Eire's Imports Lower for 1941

Exports Lower Too But Year Ended With Favorable Balance.

DUBLIN, Feb. 25: (CP)—Eire's imports declined £17,254,000 (about $77,643,000) in a year, trade returns for 1941 showed. Imports were valued at £29,536,000 (about $132,912,000) compared with £46,790,000 (about $210,555,000) in 1940, while 1941 exports of £31,835,000 (about $143,257,500) compared with £32,973,000 (about $148,378,500), leaving a favorable balance of £2,299,000 (about $10,345,500).

50,000,000 INCREASE

NEW DELHI, Feb. 25: (CP)—Final consumption for the 1941 census indicates India's population increased by 50,000,000 in the last ten years, to a total of 388,800,000.

Man in the Moon

Both Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt find it easy to express themselves.

We have not heard much from Hon. Ernest Bevin recently. I am wondering what has happened?

Bevin has survived the recent purge, at any rate.

A chap was heard to remark the other day that "Winchell is a second Abraham Lincoln." He's for the peep-hole, by the peep-hole, and through the peep-hole."

The school inspector was examining a class of small boys.

"Now, boys," he said, "Noah was an active man, and must have found it irksome to be confined so long during the flood. How do you think he spent his time?"

"Fishing," said one bright boy.

"Yes, I should think he did some fishing," agreed the inspector.

"He wouldn't catch many fish," interjected another youngster.

"What makes you think that he wouldn't catch many?" said the inspector.

"He had only two worms."

Grocer: "Well, little man, what can I do for you?"

Boy: "My mother sent me to get change for a dollar bill, and said she would give you the dollar tomorrow."

The recruit was pretty hopeless. Maybe the sergeant was entitled to become infuriated. "What were you before you joined the army?" he shouted.

"Very happy sergeant," the recruit replied.

They tell this one of another recruit trying the eyesight test, which, incidentally, is flooring a lot of applicants. His sight was very bad but he was anxious to pass. As he was waiting for his examination he dropped a pin on the floor where he could find it without trouble.

"How's your eyesight?" the examiner asked.

"Fine, said the applicant. "See that pin at the other end of the room?"

"No, I can't see it," the examiner said. "You're all right if you can."

"I'll get it for you," said the recruit, and as he went to pick it up he stumbled right over a table in his path without seeing it.

Whifflets
From The Waterfront

Union steamer Catala is being relieved of some of the calls she has been making on the lower end of the run northward from Vancouver to Prince Rupert and henceforth it is expected she will be making better time in arriving in Prince Rupert from the south on Sunday evenings. The steamer Venture is to relieve the Catala of the southern calls and the only regular stops the Catala will make after this between Vancouver and Prince Rupert will be Alert Bay, Namu, Bella Bella and Butedale. Capt. Ernest Sheppard, who has been on his annual vacation, will be returning to command of the Catala on its next voyage north. The steamer Cardena, which has been off at Vancouver for annual overhaul, returns to her run this week, being due here this Friday night from the south.

C.N.R. steamer Prince Rupert, Capt. Neil MacLean, arrived in port at noon today from Vancouver, Powell River and Ocean Falls and will sail this afternoon for Ketchikan and Stewart whence she will return here tomorrow evening southbound.

Northland Transportation Co.'s steamer North Sea, Capt. Len Williams, arrived in port at 9:30 this morning from Alaska and, after discharging fish from Ketchikan for trans-shipment east over Canadian National Railways, will sail this afternoon in continuation of her voyage to Seattle.

SPORTS

SMITHERS BONSPIEL

Big Curling Meet at Interior Town Was Complete Success.

SMITHERS, Feb. 25:—The bonspiel of the Smithers Curling Club came to an end Monday night excepting for the consolation prizes and there are three teams still left in that competition which will not be concluded until Thursday night.

Billy Little of Woodcock was the only outside contestant and, just as he has done in many other years, he arrived at the finals but for three times in succession he has run into the McEwen rink which has always nosed him out in the last game. In this first game, however, he had the satisfaction of beating the Hickenbotham rink 19 to 6, all of which six points were gathered in one end.

The Shield competition was won by Art Simpson's rink. He has won this trophy five times now.

The Imperial Oil cup, which is a new trophy this year, was won by the McEwen rink.

The consolation competition has not yet been completed.

Play started in these contests on Saturday evening and carried on almost without ceasing until Monday night at 10 o'clock.

The curlers then retired to the Canadian Legion lounge rooms where the prizes were presented by A. N. Dando, president of the club, and where the evening was enjoyably spent.

A cold snap, which has lasted over the week-end and is still going strong, provided excellent ice and it was one of the most satisfactory tournaments ever played by the club.

It is hoped that Prince Rupert will have an ice rink before very long when competitions in curling and in hockey can be played off between that city and the towns throughout the northern interior where these sports create so much interest and good fellowship.

Basketball Buzz

The old argument based on youth over experience is now brewing in basketball circles here with a showdown due soon. It seems that the intermediate league, now playing regularly twice a week, is forming the idea that an all-star team from its ranks would take the measure of the seniors anywhere at any time. This, of course, is a matter of opinion and is not taken very seriously by many of the older boys who are willing to wager Bob Houston's next army cheque.

Things in favor of the Savoys are numerous. First of all, who will check big Angus Macphee and Sev Dominato? Who will sift Seo Dominato? Who will sift guard and who has ever outclassed Sonny Beynon as far as percentage basket-sniping is concerned?

On the Savoy lineup this season is a new-comer to these backwoods in the person of Gar Taylor from Chilliwack. He has played on the former Senior B provincial championship team, the "Chilliwack Valleys," and certainly has proven a decided asset to the powerful team that lost such stars as Jack Lindsay, Don Arney and the all-round sport Herb Morgan.

On the intermediate side of the fence are found some handy and effective youngsters who, no doubt, have the ability to make matters very interesting for their older brothers. On their lineup are found boys who should be in senior ranks had there been a senior league and some lesser lights whose stamina will surely count for some points in their favor.

The intermediate lineup will be chosen from Alec Bill, Shorty Santurbane, Helge Holkestad, Tom McKay, formerly of Port Simpson, Ted Arney, Donald Fitch, Bob Long, Syd Alexander, Jim Sheddon and centres Joe Davis, the 16-year-old keyman of the Barons; Don McDonald of the High School, and Bob Vuckovich of the Dry Dock squad.

The young men will have the advantage of numbers and, of course, will set a torrid pace tiring their opponents thus weakening their effectiveness.

Tonight the High School and Dry Dock meet in a crucial game. If High wins they will tie Dry Dock for first place but, by losing, Dry Dock will step away out by two games.

SPORT CHAT

Thurman Randle, of Dallas, Texas, who ought to know, says there is no such thing as a born marksman. Randle has won more than 400 shooting trophies. Natural athletes, writers, painters, yes—but a star with a rifle is made. Randle came up the hard way. He got his start shooting at rabbits on the farm. Years of practice are behind this steel-eyed man who is an international figure when rifle shooting is mentioned. At this time the Dallas man holds several national records, is a director of the National Rifle Association and recently opened a basic training school of rifle marksmanship to develop instructors for home defence units.

Pole vault champion Cornelius Warmerdam doesn't become elated over 15 foot leaps any more—he has his sights on the 16-foot mark. "My ample clearance in vaulting over the 15 foot bar has given me confidence that maybe I can stretch it up to 16 feet," he says. "However experts in the mechanics of vaulting say that 15 feet nine inches is my limit because it is impossible to vault higher than so many feet above my point of grip."
