Pattullo Was Firm . . .

Everybody seems to be interested in the Sirnis report which was recently turned down by the Premier of Ontario, Alberta and British Columbia. Hon. Ian MacKenzie was strongly in favor of implementing the report but Hon. T. D. Pattullo, in spite of his friendship with the minister of pensions and the pressure exerted from various quarters, was not prepared to abandon the rights of the province in favor of something which he believed to be fundamentally wrong. He was quite ready to discuss other outstanding matters but not this general scheme. British Columbia's minister of finance is co-operation with another very able man had made an analysis of the commission's findings and reported that, fundamentally, the report was wrong. Its implementation would irretrievably place the province under a handicap in perpetuity and to this he objected.

Even the commission which drew up the plan says the immediate effect on Dominion finances would be adverse. If this was correct it did not seem as if implementation of the report was essential to the war effort. It would rather be a burden on the war effort, not only through the assumption of additional financial obligations but through the time and effort which must necessarily be expended in setting up of the new organization proposed by the commission. Conditions might be different after the war and Mr. Pattullo did not think the provinces should be asked to hurriedly agree to the proposals.

Politician or Statesman? . . .

The difference between a politician and a statesman is that a politician does what the people wants him to do irrespective of right or wrong, whereas a statesman does what he thinks is right, no matter what the political consequences. Today Hon. T. D. Pattullo believes it would be bad for the province of British Columbia for it to be a party to a pact based on the Sirnis report. Evidently the people of the province, most of whom have never read the report but have been led to their conclusion by articles based on their own political beliefs, have been in favor of the report. That fact did not mean anything to the British Columbia Premier. He felt that it was right to oppose the plan and he did so and, for so doing, he has been branded a "wrecker" not only by extreme conservatives but also by socialists. Many of his own party have been led to the same conclusions. Practically all the newspapers of the country were against his line of action but that meant nothing. He evidently said to himself: "The people and the newspapers and the financiers be damned. This is the right course and I am going to take it, no matter what happens."

Those who have not read Mr. Pattullo's brief as submitted at Ottawa should do so today. It is published in this paper.

It's interesting to know when reading the Daily News that the people of the whole district are doing the same.

RED CROSS HAD YEAR OF GOOD ACCOMPLISHMENT: BUSY FUTURE PLANNED

Annual Meeting Held Last Night With Dr. H. L. A. Tarr Elected New President—Raised Much Money and Turned Out Many Articles

The year 1940 was one of gratifying accomplishment both from financial and productive standpoints for the Prince Rupert branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society which in view of the ever increasing needs, plans for even greater activity during 1941. The annual meeting of the branch was held last night in the city council chamber.

Featuring the reports of the executive and campaign manager, Arnold Flaten, which disclosed that an income of $700.00 had been raised by the branch during the past year, and of Mrs. J. E. Low, secretary of the workroom committee, which listed a great variety of articles which had been produced by Red Cross workers from materials provided by the Society as well as many donated items. In the election of officers, Dr. H. L. A. Tarr was named president to succeed F. A. MacCallum who left the city last year. W. R. McIvor was elected first vice-president and Mrs. J. E. Low, second vice-president. The rest of the members for the year were elected in the course of the evening. In the presidential report, Dr. Tarr acknowledged the valuable work which had been done by Mr. MacCallum in launching Red Cross work in Prince Rupert for the present year. It was a matter of regret that Mr. MacCallum had left the city. The importance of the endeavours of the workroom committee, first under Mrs. Robert Blaine, then Mrs. J. D. Fraser and later under Mrs. J. E. Low, was referred to. For their untiring efforts which had been rewarded with such splendid accomplishment these ladies were entitled to hearty thanks. The President referred to sub-committees at Masset, Lorne Inlet, Alice Arm and other points which were doing good work. He also mentioned the Junior Branch at Booth Memorial High School under Miss Irene Mitchell. Financially, good work had also been done in Prince Rupert during the year with over $7000 raised. Arnold Flaten was to be congratulated on his work as treasurer and campaign manager. The fact that the campaign in 1940 had resulted in $5000 being raised as compared with $2900 in 1939 spoke for itself. More satisfactory workroom quarters had been obtained at the City Hall during the year through the courtesy of the city commissioner, D. J. Matheson. Several entertain-
