Pork Products - - -

Great Britain needs bacon and ham. Canada is under this summer there are now on the guarantee to supply a large portion of this but the supply streets of Smithers automobiles is not equal to the demand. There is plenty of beef to be from california, Texas, Oregon and obtained from the Argentine and mutton from Australia Washington. Fishing seems to be but pork products are not so easily obtained. The result the main attraction to these touris that Canadians will have to forego part of their bacon ied luck in their trips to the lakes and ham diet and use some other food. This will not be a throughout the valley. hardship. None of us will mind if we have to eat a little, less bacon and a little less ham in order that the boys overseas and the civilians under fire may be well fed.

Most of us use a great deal more gasoline than is necessary. Some of us could save gasoline by using a little thought and planning our work better. In a general way it is suggested that joy riding should be eliminated altogether and that cars should be used only for definite business, industrial or special assignment purposes.

Any person having an idea of building should not be daunted by the fact that 125 contract houses are going up. All those will be needed for dry dock employees. It does not count at all on the military demand or the demand from other sources consequent on the changed industrial condition of the city. Houses will be needed, a lot of them and then more in the near future. We feel sure of that.

War In Orient - - -

The general opinion seems to be that the war in the Orient is due to spread and that before long both the British Empire and the United States will be implicated. That means Prince Rupert and possibly the whole of the Pacific Coast including Alaska.

We do not wish to scare people here but we must admit that we seem to be getting closer to the war every day and, if we escape being in it, before the end we shall be very lucky.

Street Signs - - -

Recent arrivals in Prince Rupert are complaining of the difficulty in finding their way about the city. There are few street signs, particularly in the residential section, and with such a large and rapidly changing population they think something should be done about it. The cost would not be large and the advantage to newcomers would be very great.

There was a recent move in this direction but so far without tangible results.

LEGENDS OF

The Naas River is always spoken of reverently by the natives as being the saviour of the people, largely because of the run of oolichan, which comes between seasons in the early spring and brings abundance of food at a time when the winter supplies are liable to be about exhausted, according to Rev. W. E. Collison, who was the speaker at the Prince Rupert Rotary Club luncheon yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Collison spoke of the number of places where there is time scenery in British Columbia and the constantly increasing number of tourists coming to the province. He also mentioned that there were much more interesting things to be seen near home than at a distance. One of the very interesting and picturesque places was the Naas River for Prince Rupert where he expects

The contract stipulated delivery of the first of the planes on June 1, 1940, but delays in obtaining equipment and training new personnel prevented completion of the first plane until August 21, 1940. The last eight were to be delivered between May and October, 1941, but the company turned over the last plane a few days ago, thus completing the contract for the 38 planes four months ahead of schedule. These are the Norseman type which was used extensively in bush work prior to the war. Improvements have been made and today the Norseman is the standard training plane used in the wireless schools.
