.

Born July 12, 1887, son of Alexander Woods, Canada's first trade agent to Australia, "Bert" Woods started his newspaper career in Toronto after being educated at Quebec High School, Morrin College, McGill University where he was an associate in arts, and the University of Manitoba.

He was a reporter on the old Mail and Empire in Toronto, news editor of the Montreal Herald, later city editor of The Mail and Empire, its representative in the Ottawa Press Gallery, business manager of The Toronto News and a partner in the Woods-Norris advertising agency before going to Alberta in 1907.

It was not long before Mr. Woods became a dominant force in western affairs. He was editor and managing director of The Calgary Herald and soon after his arrival resumed control of the paper from the pioneer publisher, J. J. Young. An associate of the late M. R. Jennings in the ownership of The Edmonton Journal until it became a unit in the Southam organization, Mr. Woods was also publisher for a short period of The Lethbridge News.

After nearly 50 years in the daily routine of active newspaper life he retired in 1936 but retained the presidency of The Calgary Herald, important link in the Southam newspaper chain, and continued to give guidance to the new generation of executives in the publishing business and other interests to which he was connected.

Mr. Woods was a loyal supporter of the Western Associated Press pioneer in Canada of co-operative news-gathering associations founded in Winnipeg in 1907, and for many years was a director of its successor, The Canadian Press, the Dominion-wide co-operative news-gathering and distributing system of Canadian daily newspapers, serving as president 1925-1928. He served many years as Director and President of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association, the co-operative association for the business end of Canadian newspaper publications. His devotion to the interests of Canadian newspaper publishers was honored in 1930 when members of The Canadian Press and the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association jointly presented him with a portrait of himself by Kenneth Forbes which now hangs in The Herald Building in Calgary. He served many years as Director and President of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association, the co-operative association for the business end of Canadian newspaper publications. His devotion to the interests of Canadian newspaper publishers was honored in 1930 when members of The Canadian Press and the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association jointly presented him with a portrait of himself by Kenneth Forbes which now hangs in The Herald Building in Calgary. He served many years as Director and President of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association, the co-operative association for the business end of Canadian newspaper publications. His devotion to the interests of Canadian newspaper publishers was honored in 1930 when members of The Canadian Press and the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association jointly presented him with a portrait of himself by Kenneth Forbes which now hangs in The Herald Building in Calgary. He served many years as Director and President of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association, the co-operative association for the business end of Canadian newspaper publications. His devotion to the interests of Canadian newspaper publishers was honored in 1930 when members of The Canadian Press and the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association jointly presented him with a portrait of himself by Kenneth Forbes which now hangs in The Herald Building in Calgary. He served many years as Director and President of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association, the co-operative association for the business end of Canadian newspaper publications. His devotion to the interests of Canadian newspaper publishers was honored in 1930 when members of The Canadian Press and the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association jointly presented him with a portrait of himself by Kenneth Forbes which now hangs in The Herald Building in Calgary. He served many years as Director and President of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association, the co-operative association for the business end of Canadian newspaper publications. His devotion to the interests of Canadian newspaper publishers was honored in 1930 when members of The Canadian Press and the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association jointly presented him with a portrait of himself by Kenneth Forbes which now hangs in The Herald Building in Calgary. He served many years as Director and President of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association, the co-operative association for the business end of Canadian newspaper publications. His devotion to the interests of Canadian newspaper publishers was honored in 1930 when members of The Canadian Press and the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association jointly presented him with a portrait of himself by Kenneth Forbes which now hangs in The Herald Building in Calgary. He served many years as Director and President of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association, the co-operative association for the business end of Canadian newspaper publications. His devotion to the interests of Canadian newspaper publishers was honored in 1930 when members of The Canadian Press and the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association jointly presented him with a portrait of himself by Kenneth Forbes which now hangs in The Herald Building in Calgary. He served many years as Director and President of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association, the co-operative association for the business end of Canadian newspaper publications. His devotion to the interests of Canadian newspaper publishers was honored in 1930 when members of The Canadian Press and the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association jointly presented him with a portrait of himself by Kenneth Forbes which now hangs in The Herald Building in Calgary. He served many years as Director and President of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association, the co-operative association for the business end of Canadian newspaper publications. His devotion to the interests of Canadian newspaper publishers was honored in 1930 when members of The Canadian Press and the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association jointly presented him with a portrait of himself by Kenneth Forbes which now hangs in The Herald Building in Calgary. He served many years as Director and President of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association, the co-operative association for the business end of Canadian newspaper publications. His devotion to the interests of Canadian newspaper publishers was honored in 1930 when members of The Canadian Press and the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association jointly presented him with a portrait of himself by Kenneth Forbes which now hangs in The Herald Building in Calgary. He served many years as Director and President of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association, the co-operative association for the business end of Canadian newspaper publications. His devotion to the interests of Canadian newspaper publishers was honored in 1930 when members of The Canadian Press and the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association jointly presented him with a portrait of himself by Kenneth Forbes which now hangs in The Herald Building in Calgary. He served many years as Director and President of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association, the co-operative association for the business end of Canadian newspaper publications. His devotion to the interests of Canadian newspaper publishers was honored in 1930 when members of The Canadian Press and the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association jointly presented him with a portrait of himself by Kenneth Forbes which now hangs in The Herald Building in Calgary. He served many years as Director and President of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association, the co-operative association for the business end of Canadian newspaper publications. His devotion to the interests of Canadian newspaper publishers was honored in 1930 when members of The Canadian Press and the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association jointly presented him with a portrait of himself by Kenneth Forbes which now hangs in The Herald Building in Calgary. He served many years as Director and President of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association, the co-operative association for the business end of Canadian newspaper publications. His devotion to the interests of Canadian newspaper publishers was honored in 1930 when members of The Canadian Press and the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association jointly presented him with a portrait of himself by Kenneth Forbes which now hangs in The Herald Building in Calgary. He served many years as Director and President of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association, the co-operative association for the business end of Canadian newspaper publications. His devotion to the interests of Canadian newspaper publishers was honored in 1930 when members of The Canadian Press and the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association jointly presented him with a portrait of himself by Kenneth Forbes which now hangs in The Herald Building in Calgary. He served many years as Director and President of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association, the co-operative association for the business end of Canadian newspaper publications. His devotion to the interests of Canadian newspaper publishers was honored in 1930 when members of The Canadian Press and the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association jointly presented him with a portrait of himself by Kenneth Forbes which now hangs in The Herald Building in Calgary. He served many years as Director and President of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association, the co-operative association for the business end of Canadian newspaper publications. His devotion to the interests of Canadian newspaper publishers was honored in 1930 when members of The Canadian Press and the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association jointly presented him with a portrait of himself by Kenneth Forbes which now hangs in The Herald Building in Calgary. He served many years as Director and President of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association, the co-operative association for the business end of Canadian newspaper publications. His devotion to the interests of Canadian newspaper publishers was honored in 1930 when members of The Canadian Press and the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association jointly presented him with a portrait of himself by Kenneth Forbes which now hangs in The Herald Building in Calgary. He served many years as Director and President of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association, the co-operative association for the business end of Canadian newspaper publications. His devotion to the interests of Canadian newspaper publishers was honored in 1930 when members of The Canadian Press and the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association jointly presented him with a portrait of himself by Kenneth Forbes which now hangs in The Herald Building in Calgary. He served many years as Director and President of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association, the co-operative association for the business end of Canadian newspaper publications. His devotion to the interests of Canadian newspaper publishers was honored in 1930 when members of The Canadian Press and the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association jointly presented him with a portrait of himself by Kenneth Forbes which now hangs in The Herald Building in Calgary. He served many years as Director and President of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association, the co-operative association for the business end of Canadian newspaper publications. His devotion to the interests of Canadian newspaper publishers was honored in 1930 when members of The Canadian Press and the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association jointly presented him with a portrait of himself by Kenneth Forbes which now hangs in The Herald Building in Calgary. He served many years as Director and President of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association, the co-operative association for the business end of Canadian newspaper publications. His devotion to the interests of Canadian newspaper publishers was honored in 1930 when members of The Canadian Press and the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association jointly presented him with a portrait of himself by Kenneth Forbes which now hangs in The Herald Building in Calgary. He served many years as Director and President of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association, the co-operative association for the business end of Canadian newspaper publications. His devotion to the interests of Canadian newspaper publishers was honored in 1930 when members of The Canadian Press and the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association jointly presented him with a portrait of himself by Kenneth Forbes which now hangs in The Herald Building in Calgary. He served many years as Director and President of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association, the co-operative association for the business end of Canadian newspaper publications. His devotion to the interests of Canadian newspaper publishers was honored in 1930 when members of The Canadian Press and the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association jointly presented him with a portrait of himself by Kenneth Forbes which now hangs in The Herald Building in Calgary. He served many years as Director and President of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association, the co-operative association for the business end of Canadian newspaper publications. His devotion to the interests of Canadian newspaper publishers was honored in 1930 when members of The Canadian Press and the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association jointly presented him with a portrait of himself by Kenneth Forbes which now hangs in The Herald Building in Calgary. He served many years as Director and President of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association, the co-operative association for the business end of Canadian newspaper publications. His devotion to the interests of Canadian newspaper publishers was honored in 1930 when members of The Canadian Press and the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association jointly presented him with a portrait of himself by Kenneth Forbes which now hangs in The Herald Building in Calgary. He served many years as Director and President of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association, the co-operative association for the business end of Canadian newspaper publications. His devotion to the interests of Canadian newspaper publishers was honored in 1930 when members of The Canadian Press and the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association jointly presented him with a portrait of himself by Kenneth Forbes which now hangs in The Herald Building in Calgary. He served many years as Director and President of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association, the co-operative association for the business end of Canadian newspaper publications. His devotion to the interests of Canadian newspaper publishers was honored in 1930 when members of The Canadian Press and the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association jointly presented him with a portrait of himself by Kenneth Forbes which now hangs in The Herald Building in Calgary. He served many years as Director and President of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association, the co-operative association for the business end of Canadian newspaper publications. His devotion to the interests of Canadian newspaper publishers was honored in 1930 when members of The Canadian Press and the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association jointly presented him with a portrait of himself by Kenneth Forbes which now hangs in The Herald Building in Calgary. He served many years as Director and President of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association, the co-operative association for the business end of Canadian newspaper publications. His devotion to the interests of Canadian newspaper publishers was honored in 1930 when members of The Canadian Press and the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association jointly presented him with a portrait of himself by Kenneth Forbes which now hangs in The Herald Building in Calgary. He served many years as Director and President of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association, the co-operative association for the business end of Canadian newspaper publications. His devotion to the interests of Canadian newspaper publishers was honored in 1930 when members of The Canadian Press and the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association jointly presented him with a portrait of himself by Kenneth Forbes which now hangs in The Herald Building in Calgary. He served many years as Director and President of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association, the co-operative association for the business end of Canadian newspaper publications. His devotion to the interests of Canadian newspaper publishers was honored in 1930 when members of The Canadian Press and the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association jointly presented him with a portrait of himself by Kenneth Forbes which now hangs in The Herald Building in Calgary. He served many years as Director and President of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association, the co-operative association for the business end of Canadian newspaper publications. His devotion to the interests of Canadian newspaper publishers was honored in 1930 when members of The Canadian Press and the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association jointly presented him with a portrait of himself by Kenneth Forbes which now hangs in The Herald Building in Calgary. He served many years as Director and President of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association, the co-operative association for the business end of Canadian newspaper publications. His devotion to the interests of Canadian newspaper publishers was honored in 1930 when members of The Canadian Press and the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association jointly presented him with a portrait of himself by Kenneth Forbes which now hangs in The Herald Building in Calgary. He served many years as Director and President of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association, the co-operative association for the business end of Canadian newspaper publications. His devotion to the interests of Canadian newspaper publishers was honored in 1930 when members of The Canadian Press and the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association jointly presented him with a portrait of himself by Kenneth Forbes which now hangs in The Herald Building in Calgary. He served many years as Director and President of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association, the co-operative association for the business end of Canadian newspaper publications. His devotion to the interests of Canadian newspaper publishers was honored in 1930 when members of The Canadian Press and the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association jointly presented him with a portrait of himself by Kenneth Forbes which now hangs in The Herald Building in Calgary. He served many years as Director and President of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association, the co-operative association for the business end of Canadian newspaper publications. His devotion to the interests of Canadian newspaper publishers was honored in 1930 when members of The Canadian Press and the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association jointly presented him with a portrait of himself by Kenneth Forbes which now hangs in The Herald Building in Calgary. He served many years as Director and President of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association, the co-operative association for the business end of Canadian newspaper publications. His devotion to the interests of Canadian newspaper publishers was honored in 1930 when members of The Canadian Press and the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association jointly presented him with a portrait of himself by Kenneth Forbes which now hangs in The Herald Building in Calgary. He served many years as Director and President of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association, the co-operative association for the