NAMES FOR WAR TANKS

South Africa Opens New Defence Loan With Unique Features

CAPE TOWN, October 3.— Tanks on the battle fronts of the world may soon bear the names of South African citizens or communities.

A Defence Loan recently opened in the Union now makes it possible for each individual to contribute directly to the cost of war weapons, and any who subscribe sufficiently may have a tank or fleet of tanks named after them.

Authorities hope this scheme will draw off much of the £152,000,000 ($679,500,000) lying idle in current accounts of commercial banks; interest will be paid at the rate of three per cent annually. Lists are to remain open indefinitely, and repayment will be made at par in 1964. However the government reserves the right to repay on or after Aug. 15, 1957, on three months' notice.

South Africa will gain three advantages from the war, stated Hon. J. H. Hofmeyr, Minister of Finance and Education, at Johannesburg recently. He listed them as industrial development, closer co-operation between Afrikaans and English-speaking citizens as now exemplified in the army, and a new "African" outlook.

Speaking of next year's election, Mr. Hofmeyr said that the election could only be postponed by decision of parliament and on the grounds of the international situation.

Security Outlook

Prime Minister J. C. Smuts has declared that South Africa is in a position to ensure a measure of security to every member of her population. In a message to the Social Security Congress opening in Durban he stated that even though the Atlantic Charter concerned itself with international action, it is no less important that individual nations should bring about greater social and economic security for their own citizens.

In a separate statement, Hon. H. G. Lawrence, Minister of the Interior and Public Health made it known that public health expenditures will pass the £1,000,000 ($4,470,000) mark this year for the first time.

There is no logic in suggesting that gold mines be shut down and miners employed in war work, stated Hon. C. F. Stallard, Minister of Mines, speaking at Bar-

BRITISH-ISRAELISM

Editor, Daily News:

I don't claim to be an authority on the teaching of the British-Israelite Society but, if its doctrine corresponds to the spirit which Mr. Parker demonstrates, I am thankful that my names does not appear among its converts. It has been men a flame with the idea that theirs is a super-race and they are super-men that has brought most of the flow of human blood through the centuries. We forget too easily that it is the "meek who shall inherit the earth" and that God can work only through that individual or that nation who will walk humbly before Him. Jesus said, "I am meek and lowly of heart—learn of me." Also, "whoever shall exalt himself shall be abased." What we need to remember today as always are the words of the Saviour: "My Kingdom is not of this world."

KITTEN "DECORATED"

LONDON, Oct. 3.—Sooty, a black and white kitten who accompanied the navy to Dieppe and "never turned a hair" during the bombardment of the French coast, has been decorated for gallantry in action—a miniature Victoria Cross now hangs from her neck.

CHURCH HAS FINE SUPPER

One Hundred Persons In Attendance at Rally Gathering Last Night

About one hundred members and friends of First Baptist Church attended a highly enjoyable rally supper in the church parlors last evening. H. M. Daggett was chairman and welcomed those present.

After supper a brief devotional period was led by the pastor, Rev. C. A. Wright.

P. H. Linzey spoke briefly on behalf of the deacons and urged a united effort and re-consecration in these days which offered such great opportunities to a progressive church.

C. H. Elkins presented a report as chairman of the finance committee and said that the church had had about $700 expended on the building, all bills being paid with a small balance on hand.

Mrs. J. C. Gilker spoke for the Mission Circle and invited any of the ladies present to co-operate in this worthwhile work.

Miss Kay Watson, in the absence of the president of the Baptist Young Peoples Association, outlined the aims and objects of that body which was playing such an important role in the life of the church.

Miss Joy Berg reported on the C.G.I.T. and at the conclusion gave the pledge of that organization.

G. R. S. Blackaby stressed the work of the Sunday School as the most important medium in the church for building up the membership and said that 85 percent of church members were from the Sunday Schools.

The pastor gave an inspiring address on "The Church of God," pointing out that the dynamic power of the church was the spirit of God, without which it was powerless in its endeavors.

Sergeant Cameron rendered solos which were inspiring in their message.

The committee in charge consisted of Mrs. J. Armstrong, Mrs. J. C. Gilker and Mrs. Don Ritchie, assisted by the ladies of the church.

After the tables had been cleared a time of social fellowship was enjoyed by all and the evening closed with the National Anthem.

Home Nursing Classes Here

Local Health Unit is Working Towards Having Them Resumed in Prince Rupert

At the instance of the local branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society, the Prince Rupert Health Unit is working towards organizing of home nursing classes in Prince Rupert such as were conducted here a couple of years ago.

Although this training has been primarily designed for peace-time purposes, the Red Cross Society has been urging these classes as a wartime measure so that a reserve of women with at least elementary nursing training might be created in each community. Although several of these classes have been held in Prince Rupert in the past it is thought that there may be more women who are interested in receiving such training.

Mrs. Lamontagne was called to the home of Mrs. Robert Cameron, 1302 Overlook Street, on Thursday by the Wartime Health Unit Red Cross to raise money to buy sewing machines for the war room in Rushbrook Heights.

BLACKOUTS IN EIRE

DUBLIN, Oct. 3.—The government has issued an emergency order providing for blackout tests throughout Eire during the winter.

Merchants Attention!

During these dark evenings and dim-out times when window display is virtually ruled out and even in the daytime people are too busy to wander around the streets searching for values, we would recommend to Prince Rupert merchants the greater importance than ever of advertising in the newspapers which are so much in demand on account of the war news. The medium of the newspaper is more effective than ever in drawing attention to stocks, particularly between now and Christmas. Get in touch with the Daily News now.

FOOTSTEPS OF FATHER

Rev. Randall Stringer, Son of Famous Northern Bishop, On Way to Yukon

Having relinquished the metropolitan rectorship of an important church in Oshawa, Ontario, to follow in the missionary field footsteps of his famous father, the late Archbishop I. O. Stringer, Rev. Randall Stringer is visiting in Prince Rupert on his way to Fort Selkirk, Yukon Territory. There he will assume a parish consisting of a small group of white people around a Hudson Bay post and a nomadic band of northern Indians. Accompanying him is his bride, the daughter of Archbishop Harding of Rupert's Land, who has been a nurse with the Royal Canadian Air Force. The interesting couple are guests while here of Bishop and Mrs. G. A. Rix at Bishop's Lodge. They will be proceeding north at the first of next week.

It is an interesting coincidence that Mrs. Stringer, the bride, is the daughter of the successor of the groom's father as Archbishop of Rupert's Land. The late Archbishop Stringer was for many years Bishop of the Yukon.

VICTORY

is in your pocket

Yesterday we lived far apart . . . the worker in the mills . . . the farm woman in her kitchen . . . the fisherman down by the sea.

Yesterday we went our several ways . . . each in his own place . . . following his own occupation . . . working for his own ends.

Today there is but one end, one interest, one task for all, if we are all to live.

And that end is victory.

You, on the farm . . . you, in the bank . . . you, in the forest or factory . . . whatever you do now is of small account unless it hastens victory.

Over and above what you are doing, wherever you are, you can help shorten the war . . . by your savings.

That's the truth . . . a solemn truth . . . a truth you should think about when you hold back a dollar that might go into war savings.

Think! . . . a dollar might perhaps lessen by a minute the duration of the war.

A hundred dollars might cut off an hour.

A million dollars might save months.

Months of suffering for millions! . . . that is what you may be saving . . . not simply dollars, but lives.

Put every dollar you can into the new Victory Loan. That is what the life insurance companies are doing.

The business of life insurance is protection, and we know of no better way to protect the four million people who entrust the guardianship of their future to us, than by investing in victory.

There can be no protection for any of us, unless we win through to victory.

And victory is in our pockets.
