LOCAL RATEPAYERS SEEKING STATEMENT FROM VICTORIA

Why not get the bill passed?

Theo Collart said that there had been a commissioner for nine years and nothing had been done. The first thing needed was community spirit and a weight to put behind representations made to the government. The citizens seemed to have gone to seed under dictatorship. Now there was a dictator and an assistant dictator. Mr. Collart emphasized the important of interesting the establishment of small industries to ensure the permanent prosperity of the city. The present condition was merely a temporary wartime prosperity. The city manager should not only be an administrator but a good talker. Mr. Collart certainly was opposed to the idea of a non-resident commissioner who had no interest here and did not even know local conditions. Speaking of sale of tax sale lots, Mr. Collart felt they should be held for a reasonable price. With an election coming up, now seemed to be a good time to press the demand for action in regard to a city manager.

Jack Lambie wanted to see a non-political, thoroughly competent civic administrator, one with a mind of his own. Mr. Lambie did not seem to think much of Mr. Alder as city commissioner.

Robert McKay felt that what was needed at the City Hall was an administration which could be talked to and from which action could be obtained when necessary. The ratepapers were a bunch of "boobs and suckers" to tolerate existing conditions. What could be expected from Mr. Bracewell who was only interested in his own job at Victoria? Speaking of the needed widening of Sixth Avenue, Mr. McKay said the city engineer had estimated it would cost $70,000 whereas the Ryan Contracting Co. said it could be done for $7000. Here was only one illustration where a competent city manager would be able to make a large saving to help pay his salary. Mr. McKay referred to the importance of a large membership in the ratepayers' association so that it might carry real weight.

Thomas Elliott felt that, now a provincial election was looming up, it might be a good time to decide whether Mr. Pattullo was going to give us "what we want or what he wants." There was dictatorship, such as was being fought against in the war, both at Victoria and in the City Hall here. It was time to demand a choice for the people in city government, if not by manager by city council.

The Resolution

G. W. Nickerson moved that the president and executive draft a letter to Premier Pattullo outlining what the association had done and asked for and requesting a definite answer from Mr. Pattullo without equivocation or mental equivocation of what he intended to do if he was Prime Minister at the next session. Mr. Nickerson suggested that Mr. Pattullo be given five weeks in which to answer.

John Gurvich seconded Mr. Nickerson's resolution which was carried.

On motion of Thomas Elliott and Frank Glass it was decided to institute an inquiry into the justification of a $3000 annual increase in city policing cost.

Bert Bartlett suggested that the best way to create interest in the Association was to publicize and discuss civic problems by use of press and radio. The way things were today the most of people did not seem to know what it was all about.

It was decided to defer election of new officers until the next meeting.

The financial report of the Association was read by the secretary-treasurer, Mrs. N. E. Arnold.

There were about thirty persons present at last night's meeting and practically all these signed up as members for the year by paying their dues. A drive will be made for further members.

THRILLING OLD DAYS

Excitement And Romance Combined In "Mark Of Zorro" With Tyrone Power In Title Role

Exciting entertainment is promised patrons of the Capitol Theatre in "Mark of Zorro," starring Tyrone Power and Linda Darnell, which is the feature picture for tonight and Thursday.

The story of "Mark of Zorro" revolves around the adventures of a masked night-riding bandit, played by Power, whose sword mark—a jagged "Z"—struck terror to every heart in old California's most exciting days but whose daring won him the loveliest senorita in the land. Action is the keynote of the exciting film and a thrilling duel to the death climaxes the adventures of the masked marauder.

All the danger, beauty and thrills of the old exciting days are said to have been captured in the picture and against this exciting background is set the vivid romance.

In addition to Power and Miss Darnell, featured members of the cast include Basil Rathbone, Gale Sondergard, Eugene Pallette, J. Edward Bromberg, Montagu Love, Janet Beecher, Robert Lowry and Chris Pin Martin.

C.P.R. steamer Princess Louise, Capt. S. K. Gray, arrived in port shortly before 8 o'clock this morning from Vancouver, after taking oil, sailed at noon for Skagway and other Alaska points. The vessel had on board a large list of northbound passengers. She is due back here next Tuesday afternoon southbound.
